Max Hart, Good American.
No More Hoods.
As the Angel Writes.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

THE death of Max Hart, victim of pneumonia, ends a career honorable and useful to this country.

Brought to America as a child from Germany, with his brother, Harry Hart, who survives him, the two brothers began working in childhood, and have worked ever since without cessation.

Only a few days ago this writer talked with Max Hart in Chicago, asking why he continued long working hours at 75 years of age, with a fortune accumulated.

"I WORK," said Max Hart, "because I like work, and because my associates and I, in doing work that we need not do, provide work for thousands of others that do need work, and encourage young men starting in business for themselves."

Max Hart was a good American.

THE Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans says Knights of the Ku Klux Klan will wear masks no longer, and will be known as "Knights of the Great For. t."

That concession to public opinion may mean gradual dwindling away of the formerly hooded brotherhood.

You lose your influence when you appeal to men's common sense instead of appealing to their fear of the mysterious.

AS GABRIEL writes down, every minute of each day all that happens, what events seem important to his celestial mind.

A woman who had foolishly drawn $9,000 from the bank and told a man about it was drugged, soaked with gasoline and burned alive.

In Pittsburgh, a man and woman danced 60 hours and 54 minutes without stopping.

Over the Imperial Valley in California a Zenith-Albatross plane was trying to stay up in the air longer than any plane had ever stayed.

BERT HINKLER, Australia's "Lone Eagle," won five air records in a 15½-day flight from England to Australia.

He has the one-man flight distance record, the first non-stop London to Rome flight, the record for speed from England to India and from England to Australia.

He spent $250 for gasoline, half the price of a first-class passage by steamer.

VIRGINIA MAY PARKER

Virginia May Parker, 17, of 810 Madison avenue, who won a beauty contest last year as "Miss North Side," promised Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today that she would not swallow iodine again. Her mother, the girl said, objected to her going to work in a store after she had won the beauty contest. The iodine, she confided to the magistrate, is not all it's cracked up to be as a beverage—in fact she found it quite disagreeable.

Say Social Czar Fire Killer

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The long arm of Jersey justice some time today will reach into the charmed circle of New York society and snatch from it the "torch" murderer of Miss Margaret Brown.

The man who killed the cultured New York governess by drenching her in gasoline and setting her afire is a middle-aged New Yorker so socially prominent that authorities hesitate to arrest him until every detail of the case is complete.

Mystery In Pupil's Death

Sent home from school when he complained of feeling ill and having a violent headache, Peter Pavluchik, 14, of 2434 Forbes street, died shortly before last midnight in his home. The cause of death has not been determined.

The boy, who was in the Eight B class of the Soho Public School, first complained of being sick at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Upon informing his teacher that he was too ill to remain in class until the noon recess period, he was excused. He went home and

PAROLE WOMAN

One year in the Alelgheny county jail for ex-Fire Capt. Charles F. Golden.

Nine months in the jail for J. William Bolster.

A parole for two years and a $50 fine for Mrs. Anna Conklin.

So spoke Judge Harry H. Rowand in Criminal Court today in pronouncing sentence upon three members of the election board in Sixteenth district, Twenty-second Ward, who were charged with committing falsities at the spring primaries of 1926 during the bitter Zak-Malie legislature contest.

GUILTY ON COUNTS

Golden, who was ordered to resign by Judge Rowand last week, was tenced on three counts, conspiracy, making a false return and false count, and failure to deliver ballots and records.

Bolster was found guilty on the same counts and another, false pretense.

Mrs. Conklin's parole followed her

Drug Addicts 'Living Dead'

This is the fifth of a series of articles by Winifred Black, exposing conditions resulting from wholesale, uncurbed sale of "dope" in the United States.

These articles are being printed in connection with Narcotic Education Week.

By WINIFRED BLACK.

Yesterday I sat in a New York prison and talked with four of the living dead.

All women, they were—all young, but one.

WINIFRED BLACK

Two of them were college graduates, each of a good college in good and regular standing, too.

One of them had never gone beyond the high school, and one probably never had been so much of any school at all, for she was brought up on a farm, far up in the snows of Canada, and she was the least hopeless of them all.

Heroin addicts, every one—cocaine, too, and morphine, and once in a while marijuana, that strange new drug from Texas and California.

Anything so long as it is a drug. That's the article in the strange twisted creed of these strange outcasts.

A Broken Promise

One of the women was about 40. A queer, broken creature she was as she sat there on the edge of the hard prison bench.

"I thought it was one of my sons," she said—"when they called me to come out of the cell. I guess they're never coming to see me, my sons or my husband.

"People forget you awfully quick when you get into this place.

"Oh yes, I have a home and it's a nice little home, too. My husband is a good man. He knew I was an addict when he married me, but I promised him and my two little boys I would never

MINE OFFICIAL SPURNS QUIZ

Defying members of the United States Senate sub-committee here to investigate mine strike conditions in the Pittsburgh district, H. M. White, division superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, today refused to answer questions put to him by members of the committee.

The balk in testimony came at Moon Run, where the probers were told of stark terrorism created by coal and iron policemen, who were charged with abusing women, cursing children and indirectly being the cause of the death of an aged man.

White and other officials, and hired guards of the coal company at Moon Run, were hotly grilled by Senator Wheeler and Gooding, and White was threatened with punishment at the hands of the United States Senate for his refusal to give information. White said he saw no reason for broadcasting the company's private business, and when told he could be hauled before the Senate body, said he would be ready to talk then.

Sergt. M. M. Akers, of the coal and iron police, admitted that he never made any report to any state authority in regard to arrests, yet claimed the right to take into custody any person at any time, anywhere in the county for any offense.

"Doesn't Choose"

Division Manager White was asked why the mine had shut down preceding the strike. He replied because it was unable to sell coal at a profit. He was asked how much it cost to produce coal. "I don't care to answer," he said.

Senator Wheeler said: "Don't you know that the Senate Committee can

BARRACKS AND COMPANY HOUSES INSPECTED

The senators treked through two dozen communities yesterday and today, inspecting living and working conditions. The company-owned houses and the union-built barracks came in for careful investigation, as all angles of the strike were surveyed.

STRIKERS SEE RAY OF HOPE IN PROBE

Here's the crowd surrounding the committee at one of the mining camps. Everywhere they went great crowds of strikers and their families gathered. The union men believe the advent of the senators marks the end of the strike—and victory for them.

"WHAT'S MATTER, SON?" ASKS FARMER AS LINDY FLOUNDERS

FAILS TO IDENTIFY AIR ACE

By International News Service.

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—Rest and seclusion at Selfridge Field until late tonight or early tomorrow was the program today for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, here on a mystery mission said to involve the inauguration of a new air line.

The flying colonel is the guest of Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant of the First Pursuit Group at Selfridge. Secrecy continues to envelop Lindy's plans due to his insistence that he be kept out of the public eye.

Lindbergh called off another "mystery mission" hop scheduled for this morning and decided to remain quietly at the field.

On the way to the Ford airport yesterday where they conferred with Ford officials, Lindbergh and Lanphier landed their Army pursuit planes in a field at Southfield and Eleven-mile roads when Lanphier's ignition failed. They were taken to Dearborn in an automobile.

The planes came down in Lathrup townsite, near the modest farm of John Cornair.

Cornair heard the planes and went out to see what it was all about. He saw a tall, yellow-haired boy clamber out of one plane, he said, and asked him, "What the hell's the matter, son?"

"Son" smiled and Maj. Lanphier introduced himself.

"Do you know who you're calling son?" the major asked.

Cornair didn't. When Lanphier told him "it took the wind out of his sails," to use his own words.

Earl Lathrup, in a real estate office a little farther down the road, arrived in the meanwhile. He offered to drive the two airmen to Dearborn. They consented in a hurry.

The colonel rode with Lathrup while Maj. Lanphier shivered in the rumble seat.

When the party arrived at the Ford airport, Lindbergh offered Lathrup a five dollar bill. Lathrup refused it until the thought struck him that he could frame it and keep it as a memento of the unusual experience.

Cornair, the farmer, and Lathrup shared townsite honors and were made the center of small groups wherever they went.

The people thereabouts are planning to commemorate the day by dedicating an apple tree, near where the planes came down.

It's to be the Lindbergh apple tree.

JERRY, A MODERN -:- MEETS SAXON, ALSO -:- A MODERN YOUTH

JERRY THE ARTIST

A natural talent for sketching was one of the attractive Jerry's possessions. She could draw with a whimsical style that breathed of modern life; she got lines and colors in her work that made them vivid. Meet Jerry next Tuesday—Elenore Meherin's new Jerry, which begins in the Sun-Telegraph.

FINISHING TEA

Saxon tells her she is the only girl in the world. But he is a young architect and poor, and dependent on his uncle for very many things. Too many, in fact, to suit either his uncle or himself. Saxon will be presented in vivid action in "Jerry," Elenore Meherin's great serial, which will begin Tuesday in the Sun-Telegraph.

THE ARCHITECT

Saxon had talent, everybody said. His uncle believed so, and gave him money to study, and promised him many things. Jerry never met the uncle until . . . but, begin the story Tuesday. Jerry in the pictures is Rosemary, soprano, singing this week at a downtown theater, and Saxon is Hubert Hilton, pianist, at the same house.

FIRST HAND INFORMATION

Senator Robert F. Wagner did a little private questioning while the Senate committee visited the barracks of the striking miners at Coverdale No. 8 mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company. Mrs. Antoinnette Rodevenski, holding her nine-months' old baby, Mary, and Mrs. Annie Klisbech, told the Senator it was pretty hard to raise a family in the cramped rooms of the barracks.

COL. LINDBERGH is said to be constructing some kind of new airplane, invented or perfected by him, Henry Ford cooperating in his Detroit air plant.

Mr. Ford, who has a great admiration for the young American flier and went flying with him, will oblige this country if he persuades Lindbergh to interest himself in building planes instead of doing stunts in the air.

DISASTER FAKER SPREADS ALARM

Police and detectives throughout the western counties of Pennsylvania and officials of the Bell Telephone Company have put out a dragnet to catch a practical joker who has thrown whole communities into a state of panic through the spreading of false reports of death and disaster. Police chiefs, county coroners, suburban fire departments, newspaper offices and private individuals have been made victims of the hoaxes.

Using the telephone as his medium of communication, the perpetrator, in one of his favorite tricks, will call a woman to the receiver and bellow out: "Come down to the undertaker's right away; your husband has just been run over by an automobile." As a result, several women were prostrated by the shock, and in Uniontown, Brownsville, Charleroi and other towns in the Monongahela valley region where this hoax has been worked, some victims are reported to be in serious conditions.

While telephone company officials were seeking sources of these calls yesterday the wires suddenly were jammed with messages from a score of newspaper officers, heads of detective bureaus, state police and insurance underwriters inquiring about a reported payroll holdup and robbery of $192,000 at Fair Oaks, Fayette county. This false alarm was traced to a traveling man who gave the report to a Monongahela newspaper.

Patriot Song 'Wet or Dry?' R. I. Legislature in Row

By International News Service

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 24.—Wets and drys of the House of Representatives, deadlocked over the correct wording of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," today had a special committee investigating with instructions to report on Tuesday.

The trouble started following the Washington birthday exercises when the first lines of the final chorus were read:

Old Glory to greet now come hither,
With eyes full of love to the brim,
May the wreaths of our heroes ne'er wither
Nor a star on the banner grow dim.

Representative Fletcher W. Lawton asserted that it should have been read:

The wine cup, the wine cup, bring hither,
And fill ye it up to the brim,
May the wreaths of our heroes ne'er wither
Nor a star of our banner grow dim.

Representative Mrs. O'Neill, Democrat, challenged the correctness of the Lawton version. Other verbal clashes followed, the upshot of the matter being the appointment of the committee, which, today was delving into the question.

SEND HELP TO ELK COUNTY

By International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 24.—In response to a plea for aid from the sheriff of Elk county, Maj. Lynn J. Adams, superintendent of state police, today ordered additional state troopers into Horton township, where violence between union and nonunion miners is admittedly beyond the control of the sheriff.

A telegram from J. E. Jackson, the sheriff, said that demonstrations by union miners have become so frequent and violent he is unable to control the situation in the vicinity of the Shamut Mining Company's operations, where bituminous mines are being operated with nonunion labor.

As is customary, Maj. Adams did not make public the number of men sent into the region, nor did he announce from which barracks they are being sent.

Jackson said that bridges had been destroyed, roads blocked, cars stoned and proclamations torn down.

James M. Starks, 22, a Negro, of 2241 Bedford avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell down an elevator shaft in a building at 922 Penn avenue, where he was employed as a janitor. He was removed to the Mercy Hospital, where he died a short time after being admitted. He was found at the bottom of the shaft and is thought to have fallen from the fourth floor.

Indict J. P. In Bail Fraud

Justice of the Peace John Popp, Jr., of Castle Shannon, and his constable, Mike Blazier, were indicted by the grand jury today, Popp on a conspiracy charge and Blazier on charges of conspiracy, larceny and fraudulent conversion.

Mike Pallschak, 829 Washington street, Braddock, the complainant, charged that he had posted with Popp a $1,200 bail bond which was never returned.

Pallschak averred that Constable Blazier arrested him on a felony charge preferred by John Symda on December 4, and that when he appeared for hearing after posting bail the charge had apparently been dropped, but the $1,200 was not returned.

Union Women Ask Fisher to Call For Public Relief

By International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—Declaring that the coal strike and its results in Western Pennsylvania is "a calamity no less severe than that caused by flood or fire or pestilence," the allies' committee of the Women's Trade Union League of Philadelphia, has addressed an appeal to Gov. John S. Fisher to issue a call for public assistance to relieve distress.

"We would respectfully urge you," says the letter, "to take steps as soon as possible to provide means of averting the additional suffering that must develop by reason of the scores of thousands of workers from other states brought into a district already over-supplied with workers and with more mines than the demand for coal justifies."

Mine Rum Corner Bared

How bootlegging has become systematized in the camps of nonunion men working in the mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Moon Run was described in Criminal Court today. It was declared three men had the monopoly of selling moonshine and that they charged $1 a half pint, which is 300 per cent over the current bootleg prices elsewhere.

Ralph Douglas, 35, a Negro, employed at Moon Run, who was arrested by Joseph Greylock, a coal and iron policeman, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of the illegal possession of liquor before Judge Joseph M. Swearingen. He told the court he had a gallon of moonshine when he was arrested while returning to the camp.

"In camp it is easy to get moonshine," said Douglas, "but they charge $1 a half pint. I went outside and got it for $5 a gallon, but the coal and iron police nabbed me as soon as I came back with this outside bootleggers' stuff."

Douglas was sentenced to serve 30 days in the workhouse.

Pit Blast Entombs Score

By International News Service.

JENNY LIND, Ark., Feb. 24.—Twenty miners are believed to be dead in Mana coal mine No. 3, here, following an explosion early today which entombed 125 men.

Rescue crews blasting their way to the entombed men reported shortly before noon that 105 of the imperiled miners had been rescued. About 35 of these were injured in the explosion and others were suffering from the effects of gas, they said.

A statement from the mine offices said the explosion was caused by escaping gas. Of the 125 men working in the mine, 20 were trapped, but 105 escaped through an entrance blasted out by volunteer rescuers.

The 20 entombed are feared to be dead.

VARE SIGNS 'PEACE PACT' WITH MELLONS, REED

WON'T AID MORIN IN FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Morin-Sullivan fight for a seat in the United States House of Representatives has apparently been submerged today by the Mellon group and the Vare organization in the interest of a "harmonious" state-wide slate of Pennsylvania delegates to the Republican National Convention at Kansas City.

The cool, calculating direction of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is seen by observers here in the bringing about of the "peace pact" entered into here Wednesday night by Senator David A. Reed and Senator-elect William S. Vare whereby threatened opposition to Reed by the Vare organization was suddenly dissipated.

It is known that neither Reed or Vare wanted a fight, although one seemed impending when, first, Justice John W. Kephart of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court was proposed as a possible opponent to Reed's candidacy for re-election, and, secondly, Patrick J. (Paddy) Sullivan, Pittsburgh ward leader,

"Big Business" was the subject of Mr. Kendall's talk, in which he stressed the point that "consistent service is what makes big business big."

"Wet" on Delegate Slate

Indicating that the Mellon and Vare organizations have reached an agreement, Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norristown publisher and one of the "wet" leaders of the state, has been slated for delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention.

This announcement was made today by Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon, who telephoned the information from New York to his office here.

Strassburger was the stormy petrel of the delegate fight four years ago when, with the aid of the Vare forces in Philadelphia and Senator M. G. Leslie in Pittsburgh, he entered the battle on a "beer and wine" platform and broke the organization slate by defeating Gifford Pinchot.

The others on the "harmony" slate of delegates-at-large are Senator William S. Vare, Gov. John S. Fisher, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon, Mrs. Worthington Scranton, vice chairman of the state committee, and W. L. Mellon.

The alternates, all women, are Mrs. Augusta Brown Fleming, of Erie; Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Rosa M. Ward, of Delaware; Mrs. Gertrude Frantz Stauffer, of Lancaster; Mrs. Mary B. Warburton, of Montgomery; Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, of Lehigh, and Mrs. Leona Purple, of McKean county.

"It always has been the custom to send both United States Senators as delegates at large," said the state chairman in a statement. "This year Senator David A. Reed voluntarily yielded his place to Secretary Davis. It was originally agreed that Mayor Harry A. Mackey, of Philadelphia should be a candidate but he withdrew his name, suggesting Mr. Strassburger."

For some time there have been rumors that Strassburger was considering entering the senatorial race against Reed, in spite of the fact that the place always has gone to one of the western counties. His slating as delegate kills such reports effectively, it is believed.

PAY BACK RENT FOR EVICTED

While the senatorial investigation committee was looking into conditions in the Pittsburgh coal fields yesterday, attorneys for the United Mine Workers of America paid off $31,016.91 back rent due the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation from union families evicted from company houses in Allegheny county.

The striking miners and their families are living in flimsy wooden barracks hastily put up by the union to shelter them during the winter. The Senate committee visited a number of these barracks yesterday and several times the question was asked: "How do they keep warm?"

"It is a serious problem," answered Phillip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, who accompanied the senators on their first day's tour of the district. "But it is a problem our people have met bravely and without a murmur. We are paying this money to the coal baron who doesn't really need it, while thousands of our people are in crying need of food and sufficient clothing to cover their bodies."

Kills Kin During Fight

Blows delivered by his son-in-law in a fight last Saturday caused the death of Kasimir E. Elbrecht, 63, rear of 3031 Brereton avenue, in his home at 3:15 o'clock this morning, according to police.

Elbrecht is said to have acted to protect his daughter, Mrs. Josephine Prosniewske, from her husband, Konstantine, when the latter attacked her for refusing him liquor. The son-in-law, police say, then directed his attack on the aged man, felling him with a blow on the head.

Elbrecht died from pneumonia, developing from his injuries.

Konstantine Prosniewske, 38, of 3333 Fleetwood street, the son-in-law, was arrested yesterday.

Liquor in Auto, Ousted Dry Agent Held

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 24.—A suspended prohibition agent early today suffered the unusual experience of being arrested as a bootlegger.

County detectives said they had arrested Archie Nagleman, 26, of Rostraver township, because they found 120 pints of bonded whisky in an auto parked in his driveway. He was committed to jail despite strong denials.

Detectives said Prohibition Director John D. Pennington suspended Nagleman on Monday.

MINE CAMP ILLNESS SPREADS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—Additional state nurses have been ordered rushed into the eviction camps of striking miners in Allegheny county because of increased illness, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, reported today to Gov. Fisher. Placing of the additional nurses in the territory resulted from a report on sanitary conditions made by Miss Alice O'Halloran, chief of the Bureau of Nursing.

The corps of nurses will be supplemented as occasion requires, the health secretary said. Several health officers have been ordered into the district for special duty.

Dr. Appel also announced he had ordered one of the department's motorized laboratories into Allegheny county to make examinations of the water supplies in the eviction camps. The laboratory was in the district much of last summer, the secretary said, and it is sent back for further work.

"In a great number of camps," Dr. Appel says, "the water comes from municipalities having supplies which are properly safeguarded and there have been absolutely no evidences of any intestinal conditions which might be ascribed to impure water. At the same time we felt that it was advisable to keep the matter under careful supervision."

Organization of a central distributing agency for relief work also is urged by Dr. Appel. The secretary gathers from Miss O'Halloran's report that while there is hardship and destitution there is considerable relief going into the district. The state nurse found some camps being amply supplied, while others are neglected. To insure an equitable distribution Dr. Appel feels that a central agency for relief work should be established.

CHILDREN and Calcium

Have you any dietary problems with your children? Perhaps calcium's corrective properties would speedily put their systems in shape to eat anything they want. And calcium wafers will certainly keep their bowels poison-free, normally active and clean!

Don't give growing boys and girls harsh cathartics, you will give them the cathartic habit, if you do. A calcium wafer or two will just as effectively overcome the sluggish condition and tend to prevent its return. Let a doctor explain why.

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size 60c.

TORCH KILLER, SOCIAL CZAR, ARREST IMMINENT

Capt. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police, said today.

The suspect is being kept under close surveillance. His only chance to escape the police net tightening about him, says Capt. Lamb, is the quick suicide he threatened in his letter of confession.

Dr. Anderson Lawton, who was present at the autopsy, today told of evidences that Miss Brown had been knocked unconscious before she was set afire. An anonymous confession mailed to police yesterday said her assailant had struck Miss Brown on the head.

Dr. Lawton said that a pivot tooth in Miss Brown's lower jaw had been broken and that a blood clot extended from the lower lip across the mouth. He believed the blow would have caused unconsciousness. He also said that the pupils of the victim's eyes were not dilated, indicating that she had been unconscious when set on fire.

County Prosecutor Bergen intimated that the full contents of the confession letter had not been made public.

Police were informed today that a man driving an automobile bearing stolen license plates had visited the scene of the crime last night and they were investigating the possibility that the slayer had returned there through morbid curiosity.

ROAD CLEAR FOR COLBY DIVORCE

By WILLIAM HILLMAN,
By Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Alexander Millerand, former president of France, appeared before the tribunal at Versailles yesterday to ask that Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under Wilson, be granted a divorce.

The French statesman submitted final papers notifying the court that two formal meetings between Colby and his wife, the former Nathalie Sedgwick, for purposes of reconciliation as required by the French law, had failed.

Millerand's request was uncontested, Mrs. Colby neither appearing in court nor being represented by an attorney, nor did the former secretary of state appear. A decree of divorce is expected to be granted soon liquidating a marital affair which has resulted in curious litigation in the French courts.

Mrs. Colby first brought suit for divorce in December, 1925, before the tribunal of the Seine, in Paris. The Paris court set April 22, 1926, as the date for the required attempt at reconciliation, but Mrs. Colby, piqued for an unknown reason, refused to go on with the suit and did not appear for the hearing.

A year later Colby in turn brought suit.

The Versailles court investigated and finally threw out the previous demand of Mrs. Colby, permitting the former secretary of state to file suit. Colby did so October 29, 1927. The Colbys were married in Stockbridge, Mass., June 22, 1895.

PROMISES LONG, HEALTHY LIFE TO WEAK, THIN-BLOODED PEOPLE

Scientists Discover "Mysterious Substance" in Beef Livers That Makes Rich Red Blood and Creates Strength, Vigor and Vitality—Often in 8 days.

There's help for men and women who are rundown, weak, tired-out and thin-blooded.

In New York and other big cities progressive physicians are prescribing a diet of beefs liver.

They have found by actual tests that patients far gone with pernicious anemia—so far gone that life itself was only a matter of months—have been restored to health.

How a woman may look when her blood is thin and weak —and the change that takes place when the blood is rich and red.

In order to get this "Mysterious Substance" or Vitamines in a greatly condensed form one of New York's famous Laboratories is putting up a liquid elixir known to Pharmacists as Hemo-Liver.

This preparation is not a patent medicine—the vitamines are extracted by a new process from fresh beefs liver so that the blood making health creating substance is saved.

It is not a patent medicine but a pleasant to take elixir which all thin-blooded people and especially those who need more vigor and vitality are urged to try.

Hemo-Liver is now dispensed by all druggists who keep abreast of the times with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help—wonderfully—your money will be returned.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished." Get Hemo-Liver at May's Drug Stores.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation, which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

$5,100 LEFT BY WIFE TIED UP

Judge Richard W. Martin of Common Pleas Court yesterday heard testimony on the petition of Gargely Patanyi, 111 Grant street, to have the First National Bank place $5,100 in the joint account of himself and wife, Mrs. Agnes Patanyi, who died November 23, 1925.

Two daughters—Julia and Agnes, aged 15 and 11—testified that on the day of their mother's death she had said she believed she was going to die and had told her husband that she wished the money, then in her name, to be placed in a joint account so her husband could educate the girls.

Their father, they said, rushed to the bank, obtained signature cards, and had his wife sign for the joint account. However, he failed to return the signature card to the bank until December 5, 1925. The bank, learning the situation, had Patanyi restore in his wife's name money which he had checked out.

Judge Martin doubted his authority to enter a declatory judgment and told Attorneys Charles G. Lane, Jr., representing the petitioner, and William N. McNaugher, for the bank, that he believed the Orphans' Court should decide. The court will render a decision later.

ROBBER HOLDS UP GROCER

Entering the grocery store of George Delas, of 111 Forty-fifth street, while the proprietor was alone last night a holdup man compelled him to stand aside while he rifled the cash register of about $50. The robber escaped in an automobile.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Established 1879

These new spring suits and topcoats, in medium weight fabrics for early spring wear, are creating more than the usual favorable comment. Each season Richman's Clothes win an ever-increasing following among men who are accustomed to the best—men who can afford to pay fancy prices for what they like. But the sensible economy of the Richman price appeals to them when they learn that it involves no sacrifice in appearance or satisfaction—when they find that Richman's Clothes are as authentically styled as any produced by exclusive custom tailors—that the woolens are actually finer in quality than some they have bought at more than twice the price—that the tailoring meets every requirement of smart style and long wear. To the man who still thinks that Richman's Clothes are not for him, we say—try them.

Suit, Topcoat or Tuxedo Suit

Made in our own great factories, by happily contented stock owning workers, Richman's Clothes afford quality finer than you thought possible at such a price.

all $22.50

Extra Trousers $3—$4—$5—$6

The economies of Richman scientific volume production, huge cash buying power, and direct from factory sales give you the opportunity to dress better at lower cost.

County detectives this morning where checking the name and address of the sender of a telegram received by Chief George W. Chief Murren is wondering whether the writer really knows where Jaworski is or whether the telegram is a joke, sent by friends here to cheer him up on his birthday.

NAB MAN IN STATION AFTER PURSE SNATCHING

Excitement prevailed in the Pennsylvania Railroad Station last night when railway police closed in on Henry Edwards, 23, a Negro, while, they say, he was attempting to escape following an attempt to snatch a woman's purse. He was lodged in the Central Police Station, charged with being a suspicious person.

DRUG ADDICTS ARE DESCRIBED AS "LIVING DEAD"

touch 'dope' again. And so he took us and took good care of us, and the boys like him just as if he were their own father.

"One of the boys is at Columbia College now. The other is studying music. He's quite a genius. Yes, they both know I'm an addict, but they thought I was off the stuff. And I was, only the other day I got to thinking, and it was sort of dark and lonesome and a woman in the next flat kept playing one tune over and over on the victrola and it was a tune I used to hear my mother sing when I was little and I don't know . . . it all came over me again, and I thought, 'I'll just take one more shot of heroin—and get the ache out of my bones.'

"And I slipped over to a place not so very far away, and went up to the flat where I knew I would find what I wanted, and I only bought one little 'shot' and just as I was going to take it, the police came and arrested us all. I've been here for 10 days now and nobody has come for me. My husband told me if I ever took another 'shot' he'd leave me—I guess he's kept his word."

"You can't blame him, can you?"

"No," she said, "I can't blame him."

And her eyes were dry and dazed and I knew that she was entering again the drugged paradise of forgetfulness.

"Little by Little"

They give them two "shots" a day in the prison. They have to do this, or people so far advanced in addiction would die in terrible torture. And that, of course, would never do.

It would be bad for discipline in the prison, so they say.

This woman was a college graduate. She came from Seattle, and she was brought up in comfort, and almost luxury, but one day she had a bad attack of neuralgia and one of her college mates gave her a little of white powder which stopped the pain, and the next day she took another little white powder and by the time she graduated she was a confirmed addict.

And she wore a white dress and carried a great bouquet of white roses. O, an armful of them. And all her friends came to see her graduate and they said she looked so pretty and was so clever and some of them envied her her chance in life, and all the time she was bound foot and wrist, soul and body to the most hideous slavery in the world.

And nobody even guessed it.

She told me all about it yesterday, while the drug was beginning to work. Maybe there wasn't a word of it true. They tell strange tales, these addicts—but somehow it sounded very possible.

Dared Into Slavery

She spoke intelligent, educated English, and she had in her poor, broken way something of the manner and address of one born to position and protected comfort.

Sitting beside her, on the hard prison bench, was a tall, handsome girl, about 25.

Blonde, blue-eyed, with regular features and a smile that might have made her fortune in any theater.

"Heroin is my 'dope,'" said the blonde. "I've been taking it for six year. I took it on a dare at a party. I play a piano in a cabaret now." She threw back her head and laughed bitterly with a gleam of perfect teeth. "If my mother had ever thought that's what I'd do with my music—Oh, yes, I have to 'dope' to get through with my work. I never take too much of it. It doesn't hurt me any.

"I'm never ill. The 'dope' keeps me from taking cold. I'm never nervous, or anything. I just take it to give me pep. It's all rubbish arresting me like this. I'm not an addict. I just went up to the flat to get a little 'happy dust' for the night's show, and the police came and caught me.

"I'm all right. I don't need any help. It's bad to stay away from my job so long, that's all.

"I'm a good piano player, too. More than good. And I can sing if you want to know. And here I

MAGNESIA BEST FOR GASSY STOMACH

Bisurated Magnesia Promptly Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion

If everything you eat turns to gas and your stomach is a constant ferment of sourness and Acid Indigestion, try taking a little pure Bisurated Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfailingly gives.

It is a serious mistake to seek relief from Indigestion or a bad stomach by using pepsin or other artificial digestants. You get relief but weaken the stomach and do not reach the cause which, nine times in ten, is simply "too much acid" in the stomach. Bisurated Magnesia, taken after meals, dissolves or neutralizes this acid, sweetens and cleans up the stomach, drives out gas and bloat and lets the stomach digest your food as nature intended without a particle of trouble.

May Drug Co. and reliable druggists everywhere supply the genuine Bisurated Magnesia in both powder and tablets in sealed packages. Do not confuse with ordinary citrate, milk or lump magnesia. Be sure to get Bisurated, which is not a laxative and is especially prepared for stomach trouble.

DRUG TRAP IS "LIVING DEATH"

am locked up with a lot of vags—it's a shame. That's what it is, if you ask me. Yes, I'm a college girl. And that's all the good it did me.

"Where are my college friends now? None of them asking the warden how I'm feeling this morning, not so you'd notice it. And I'm perfectly all right. Nothing wrong with me at all. What if I do take a little 'sniff' of 'happy dust' once in a while? What if I take it every day—whose business is it, but mine?"

An Outcast

"My mother—oh she thinks I'm dead. My father—he wishes I was dead. He told me so the last time I saw him. I have a brother, a big lawyer out West. He doesn't know and doesn't care whether I'm dead or alive. And I don't care much either, so long as I have my little 'sniff of dust.' I'm all right. Look at me. Do you see anything queer about me?"

And her hands were shaking like leaves in the winter's wind, and when she talked her throat contracted with a strange, nervous, convulsive movement, and her great blue eyes were as wild as the eyes of a hawk. No, there was nothing wrong with her. Nothing at all. Nothing but misery and degradation and disgrace—and at the bottom of her proud, broken heart, bitter shame and cruel desolation.

"Just for Fun"

The third woman who sat on the edge of the hard prison bench came from Massachusetts. She was young, too. Not much over 20. Yet there was something about her that made you call her a woman, not a girl. Her black eyes were full of hate and bitterness.

"Yes, I'm an addict," she said. "Whose business is it, anyhow? My folks don't know where I am and don't care. I ran away from home when I was 16. I got 'hooked' by 'dope' through a young fellow who came to our little town with a street show. He had a soft drink counter and I drank ice cream soda there and got to talking with him. And one evening when he was off duty we took a walk and he gave me some 'happy dust'—just for fun. That began it. I've never lived without 'dope' since. I wish I was dead. I hope he is dead—I suppose I'm only one of hundreds to him. I'd like to see him again—just once to tell him what I think of him—not that I suppose he cares."

What bitter laughs they have, these poor things who live from one dose of narcotics to the other.

"I thought he was the most wonderful man in the world. What fools girls are! Who's that singing that song? Why don't they make those nuts keep still?"

From the crowded cells where they keep the colored derelicts came the croon of a song from the depths.

Bring out your rubber tired hearse,
Bring out your rubber tired hack,
I'm takin' my man to the grave yard
And I ain't gwine to bring him back.

"Gone"—She Knows it

The fourth woman who sat on the hard bench in the prison smiled a hard and crooked smile.

"Why don't you like that song?" she said. "I think it's swell. I know plenty, I'd like to see someone riding to the graveyard, but it is no man. It's a woman—the woman that put me on the stuff. We were working in one of the big stores together and I had a headache and she said she'd cure it. She cured it all right.

"And here I am in prison. Me, that was brought up good and regular on a farm in Canada. We had family prayers every Sunday morning at our house and my brothers and sisters and I used to gather around Sunday nights and sing hymns. You know, the 'Sweet Bye and Bye' and 'Oh Beulah land.'

"Well, I got to 'Beulah Land' all right, and it isn't what I thought it was going to be.

"Cured? Yes, I've been cured twice. Took the cure on purpose so as to get the 'kick' all over again. Me for the stuff again the minute I get out. I'm just the same as all the rest, only I don't lie about it."

And all the time from the crowded cell down the dark corridor came the muffled, crooning lilt of the strange song that is the very voice of the half-blind, half-dumb creatures that are struggling up out of something, like the very primeval mire itself:

"This story ain't no moral,
This story ain't no end,
This story only goes to show
That there ain't no good in men."

"Hah!" said the girl who was born and brought up in the clean cold of Canada. She and her vigorous, wholesome brothers and sisters, and their normal, healthy father and mother—she who had come so far to find herself caught at last in the eddying slum of a dark prison—"Hah!" said she. "No, nor no good in women either. Believe me—I know!"

Our Own—?

From Massachusetts, from Seattle, from Michigan and Canada, from good, honest, wholesome homes—four lost, broken-hearted, beaten women.

Three of them, pitifully young.

How strangely met—in what a strange and terrible place!

And each one of them once made some young mother laugh with pride to see her take her first courageous baby steps.

Your girl and mine—how safe are they from this creeping horror of drug addiction? What are we doing, you and I, to protect them?

Do you suppose that any one of the mothers of any one of these poor, broken creatures ever saw even in her blackest dreams the black shadow of a prison?

Heroin—cocaine—morphine—marijuana—opium—what does it matter which it is? One horror is worse than the other.

How can we be sure that our own young people are in no danger from these deadly perils?

16 IN CIGARET RING PLEAD TO THEFTS

Twelve former employes of the Federal Tobacco Company, of 641 Grant street, entered pleas of guilty of larceny and conspiracy, and four storekeepers pleaded to receiving stolen goods in Criminal Court yesterday. The cases grew out of operations for two years during which the company was alleged to have lost $82,612 from the theft of cigarets and razor blades. Disposition was deferred by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen.

The former employes were Steve Sobck, Grant Allerton, Walter Alzak, Henry Alzak, Joe Sobeck and Kazimir Speer, warehouse and clerical employes; Joseph A. Lopinto, John Brazen and Chester Walker, drivers, and Frank Baltz, Joseph Vargo and Edward Burkhart, drivers' helpers. The storekeepers were Zigmund Orzechowski, 127 South Seventeenth street; Edward Baranowski, South Eighteenth street; James Bacouras, 1315 Carson street, and Jacob M. Yost, Warrington avenue.

First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park, presented testimony that quantities of cigarets and blades had been loaded on trucks, besides the regular orders, and had been disposed of to shopkeepers at reduced prices. It was stated that the company had discovered the shortages after an inventory and had reported them to city detectives, Peter Connor and Frank Nowicky, breaking up the system in January after following deliveries.

Michael Angelos, proprietor of the Verdun restaurant, 901 Federal street, charged with having purchased 62,000 cigarets, entered a plea of not guilty and went on trial before Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff, of Kittanning.

WIFE ARRESTED IN SHOOTING

Mrs. Marion Dumont, 32, wife of Motorcycle Patrolman Lee P. Dumont, was arrested yesterday in her home in connection with the shooting of her husband Wednesday morning while he was sleeping in his home in Smith street. She was taken to the South Side Station on a suspicious person charge and released after posting $2,000 bond.

The arrest of the wife is a result of the investigation of Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh who was not satisfied that the shooting had been accidental. Dumont, who, is in the Mercy Hospital, was shot in the left thigh. Two shots were fired. He supported his wife's story that the shooting was accidental.

OAKLAND MAN HELD UP

Max Kaiserman, of 5209 Ward street, was robbed of $180 by an armed thug who held him up near his home last night. The robber stepped from behind a pole where he had been hiding and thrust the revolver in the victim's face.

Mrs. R. C. Beatty of 5755 Howe street, was stopped in Alder street by an armed robber who stole $5. Two armed men held up the grocery store of George Delac, at 111 Forty-fifth street and forced Delac to hand over $50 from the cash register. They escaped in an automobile.

WOMAN, ILL, CUTS THROAT

Physicians of the West Penn Hospital this morning said that Mrs. Margaret Beadling, 42, of 5134 Dearborn street, who, police say, slashed her throat last night, was in a serious condition. Police of the Forty-third Street Station were informed that she had been in ill health.

"Every winter I used to get sore throat"

"Try Formamint! a friend suggested. Our family doctor said, 'Excellent: contains an effective, safe antiseptic.' Now there's always the little metal pocket case filled with Formamint, in my handbag."

Formamint cannot take the physician's place. For bad sore throat see him at once. But, at the first sign of raspiness, begin with Formamint. Unlike gargles, it can be used anywhere. In crowded places, too. It continuously releases its germ-killing agent.

WIDOW LOSES FIGHT IN WILL SUIT HERE

Mrs. Gertrude L. Braum, widow of August B. Braum, lost her suit in Common Pleas Court against coheirs of the estate in which she sought to restrain Joseph M. Braum, executor, from foreclosing mortgages in the amount of $18,400 and to render an accounting.

The decision was made in an opinion handed down by Judge George V. Moore. It was brought out that Mrs. Braum while still a minor married Braum, a man of advanced age, January 9, 1922, and they were separated three months later. Braum died January 23, 1924, and left real estate valued at $38,000 and personal property in mortgages estimated worth $65,000.

In his will, Braum left his widow her dower, six children were given $1 each and the balance of the estate went to Joseph M. Braum, who previously had been given $19,400 in mortgages. The court held that the mortgages constituted a gift to Joseph M. Braun and the widow's claim was refused.

HE COULDN'T EAT WITHOUT DISTRESS

Pittsburgh Man Relieved of Awful Indigestion By Using Ten Herbs,

"I suffered with such awful indigestion that it was impossible for me to eat anything without suffering distress from sour stomach, gas and belching," was the statement of Mr. C. D. Sailer, Seventh Avenue Hotel, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the new herbal preparation, Ten Herbs. "I was a traveling man for twelve years, and I believe that my eating at different places, and at all hours of the day, was the cause of my badly disordered stomach," Mr. Sailer continued. "At times I had patches of ulcers in my mouth and on my lips. I also suffered with pains in my right side and was unable to find anything that would give me relief.

"Friends recommended Ten Herbs, and I can truthfully say that they did not exaggerate the merits of this wonderful medicine, as it gave me complete relief. I hope that all who are suffering as I did will give Ten Herbs a trial, in which event I feel sure they will be benefited as I was."

The problem of combating the scourge of stomach trouble, and its attending ills, has been solved by the new natural compound, Ten Herbs. This medicine not only benefits the stomach, but cleanses and invigorates the entire system, and makes life worth living for those who are weak and run down. Ten Herbs also regulates the liver and bowels, and usually makes one feel better in every way. More and more persons are coming to realize the truth of these statements, as is attested by the words of praise for Ten Herbs, given by Pittsburgh citizens, that have been printed in the local papers.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free samples given.

FOIL RED GUILE AT MINES

Two Catholic priests have staved off Bolshevism in Curry and Finleyville, members of the United States Senate sub-committee learned yesterday while investigating coal strike conditions here.

The Rev. C. F. Fehrenbach, pastor of the Church of the Nativity at Curry, and the Rev. Edward A. Glennon of St. Francis Church at Finleyville told their stories to the senators in the parish house of Father Fehrenbach's church before newspapermen and officials of the United Mine Workers of America. Their statements were startling and made a profound impression on the committee.

Father Fehrenbach said:

"There is a natural undercurrent of bitterness among the union people here and everywhere with the suffering they have been forced to endure. With such a trend in the minds of the most solid citizenry, it is not surprising that radical thoughts should creep into their heads.

RED GUILE FOILED

"Bolshevism has made repeated attempts to enter our community, and, like the wolf in sheep's clothing, it has been recognized by some of our more level-headed people. The Red influence has sought to spread its doctrine through the agency of relief. They have brought in food and clothing and have attempted to reach our children through an organization disguised as a sort of union school, but to no avail.

"I have succeeded in stamping out this Red invasion for the time being, at least, by convincing the Polish Falcons they should not permit these radicals to use their hall for meetings."

Father Glennon related similar experiences at Finleyville. He said:

"What can you expect when riff-raff such as these strikebreakers are, brought in by the coal companies? I have seen men and women reeling drunk on the highways and none of them apparently recognize God. They are actually heathens; none of them ever attend church.

"Here is a chance for you senators to put before the whole United States an industrial condition that is utterly demoralizing. I pray that you may succeed."

FACE-TO-FACE

Father Glennon also told the senators of several personal encounters with the Red influence. He said:

"I heard of one meeting and decided to attend.

"The Bolshevik has no use for our religion, and when I entered the meeting hall I heard angry mutterings on all sides. I did not fear bodily harm, however, and went directly to the platform and talked to them.

"Some of the more radical among the crowd heckled me when I started to speak, but I kept on talking. I would have liked to invite some of the 'hard boiled' fellows out into the alley, but I don't suppose that would have done much good."

Both Father Fehrenbach and Father Glennon were questioned about relief in their district and questions were put to them concerning the Red Cross and other relief agencies.

"Has the Red Cross done anything to alleviate suffering in your district?" Father Fehrenbach was asked by Senator Gooding.

"No, they have not," was the priest's answer.

"Has their attention been called to the plight of your people?" was the next question.

"Yes," Father Fehrenbach replied. "But they have done nothing, whereas the American Legion and the Central Relief Committee, which, I understand, is composed of a number of relief organizations, including the ministerial body in Pittsburgh, have done wonders."

At this rate she saves $197.50 on the three-room outfit at $350. No wonder the wisdom of buying at February Sale prices has a thrift appeal to the foresighted June Bride. WON'T ANSWER QUIZ DESPITE WARNING require you to answer." White replied, "I don't care to answer." Senator Gooding then asked, "Can you answer?" and White replied, "I can, but I don't care to."

Police Grilled

C. A. McDonald, safety and personnel manager of the coal company, was closely questioned in regard to the coal and iron police. He said the police were paid $160 per month and furnished room and board and automobiles. Senator Goodings wanted to know what weapons they carried. McDonald said the company furnished arms and ammunition, but professed not to know exactly to what their equipment consisted. He admitted that they made their reports exclusively to the company and were not responsible to the state.

"Under what authority," asked Senator Goodings, "do they go out on the public highway and make arrests?"

"I don't know," said McDonald.

Sergt Akers was then questioned. He said that his commission entitled him to make arrests not only on the company's property, but anywhere in the county.

"Does your authority," asked Senator Gooding, "extend to only company business or to any violation of law?"

Akers said he was unable to answer.

"Isn't it important," asked Senator Wagner, "that you know what your authority is?"

Akers admitted that it was.

"Do you let state officers come in to execute state warrants?"

Akers answered in the affirmative, which was in contradiction of Constable Thomas Drexler's statement that he was not permitted to enter the company's property to serve warrants.

Scan Payroll

The question of wages was gone into deeply and a careful examination made of the company's payroll at the present time and during the period preceding the strike. It developed that payrolls now show large debits on small pay checks. Previously the reverse was the case.

It was stated that average net pay drawn by the employes for the two weeks ending February was $78, but examination of the payrolls displayed case after case in which the miners received no pay at all, the books showing only indebtedness to the company.

James Dinsdale, union picket of Moon Run, was the first witness heard. He told of brutality among the coal and iron policemen and called several of his fellow pickets to bear out his assertions. Dinsdale told the committee of coal and iron policemen employed by the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Moon Run whose commissions had been revoked, but they are still on the Pittsburgh coal force.

"The coal and iron police are a menace to the public," Dinsdale declared. "They patrol the public higway where they have no business. They should be made to wear a different uniform, because their present outfit gives them the appearance of state policemen. It is hard to tell the difference between a coal and iron policeman and a state officer.

"These coal and iron police have gone so far as to stop privately owned automobiles on the public highway, mistreating the occupants and making them submit to search without reason."

"Did you see coal and iron police stop cars on the highway?" questioned Senator Wagner.

"Yes, there probably are some of the people here at the present time," replied the witness.

Charges Drunkenness

Dinsdale then read a statement to the committee in which he charged coal and iron police with drunkenness and mistreating union people. In it he said:

"Lieut. J. J. Ford, of the coal and iron police, on August 8, 1927, appeared on the public highway in a drunken condition. He was out looking for a fight and was driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor. 'Why so lit up,' Dinsdale asked. 'Well, this is my night off and I'm out for fun,' the lieutenant replied."

Dinsdale charged that Lieut. Ford was not wearing his uniform, but said he carried a gun and blackjack. Dinsdale also told the Senate committee of being arrested many times by coal and iron police, but declared he had not been convicted at any time. He said on one occasion he was taken before Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, at Sewickley, and when constables from Moon Run attempted to serve warrants on coal and iron police, who were prosecuting the case, Squire Morgan kept the coal company officers in hiding until the constables had left.

Pickets Beaten

Dinsdale called several pickets who said they were beaten by police while walking on the public highway.

Tim Drexler, constable at Moon Run, told of trouble in the district during the past two years. He told of investigating a murder in a coal company house and being ordered off the property by coal and iron police.

"I heard that Rudolph Sexter, a nonunion miner, had been murdered in the 'The Patch.' I went down to investigate and was stopped at the gate by five or six coal and iron men. They would not permit me to enter nor would they tell me anything about the case. The next day County Detective Chief George Murren came to see me. I told him I had been unable to find out anything about the murder and he accompanied me to the coal company property. We went in unmolested and Chief Murren asked why they had not reported the murder. They said they wanted to keep it a secret in order to get the man who had committed the crime.

"Another case where I was stopped by police in the pursuit of duty was on the occasion of a shooting on coal company property.

"A dog, owned by a man residing on the Steubenville pike, came limping home with a bullet wound in its left hind leg. The owner called me and I went down to the coal company property to investigate. I was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and trespassing and was fined $2 and costs on each charge."

"Do the coal and iron police hold that you have no right to serve a warrant on company property?"

CONDITIONS IN CAMPS STUN SENATORS

inquired Senator Wheeler.

"I guess they do; they won't allow me to set foot inside the gate," replied the constable.

Tries to Be Neutral

"I tried to be neutral, but it seems I get no place with these coal and iron police. I was working a dance one night and got a call that there was trouble down below. There was a crowd of about 200 persons congregated on the public highway. I learned that a coal and iron policeman had beaten a fellow from the camp.

"There were four or five coal and iron police on the scene. One grabbed me and shook his big club in my face. He appeared drunk and he and his companions were unable to disperse the crowd. I talked with the people and they left quietly."

"Who has been instigating most of the trouble around here?" inquired Senator Wheeler. "Union or nonunion miners?"

"Coal and iron police," replied the constable.

Frank Knouse, another union picket, said he was walking down the road at midnight.

"I heard somebody call to me and turned. As I did so a coal and iron policeman grabbed me and took me to the guardhouse (police shanty). He searched me and left me alone in the place. I waited for a while and nobody came back. I went to the door to see whether I couldn't get out. As I opened the door I was hit over the head with a club. The coal and iron policeman came in and continued to beat me with a blackjack and his club, pushing me through a window, and I have a scar on my head to show where that blackjack struck.

"The next day the coal and iron police took me to a doctor and told him I had caused trouble in the guard house the night before and I fell through a window. The doctor said, 'You should not have beaten this man. He has just been released from St. Francis Hospital.' After having my injury dressed, the coal and iron police took me to Carnegie police station, where I was held a day and a night on a disorderly conduct charge."

"Had you been drinking?" asked Senator Pine.

"No, sir, I had not," the witness answered.

Woman Terrorized

Mrs. Mary Kucick, proprietor of a store at Moon Run, told of coal and iron police terrorizing her and two small children early one morning last September.

"I was sitting in the kitchen that morning when I heard a commotion outside. Two coal and iron police were trying to arrest Dinsdale, and he came into our house. The coal and iron police followed him with drawn revolvers, shoving me aside and pushing a gun into my 14-year-old daughter's face. They told her to 'get the hell out of the road.' I was afraid for my children. I pleaded with them to be careful; they might shoot one of my children, but they said, 'To hell with children, we'll shoot anyone.' Coal and iron police went upstairs and fought with Dinsdale and while one of them knelt on his chest the other manacled his hands. During the struggle my five-year-old boy was kicked in the face and my house was partially wrecked. The coal and iron policemen who did it was convicted of assault and battery and the coal company paid the damages."

Mrs. Elizabeth Drexler, who resides in the same house with Mrs. Kucick, said her father was seriously ill in the house at the time, and as a result of excitement his condition became worse and he died three weeks later.

"I plead with the coal and iron police not to disturb my father, as the doctor said it would be fatal for him to become excited. They cursed me and pushed me aside. They broke dishes in my house and insisted on looking into my father's room. I don't know what happened exactly, but we found my father out of bed and standing on his feet down near the door. We carried him back to bed and called the doctor, but he could do nothing for him, and became weaker and died three weeks later."

The sub-committee—composed of Senators Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, chairman; Robert F. Wagner, of New York; Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, and W. B. Pine, of Oklahoma—visited six mining camps yesterday.

Two Catholic priests told the Senators how they had halted the Red invasion, for the time being at least. The Rev. C. F. Fehrenbach, pastor of the Church of the Nativity at Curry, related how a known radical organization sought to spread its propaganda in this district by the distribution of relief to stricken union miners' families.

"They tried to hold meetings in Curry," Father Fehrenbach declared, "but I put my foot down hard and insisted that my people have nothing to do with the organization. They tried to get the Polish Falsons' Hall for a meeting place, but I blocked that and I don't think they will come back for a while," he said.

The Rev. Edward A. Glennon, of Finleyville, also told the Senators how he had opposed Bolshevism in his sermons and had successfully kept them out of his district.

To support charges of union officials that immorality and bootlegging existed in nonunion camps controlled by operating companies, Ralph Blimer, a strikebreaker at No. 8 mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation at Coverdale, told the Senators that speakeasies and houses of ill fame existed in the camp.

Bare School Sniping

Following an unexpected visit to Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company Mine No. 8 at Coverdale, where the senatorial committee found evidence of gambling, bootlegging and other vice, the probers visited Curry, where a halt was called for lunch in a roadhouse. The plain fare of the little cafe proved most satisfying to the Senators, who had tramped through mud and slush more than four hours. After lunch a visit was paid to the little frame schoolhouse on the edge of town which was the target for strikebreakers' bullets several weeks ago.

The entire committee examined bullet holes in the walls of the building and listened to witnesses' accounts of the shooting. The most important witness at this stage of the investigation was H. R. McCrory, a New York newspaperman, an eye-witness to the shooting.

McCrory told the senators of the shooting at Bruceton the day before, when non-union miners are alleged to have gone through the town, riddling stores and barracks with shotgun and pistol fire. He said it was a night of terror and related how the frightened union residents armed themselves for protection.

During the investigation of the Bruceton shooting, he related, constables from the office of Justice of the Peace J. M. O'Rourke, at Curry, arrested Hampton Matthews, Negro strikebreaker, as he and a companion were about to board a train. McCrory said he was present in Squire O'Rourke's office while an affidavit was being taken from Matthews that he and his companion had been offered $25 a piece by coal and iron police for shooting up the town.

Forced to Arms.

It was while taking this affidavit, McCrory declared, that frantic calls for help came from townspeople residing near the school.

"We are being bombarded from the hills and our children are in danger," McCrory said he was told.

Immediately constables, armed with rifles went to the scene in automobiles, McCrory said, and when the ambushers saw them approach they fled to houses owned by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation at Bruceton.

As long as the constables remained on the highway, McCrory declared, no shooting occurred, but as soon as the constables returned to their office the sniping broke out again. The shooting occurred intermittently for several hours, he said, until an armed guard of unionites finally took possession of the town.

State Police Busy.

While the Senators were visting the schoolhouse, state police from Library came into town and, finding a crowd of men and women congregated in front of the general store gave orders for the people to disperse. They complied with the officers' orders without remonstrance, and the troopers sped away in their automobile. Their actions were observed by one of the Senators, who told his fellow committeemen of the incident. A short time later, while inspecting the damage done by strikebreaking raiders in Bruceton, about two miles away, the Senators came across the state police patrol.

Senator Wheeler expressed a desire to talk with the sergeant in command, and the other Senators joined him. Senator Gooding questioned Sergt. William Davis concerning his duties and asked by what authority he had dispersed the crowd.

Sergeant Questioned.

"The Sheriff of Allegheny county has posted this district with proclamations declaring that three persons constitute a crowd," was the sergeant's reply, "and I am enforcing the law."

"Are you taking orders from the Sheriff?" Senator Gooding inquired.

"Yes," was the sergeant's reply.

The senators then went on to question the sergeant regarding the shootings at Bruceton and Curry and inquired whether any arrests had been made. Sergt. Davis said he understood the constables had made an arrest or two, but that nobody had been taken into custody by members of his detail of troopers, who, he said, had taken charge of the situation following the shooting. Further questioning by the senators brought from the sergeant that his superior officers would be better able to answer the questions.

Visit Strikers' Homes.

From Bruceton, the senatorial investigators went back to Curry. A visit was made to the union barracks, along a muddy road across from a row of company houses, with windows and doors boarded up. These were the former homes of many of the strikers and some of the miners had lived there for as long as 25 and 30 years.

The senators went into several of the homes and asked many questions about living conditions, the ability to get food and clothing and the occupants' treatment at the hands of company officials and coal and iron police.

While the senators were at Curry barracks, a bedraggled coal and iron minion came striding along the line of company property. He carried a heavy wooden club, about three feet long.

Shame—Or Caution?

Hundreds of school children, just released from classes, set up a cry: "Here comes a 'yellow dog!'" Several in the senatorial party turned. The coal and iron policeman shied from a photographer. He hung his head and trudged along, keeping his face turned until he was out of sight and hearing of the comment his passing had occasioned.

It was only an incident in the day's trip, but one or two of the senators appeared profoundly impressed.

"So that's one of the coal and iron police," one was heard to say, "I wondered what manner of men they were!"

Finishing their visits in the barracks, the senators next went to the parish house of the Roman Catholic Church of the Nativity, at Curry, where they talked with the pastor, the Rev. Fehrenbach, and the Rev. Glennon of St. Francis' Church at Finleyville.

From here the party went to the union barracks at Horning and listened to almost unbelievable tales of brutality among the coal and iron police from the lips of men, women and children. It was here that they met Mrs. Clarissa Englert, mother of five living children, who told of having been beaten and handcuffed by coal and iron police after shots had been fired at a crowd of children by strikebreakers.

Several other persons in the camp substantiated Mrs. Englert's story and told other instances of brutality among the coal companys' police officers.

On the way to Horning somebody carried word to the senators that two Negroes who had been brought in to help break the strike had deserted the company camp after a night in one of the bunkhouses and would tell their stories.

The committee agreed to question

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Laura La Plante, Vacationing In Honolulu, Is to Begin Work On 'The Man Disturber' April 1

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.

THE glowing account of tropical Honolulu, furnished by Madeline Hurlock after her vacation there, caused me to wonder if Laura La Plante would ever come back to Hollywood, Madeline said she saw Laura basking in the warmth of the beaches and looking very well. But all good things must end, even vacations. Laura returns to Hollywood with her mother and sister in 10 days.

And then? A wait until the iron gates at Universal swing open. Universal is shut down these days tighter than a drum. Life at Universal City is dull, dead and empty. But even shutdowns cease, and Universal expects to be awake, alive and active by April 1. At that time Laura La Plante will be starred in "The Man Disturber," by Fred and Fanny Hatton, with Wesley Ruggles directing. Earl Snell has already prepared the continuity and my understanding is that Miss La Plante's unit will be the first to start work.

A long time ago Harry D'Arrast wrote a comedy that he called "The Magnificent Flirt." He discussed it as a possible movie, but in those days he was only known as Charlie Chaplin's assistant. No one cared to take a chance. Today Harry is one of the most promising directors in the business and well enough established to take his own story and direct it if he pleases. That's exactly what he will do. "The Magnificent Flirt" will be Florence Vidor's next comedy. Jean De Limur is writing the scenario.

If David Wark Griffith and Cecil DeMille can reach an agreement, the chances are that Phyllis Haver will have an important role in "The Battle of the Sexes." Miss Haver will finish "Tenth Avenue" about the time that D. W. is about to begin on "The Battle of the Sexes," and the arrangement, it seems, for borrowing her could be managed. The one thing that stands in the way is the matter of billing. With Jean Hersholt and Belle Bennett in the same cast, it will probably be a question of priority. It is almost impossible to get a cast of stars in Hollywood for the reason all of them want an agreement they will head the list.

The Fox Company is about to embark on the production of a new idea in aviation, namely, commercial aviation. Howard Hawks, who is to direct this picture, is busy summoning his cast. No wonder Howard is in a hurry, for as soon as he finishes this picture he will get married to Athole Ward, a sister of Norma Shearer. Sue Carol, the young lady who arrived here some time ago and was billed as a Chicago society belle, has apparently lived down that unfortunate introduction. She will play the leading feminine role in Mr. Hawk's picture, they tell me at the Fox studio.

There is a reunion at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Bess Meredyth, who worked on "Ben Hur" with Fred Niblo and was his scenario writer for some years, is working with him again. Although Bess had been assigned to write "Out of the Ruins" for Richard Barthelmess, Mr. Niblo begged so hard to be permitted to borrow her that First National graciously consented.

REVUE TO OPEN NEW STANLEY

The Parisian dancing team La Blanc and DeCharm; Rena Parker from musical comedy, and Anatole Frieldland, as master of ceremonies in his Night Club Revue, will be the opening attraction in the new Stanley. Anita Loos' "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" will be the photoplay offering.

"Greenwich Village Follies" of 1928, which will be the attraction in the Alvin next week, coming with a large company, including Blossom Seely and "Dr." Rockwell.

Those who have not had the opportunity to see Lenore Ulric in "Lulu Belle" in the Nixon this week will be able to see her in this play each evening next week and at matinees Wednesday and Saturday. This will be the second and last week of the engagement.

"Broadway," the drama named for New York's main street, which will remain in the Pitt for a second week, beginning Monday night, is to be exhibited under canvas next summer in towns in which theaters dedicated to the spoken drama either do not exist or are unavailable because of booking complications.

The Brown Derby Band is to be one of the Keith-Albee vaudeville acts in the Davis next week. The screen will have Esther Ralston in "Love and Learn."

College Singers to Compete Tonight

One hundred and fifty men, 30 from each of the following colleges,, will compete in the annual intercollegiate glee club contest tonight in Carnegie Music Hall: Penn State, Juniata, Allegheny, Bucknell and Carnegie Tech.

The program includes: "Good Night," Dudley Buck, Juniata; 'Finnish Lullaby," Selim Palmgren, Carnegie; "Annie Laurie," Bucknel; "At Father's Door," Russian Folk Song, Allegheny; "The Long Day Closes," Arthur Sullivan, Pennsylvania State College; Prize song, "The Broken Melody," J. Sibelius, by each club, this to be followed by each group's college song.

At the end of the program the clubs will combine in singing Kremser's "Prayer of Thanksgiving," under the direction of Harvey Gaul.

EVELYN NESBIT COMING AS FLOTILLA FEATURE

Evelyn Nesbit, with a company of singers and dancers, will open a limited engagement Monday night in the Flotilla Club. This will mark Miss Nesbit's first appearance as an entertainer at a local establishment.

The following week, beginning March 5, the Goodrich Silvertown Cord Orchestra, featuring the Silver-Masked Tenor, will open a week's engagement at the club.

NEW... Amazing Beads of Soap

Wash dishes with far less work

No reddened hands . . . no soapy film on dishes. See how china sparkles and glasses glisten when you use this amazing soap!

OCTAGON
Super Suds

SUDS in a Flash! Dishes that sparkle in far less time. Hands kept smooth and soft.

Now you can wash dishes in much less time... with far less work.

No drying is necessary . . . dish towels aren't needed for china and glassware.

For today, thanks to the discovery of an astonishing new form of soap, you can get dishes gleaming clean, without that tedious work.

It is actually soap in tiny thin-walled "beads"... the result of a marvelous manufacturing discovery . . . an exclusive patented* product that now replaces chips and flakes.

Just a tablespoonful of these magic beads of soap called Super Suds, works miracles in your dishpan.

Instantly you have rich, lively running suds. Action Suds! Every particle is dissolved. Your china dries with a lovely polish. No soap film remains to mar its luster.

You'll marvel, too, at these unique results

No other type of soap is like Super Suds. No other type of soap can give you such remarkable results.

You can see the difference under a magnifying glass. See it in the whiteness of your clothes. See it in the lustrous polish on your dishes and in the velvet smoothness of your hands.

Super Suds is actually the thinnest type of soap ever created. Four times as thin as chip soap.

That's why it dissolves so quickly . . . why it rinses instantly . . . why it saves so much time and energy too.

Use it for everything

Super Suds is not made just for dishwashing alone. It has been created for every household need . . dishwashing and laundry, too.

Super Suds cannot harm the daintiest fabrics . . . washes lingerie with safety.

And for the heavy work on washday, it is absolutely without a rival.

Super Suds dissolves more rapidly than any soap you've ever used before.

Its active suds penetrate every fold of cloth... seep around every fibre . . . work away all grease and grime.

Good-by 'Washboard!'

There's no need to use your washboard now. No need to scrub and rub until your back just aches from the strain. Leave it to Super Suds to soak loose the dirt.

And with Super Suds you'll save much time in rinsing. That's because it dissolves so completely that no stubborn soap particles are left clinging to fabrics. Thus you get along with one less rinsing at least.

Your wash dries out a wonderful snowy white. There's never a trace of soap stain . . . no grimy, yellow look. You simply won't be able to realize that a change of laundry soap can make such an amazing difference in the whiteness of your wash.

Please try this New-Day Soap

Now that we have told you the remarkable story of Super Suds... will you try it in your home?

Test it in comparison with any soap you have ever used before. See how much whiter it makes your clothes . . . how clean without the usual drudgery.

Note the way it saves your hands . . . see how it makes dishes sparkle with far less work.

Try it . . . we know you'll like it . . . and when you do, please tell your friends . . . For we are anxious to spread this good news among the women of America quickly.

Super Suds is surprisingly inexpensive to buy and use . . . its 10-cent price is based on quantity production. If for no other reason, you should choose it for economy . . . it's the biggest 10-cent box of soap on the market.

Start using Super Suds at once . . . put it on your grocery list today. Colgate & Co., Jersey City, N. J.

COMPANY STORES EAT MINERS' PAY, QUIZ TOLD the men, and went to Squire O'Rourke's office where they had been taken by persons who found them wandering about inquiring the way back to Pittsburgh.

The first man told the senators his name was Willie Green. He said he had a wife and five children. He declared he had visited Pittsburgh's employment agency district Wednesday afternoon and had been offered a mine job by an agent. He said he was told that there was no labor trouble and that working conditions were of the best. He agreed to take the job, he said, and was loaded into a covered van together with about 21 other men, among them being his companion of the moment, Sam Johnson.

He and Johnson were taken to the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation Mine No. 4, at Horning, he said, late that night, and were given quarters in a narrow bunk-room he declared "unfit for pigs."

'A Pleasant Evening.'

"I couldn't sleep all night," he related, "because there were nearly a dozen other men all yelling, playing cards and shooting 'craps.' "

The place was filthy, he said, and the bed clothing unfit for human occupancy. He said he decided to stay until morning, however; but after a look at the place in which he was supposed to work he said he decided to quit right there. Johnson, too, refused to work in the place, he said, and they both walked out. He said other occupants of the camp told them they couldn't make enough money on which to live, and many of them were in debt.

"One man told me he wanted to leave," he said, "but he couldn't because he owed the company so much money for food he had to buy at the company store."

Check Pay Rates.

Johnson told a similar story, adding that the place was so filthy he wanted to leave the night he arrived, but couldn't because he "felt like a blind dog in a meat house."

Upon hearing these stories, the Senators decided they would visit Horning Mine No. 4 and accordingly called upon Supt. Arthur Hall, who told the investigators that his mine was operating with 60 per cent Negro help.

The company paid 65 cents a ton for machine-cut coal and 85 cents a ton for pick work, he said. The Jacksonville scale calls for 77 cents for machine coal and $1.11 for pick work. The superintendent was called upon to exhibit payrolls and other data relating to the earnings of the miners, which he did without comment.

The senators pored over these sheets for almost a half an hour. It is said that the majority of the miners draw nothing on pay day, their company store accounts being more than they earn. A few of the men, the senators were informed, draw from $4 to $8 a week after these bills have been paid.

While at Horning the probers also visited the strikebreakers' barracks and expressed great astonishment at the sanitary conditions under which the non-union workers are forced to live. Three empty whisky bottles were found on a bunk in one of the rooms.

On their way back to their automobiles, the senators met a coal and iron policeman who was asked a few questions about salary and duties. He told the senators he was paid $160 a month with room and board.

Soon after their arrival yesterday J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the largest bituminous operator in the country, and Horace F. Baker, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal

by James M. Barrie

THE NEW SCREEN HIT!

Every critic in New York acclaimed Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's exquisite production of Barrie's famous play and Marion Davies' brilliant portrayal of the role of Phoebe Throssel.

Gerhard in the Evening World:

"Marion Davies makes 'Quality Street' a poignant, living thing."

Underhill in the Herald-Tribune.

Hall in the Times.

"Marion Davies as Phoebe Throssel gives the most conscientious performance of her career."

Martin in the World:

"Of all the comediennes of the screen, the young woman in 'Quality Street' is easily the best."

Cohen in the Sun:

"The movie adaptation of 'Quality Street' is one of the most charming photoplays on record."

Waldorf in the Eve. Post.

"'Quality Street' proves a faithful transcript of the play, daintily mounted and generally charming."

Dickstein in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

"A dainty and thoroughly pleasing picture play destined to please many."

Thompson in the Telegram.

"Miss Davies and Director Sidney Franklin have played true with their Barrie."

Coltar in the Eve Graphic:

"A delightful bit of cinema work. Marion Davies gives an earnest and sincere interpretation of the role of Phoebe."

Crewe in the Morning Telegraph.

appeared as a candidate for Congress in opposition to Representative John M. Morin, the present incumbent from the "Strip District," and a Vare supporter.

But recently Reed and Vare were known to be at the parting of the ways if only because of the rough treatment Vare's representatives claimed they were receiving from the Waterman sub-committee of the Senate Privileges and Elections committee conducting the Vare-Wilson ballots cast in the senatorial election in Pennsylvania on November 2, 1926.

However lasting the Reed-Vare "peace pact" may prove, and Reed and Vare men who are members of the Pennsylvania delegation in the lower chamber of Congress predict it will outlive the Kansas City convention, at least, it is considered to have avoided factional strife that might have weakened the position of Pennsylvania in Republican national councils.

Just what the outcome of the Morin-Sullivan fight will be is today regarded as problematical in view of Sullivan's latest ultimatum that he will remain a candidate for Congress "until the last ballot is counted." Reed is known to have assured Vare he would do all within his power to leave Morin without opposition by pulling Sullivan out, but other Pittsburgh representatives than Morin declare the Mellons have not enough influence in the "Strip district" to attain this objective, even if they really wanted to.

Sullivan is a political power in the "Strip" as the leader of the Sixth Ward. He already has the indorsement of nearly all of the other ward leaders in the congressional district. Max G. Leslie is reported to have indorsed Sullivan as one he would "go the limit for." Other Pittsburghers who wield considerable political influence are known to be committed to Sullivan.

Whether Sullivan can withstand the pressure of the Mellon interests if they are exerted to force him out remains to be seen. Those who know him declare he is bent upon coming to Congress. He is wealthy and money means nothing to him, they say. His one ambition, according to comment here, is to rise from the status of a "Strip" ward leader to the life of a congressman, with an opportunity for the "soial life" of Washington officialdom for his family and himself which is denied them at home.

Morin is admitted even by Vare spokesmen to be unquestionably weak in his district, and not to have a "Chinaman's chance" of re-election to his House seat if Sullivan continues to turn a deaf ear to Reed and the Mellons.

But Sullivan entered the race against Morin without consulting Reed or the Mellons. With the "Strip" almost solidly behind him they are considered certain to find him a tough problem to handle.

If they fail to pull Sullivan off, however, Morin may become the "goat" of political expediency. For under the Reed-Vare "peace pact" it was agreed that it would never do to permit the Republican party in Pennsylvania to be split over a mere scrap in a single congressional district in the midst of a presidential campaign year.

Morin is still breathing defiance, but there does not seem to be so much fire behind it. If he enters the senatorial race without definite assurances of Vare organization support he is not likely to make much headway against Reed. There are certainly no present indications that he will receive that support. If Reed and the Mellons cannot pull off Sullivan, with the promise of a soft job elsewhere, it may be that Morin will be the one to be pulled out and given a soft job.

But whether Morin or Sullivan is finally "ditched," the Reed-Vare "peace pact" is considered certain to stand with Morin and Sullivan both disregarded as "little fellows" by the "big fellows," in the interests of party harmony.

This Is For You If You Have Stomach Trouble!

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For some ten or twelve years I suffered from stomach trouble and during that time had tried every means of relief recommended to me or prescribed by my physician, but I grew worse and life was almost unbearable with the constant pain, night and day. My food soured and fermented in my stomach, doing me no good, but rather causing me additional pain. I was urged to have an operation, but refused. At last I heard of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and began to take it. Before I had finished the first bottle the pain in my stomach was gone—it was a wonderful relief—but I was still skeptical about it and expected my old trouble of long standing to return. It is over five years since and I have been free from all stomach trouble and never felt finer or enjoyed my food as I do now."—Frank J. Holzmann, 5300 Holmes St. (Picture above). All druggists.

SCHOOL BURNS, PUPILS WALK TO SAFETY

Seventy pupils in the old Bennett School, Streets Run road, Baldwin township, marched to safety yesterday when fire was discovered in the building. The school was destroyed. The building, a two-story frame structure, had only been open for several days after having been quarantined for diphtheria and scarlet fever.

The fire, believed to have been started by an overheated stove, caused damage estimated at $10,000. Firemen from Willock, Brentwood and Carrick fought the blaze. The township school board will hold a special meeting tomorrow night to provide new quarters for the pupils who will be transfered today to the new Bennett School in Doyle road.

Aim to Live 100

An Easy System to Follow for People Half Dead Around the Age of 40.

Millions of people who suffer needlessly from constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, liver, kidney and impure blood ailments should follow this proven advice: Go to your druggist, ask him for a box of the famous Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea.

Begin right now to put back power and health into your blood. Take a cupful of the rich vitalizing plant juices of these precious herbs once each week. Remember, no cheating. Once a week regularly, that's the system, and stick to it. In a very short time you will begin to feel like a new person. Yes, you will feel years younger.

Further, just to break up a cold quickly and avoid "Flu" or pneumonia, Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea is worth ten times its small cost. Remember, ask your druggist at once. Don't put it off. Start in right now to vitalize and build up your blood.

How One Thin Woman Gained 11 Pounds

Read This Letter

This is from Mrs. W. E. Looney—I just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½. I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I see. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney) Tennessee.
Oct. 18th, 1927.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two $1 boxes any thin, under-weight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

WOMAN FEARED MISSING IS SAFE

The disappearance of Mrs. John Thomas, 25, after her arrival in Pittsburgh yesterday from her home in Masontown, was cleared last night when Mrs. Thomas visited a relative here and explained that she had met an old school chum on the train and had gone to her home upon her arrival in the city.

Mrs. Thomas was given a "trust you" ride by a conductor on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad yesterday when she explained that she had left her purse containing her ticket and money in her husband's automobile in Masontown. When no word was received from her in Pittsburgh, her sister-in-law, Miss Jean Thomas, of 4701 Ellsworth avenue, enlisted the aid of the Missing Persons Bureau.

Coal Corporation, called on the senators and served notice that while they would welcome the senatorial visitors at their camps they objected to their being accompanied by officials of the miners' union.

The sub-committee overruled the protest, but after a conference it was arranged that while the strikers' representatives were to be permitted to accompany the senators they were to withdraw whenever the investigators desired to confer with the superintendents or pit bosses. This was the first of several victories that the union won during the day in clashes with the operators. It was distinctly the strikers' day.

Squelch Mine Boss.

In questioning the strikebreakers concerning their wages and living conditions the senators several times met with interference on the part of foremen and minor officials of the companies, who sought to influence the answers. Finally there came an outburst of indignation from the senators. As they were questioning a non-union miner at Coverdale camp of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, H. F. Schommer, superintendent of the bunk houses, put in a suggestion.

"You step aside," said Senator Wagner, sharply.

"We don't want you to help us," added Senator Wheeler.

Filth and Vice.

Ralph Blimer, one of the non-union men questioned, told the senators that while a man with a good place in the mine ought to be able to produce 12 tons of coal a day, he, himself, was in debt to the company. He was bitter in denunciation of the quarters furnished the strikebreakers. The bunks, he said, were alive with vermin. Andrew Koska, another strikebreaker the senators interviewed, gave them the addresses of two bootlegging establishments, charged the company with cheating the miners in computing the amount of coal produced, and told of alleged maltreatment received at the hands of the bosses.

Most of the strikebreakers interviewed were foreigners and Negroes, who seemed unable to comprehend the senators' questions or to answer them intelligently.

Living a Tragedy.

At the strikers' barracks the senators found numerous cases of families of eight or 10 persons living in three or four small rooms. At one of the refugee camps they inquired concerning sanitary facilities and found them almost wholly lacking.

The company officials were eager that the senators should question the strikebreakers concerning assaults committed by the strikers. But there was little or no questioning of that sort.

At one of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation camps the senators were met by J. M. Provost, general superintendent, who told them the company was now producing 5,000 tons a day, as compared with 14,000 before the strike, and was employing 2,200 miners, as against 3,200 formerly.

GANGSTERS GET $80,000 IN 2 HOLDUPS

By International News Service.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 24.—A spectacular bank robbery was staged at the City Bank here today by 12 men. After a complete checkup it was estimated $50,000 had been taken.

While a machine gun, the second ever employed here, was trained on the main entrance to the bank, the 12 desperadoes stormed into the lobby from two entrances, and immediately began firing their weapons to herald their arrival.

Wild shouts, accompanied by the flourishing of rifles, sawed-off shotguns and .45 automatic pistols sent the 70 persons inside the bank into near panic.

Ten customers were in the lobby, 40 employes behind cages and 20 more on a mezzanine floor.

The bandits escaped in two automobiles.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—(AP.)—Four men held up the Wellston Trust Company here today and escaped with $30,000.

TEACHER ALSO TARGET OF GUNNER

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 24.—(INS.) Apparently tiring of small game, the phantom sniper journeyed to Pitman, N. J., during the night and fired at Mayor David A. Stanton, his forty-sixth victim since last Thanksgiving Day.

While Camden and Philadelphia police questioned subjects and renewed the search for him, the elusive marksman spent a busy day roaming the country from Merchantville to Pitman.

The sniper's shot shattered glass in a garage owned by Mayor Stanton. A dark green sedan, lights dimmed, passed as the window broke. While the Mayor and his policemen were examining the hole, three quick shots were heard, and the same green car, with lights out, speeded south. A deputy sheriff chased it for a mile.

M. G. Messinger, principal of the Sewell Public School, twice was fired upon as he descended the same staircase in the school. Windows were broken each time.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Cook Safe to 'Eat After' Must Be a Good Chemist

Vitamins Essential, Yet No One Ever Saw One Till A Few Years Ago

Can we control our own evolution? was a question propounded by Author Dorsey, in The Sun-Telegraph, yesterday. He asked also, if we do, what shall we go in for? Thus touching on eugenics, which he declared to be mostly politics, he reviewed the notorious Jukes case. We can breed various types and it may be that the "dumb-bell" is on the way.

Overcoming Loss in Food Refinement

CHAPTER XIII.

UNTIL recently no one had ever seen a vitamin, nor had the chemical laboratory isolated one; 16 years ago no one had ever heard of one. And yet a real science of food is impossible without a knowledge of vitamins. Without vitamins (or something juts as good) there is no normal growth, health, reproduction, or living out the span of life.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Scurvy was known to the ancient Greeks, and through the centuries ravaged armies, crews of ships, and explorers cut off from fresh fruit and vegetables; seven years ago no one suspected the existence of the antiscorbutic vitamin. Thousands of children have hobbled out a pitiable existence on a rickety frame; until recently no one suspected it was because of lack of a specific mysterious antirachitic vitamin now known to exist in certain foods. About 30 years ago it was known that chickens fed on polished rice developed beri-beri, and that the same chickens fed on whole rice recovered; but no one then suspected the existence of an antineuritic vitamin in the polishings of rice or in milk.

Innumerable experiments have now proved the existence of four, and posibly five, vitamins, and their necessity for human life and the metabolism of all food. Because of their minute amounts, their close association with the complex food substances, their proneness to disappear under manipulation, and because no good controls could be devised in testing, they defied isolation.

Loss in Refinement

But, by relying on feeding and by huge industry and patience, definite results have been obtained—and civilization again catches up with desiccated and tin-canned progress. In other words, the human body could find all it needed in the old vegetable garden and shambles; when food began to be refined, the vitamins were thrown out with the screenings.

Fat-soluble A (because soluble in fat), of antirachitic vitamin, is probably first in importance. All animals, experimentally treated, die if their diet contains no vitamin A. It is presumably necessary for all higher animal life. It is known to be necessary for growth. Rachitic children presumably suffer from lack, among other things, of vitamin A. With vitamin A their bones assume normal growth. Rachitic children were numerous in parts of Europe during the World War; when the milk supply became normal, the rickets disappeared.

Vitamin A abounds in milk, cream, butter, egg yolk, codliver oil and presumably all animal fat except pork. It is less abundant in spinach, tomatoes, cabbage and lettuce. It is not destroyed by ordinary cooking, but is destroyed by great heat.

According to a recent announcement, a semi-crystalline product containing carbon, hydrogen and oxygen has lately been isolated by Takahashi and Kawakami from codliver oil, butter and egg yolk. Presumably it is vitamin A in nearly pure form. Mice nearly dead from lack of fat-soluble A have been completely restored to health by small doses of the substance.

Vitamins Plentiful

Water-soluble B, or anti-neuritic vitamin, is found in eggs and seeds. It is essential to growth, and lack of it is known to produce beri-beri. Seidell has recently isolated in nearly pure form from brewers' yeast a substance which has antineuritic properties. Presumably it is vitamin B.

Water-soluble C, or anti-scorbutic vitamin, has thus far defied isolation in any form. It is easily destroyed by alkalies and by oxidation. It is found especially in lemons, oranges and tomatoes, also in all fruits, leaves and root vegetables. Without such food, scurvy. In the World War Mesopotamian campaign, Indian troops suffered from scurvy, British troops from beri-beri. The Indians were living on dried beans and peas, the British on tinned beef and biscuit. The dried beans and peas had lost their anti-scorbutic vitmain, the white flour its anti-beri-beri vitamin.

Vitamin D, known to accelerate growth, is probably identical with bios, a substance that promotes the growth of the yeast plant. Its molecule consists of five atoms of carbon, 11 of hydrogen, one of nitrogen and three of oxygen. Enough bios to cover a pin-point will restore normal growth in a young animal stunted by a diet which does not have proper vitamins.

Kitchen Chemists

Vitmain X is the latest. Evans has been experimenting with rats. If they get no vitamin X, they become sterile. He has also proved that natural foods contain a substance or substances essential for the normal functioning of the mammary gland. But certain substances (for example, vegetable oils), which promote fecundity, do not necessarily improve lactation.

In short, there are foods and foods: water, mineral salts, carbohydrates, fats, proteins, vitamins. Is sunlight a "food" also? It depends. Children and hogs that play in the sun need no antirachitic vitamin; they do not develop rickets. Light is a marvelous oxidizing agent. Foods with no known vitamin A can, by ultra-violet radiation, become possessed of antirachitic property. These same rays get into our skin and "sunburn" us; they will paralyze an ameba in a quarter of a second, or kill and tear its body asunder like a bolt of lightning in three seconds.

How much of this or how much of that is good or necessary or lethal for us is a kind of knowledge that did not seriously trouble our remote ancestors, but which, with our increasing tendency to get away from cows, chickens and gardens, and from natural conditions in general, becomes of first-rate importance. There was a time when a cook was a cook, good or bad as the case might be; today a cook should be a first-class chemist, the kitchen a chemical laboratory.

HIKERS PLAN TRIP TO CRAFTON SUNDAY

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

COMES to the sidewalks of Pittsburgh through dispatches from the coast the word that Manager Owen Bush of the Pirates has decreed against any tippling by the Pirates while in training at Paso Robles. Mr. Bush might as well speak against the tide from rising and receding on the Pacific Coast to which he is fairly adjacent.

Before prohibition drinking in training camps of ball players was something that concerned only a few wayward spirits, but since prohibition ball players, like so many other citizens of the land, seem to have taken up drinking in a serious way for no better reason than because it is prohibited.

CALIFORNIA, a dry state, sends out possibly more grapes to the eastern cities than any other state. Business, Californians will tell you, has boomed in this connection since the country went dry. Consequently, California is for the prohibition amendment hook, line and sinker. But the Pirates in Paso Robles, cautioned against drinking by their boss, will have no more trouble in getting what they seek than do most other Americans in most other communities.

WE REMEMBER distinctly one evening in Paso Robles when some of the boys got under their belts one or two too many. In a carefree manner one of the boys, slightly lit, decided he would hide behind a bush and at the proper moment jump out at a fellow player in a spirit of fun to yell: "Boo." So he awaited the proper moment, sprung from the foliage which had hid him, only to find that the boy he was yelling "Boo" to was none other than his boss, Mr. Bush. Mr. Bush had the good sense to keep on walking. The player in question swore off for a month during which time he did much groaning in his remorse.

OTHER persons, of course, have had the same experience in other forms. For instance, we recall one day in what was called then the Ormsby Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at South Thirtieth and Jane street, a brave young clerk who planned to sock a fellow-clerk right on the dome with a punching bag, borrowed from a nearby gymnasium. He stood behind a door, awaiting the entrance of his fellow clerk. But as luck would have it, a man named, well, Smith, will be all right, who at the time was boss of the office, walked through the door, sporting a dandy stiff derby. Whang—down came the punching bag on the stiff derby of the boss, Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith, with as much dignity as possible, unwrapped the derby from around his ears, and strode quietly into his office. Meantime, the clerk was seeking a convenient hole through which to crawl.

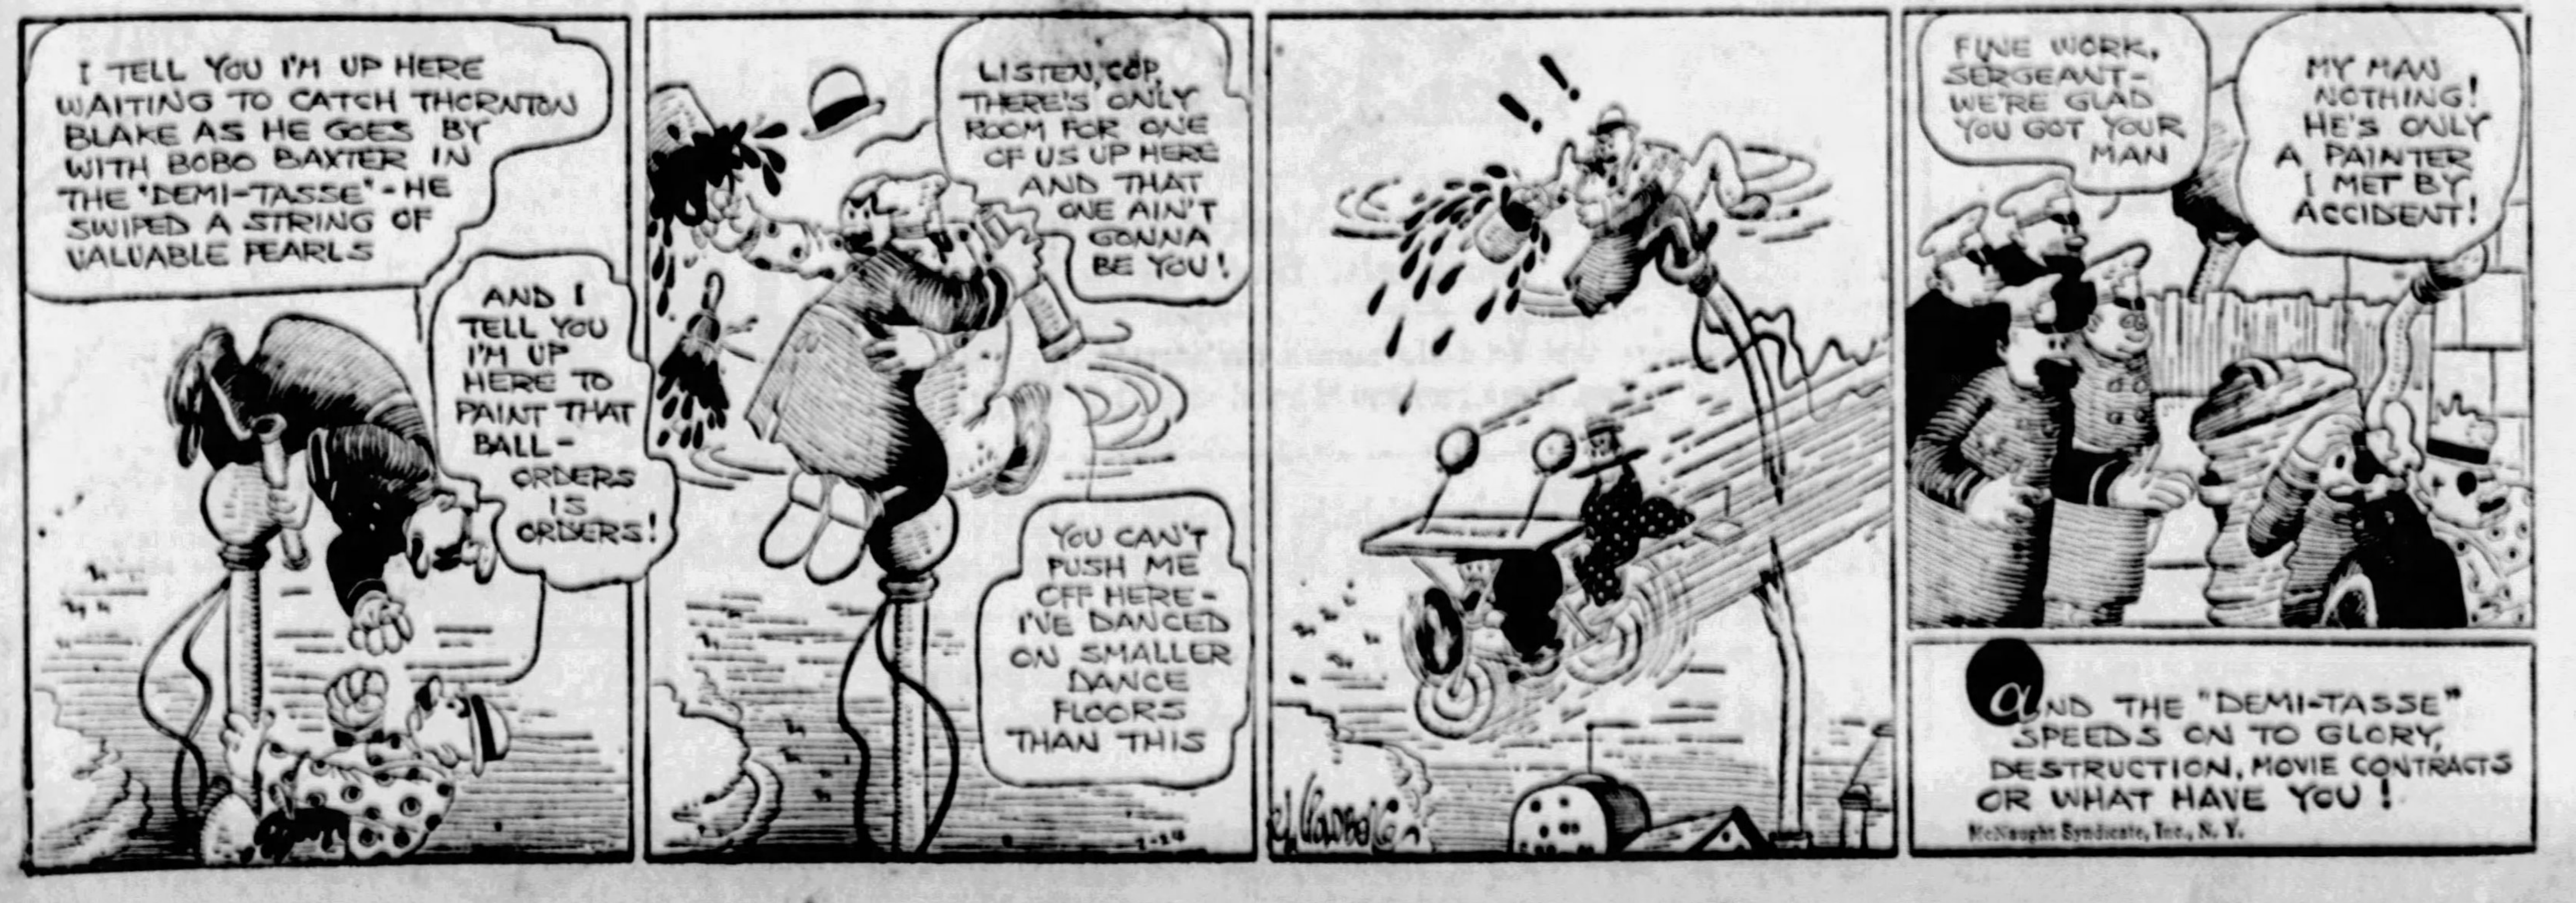
MR. JOSEPH FORD writes a letter asking us to devote a chapter to what former newspaper men are doing now. Well, one thing they are doing is sighing that they ever quit the newspaper game and another thing they are doing is saying to reporters they meet: "I used to be a newspaperman myself."

—THOUGHT YOU DIDN'T LIKE THE NEWSPAPER
YEAH, I THOUGHT SO—BUT I WISH I HAD NEVER QUIT

It is one of the finest professions to cause one to moan that he is in it and one of the greatest to cause one to moan he is out of it that ever came along.

BOBO BAXTER—The "Demi-Tasse" Settles the Argument

By Rube Goldberg



I TELL YOU I'M UP HERE WAITING TO CATCH THORNTON BLAKE AS HE GOES BY WITH BOBO BAXTER IN THE 'DEMI-TASSE'—HE SWIPED A STRING OF VALUABLE PEARLS

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Lenten Season Provides Society Stay-at-Homes Time to Read Long Neglected Literature

ALTHOUGH one hears much of the ungodliness of the present day, of the indifference of us moderns to religion, when the Lenten season comes around, there is still a marked dropping off of social life. In fact there just isn't any at all here in Pittsburgh, Of course there are always small gatherings of intimate friends at bridges and luncheons and dinners, but there aren't any large affairs where one meets everybody.

Those of the social world who are planning to remain in the city will probably find time now to read those new books, the pages of which have been uncut all fall and winter. And the society women, in addition to their philanthropic work, find the Twentieth Century Club Monday morning lectures most interesting. Here, in addition to hearing one of the outstanding leaders in philosophy, or art, or literature, they see many of their friends and acquaintances.

For the younger set there really isn't much, but then nearly all the young folks are out of the city. It's their parents, for the most part, who, after many a winter in the South, often prefer Pittsburgh all through the winter.

Has it ever struck you that, although Lent is always a signal in the North for a dearth of social affairs, in the South it seems to be unheeded? Somehow floods of sunlight and the brilliant coloring of the southern landscape do not induce one to sober thoughts and meditation with one's soul, but to joyous living.

There certainly must be something in our theory, for the Pittsburghers who are down South are finding life means just one dance, and dinner, and party after another in the evening, and golf and swimming during the day.

Richard King Mellon, son of the R. B. Mellons, is enjoying a visit to Palm Beach and a rest from the weighty responsibilities resting on a young banker's shoulders.

He was host at a dinner and dance at the Whitehall Wednesday night. In fact ever since his arrival in Palm Beach he has been either guest or host at some delightful affair.

BUTLER GRADUATE

Miss Margaret Louise Graham, daughter of John C. Graham, of Butler, was graduated last month from the School of Occupational Therapy, Philadelphia. Miss Graham attended Wilson College and the School of Liberal Arts, Philadelphia.

Anne Shiras is finding Palm Beach quite delightful, too, we hear. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield K. Shiras of Ellsworth avenue, as you know. She is the guest of the C. A. Although Pittsburgh has its largest representation at Palm Beach, Ormond Beach has its devotees. Here sports seem to be pre-eminent among the interests of the winter colony.

Pretty Katharine Modisette Marsh, daughter of the Joseph W. Marshes of Woodland road, is finding Ormond Beach quite to her liking, for her athletic prowess is quite marked.

Recently when Henry Howard Ellison, William Wilson Curtin and Paul Thompson of Philadelphia entertained at a putting tournament, Katharine won a prize. She evidently inherits her golf genius from her father., who also carried off a prize at the tournament.

Katharine, you remember, is engaged to William Clarke Fuelhart, son of the William O. Fuelharts of Endeavor, who belong to one of the oldest families in the northwestern part of Pennsylvania.

J. F. Drake has gone to Ormond Beach, where he will find much interest in golf.

OLD PLAYS AND PLAYERS REVIEWED BEFORE CLUB

In a witty, original, at times naive and at others irrelevant, but always delightful talk, Patrick J. Byrne recalled old plays and players for the drama department of the Congress of Clubs yesterday. Explaining how he had known so many of the famous old players, Mr. Byrne said he had "out-Mohammeded Mohammed and had daily moved mountains"—in other words he was a scene shifter in his early life. And once he had been "a buck private in Caesar's over-officered army." There are as good actors today as ever trod the boards and they are not bound by precedent as were the players of the old school, Mr. Byrne said.

Lewis H. Abel was another speaker. He told briefly of the aims of the Pittsburgh Junior Players' Guild, which is composed of boys ranging in age from 11 to 15 and which was an outgrowth of this year's drama week. Concluding the program of events was the presentation of Mary Parker's playlet, "Shadows," by a cast which included Miss Mary Garrett, Mrs. Roy Adamson, Mrs. H. G. Farmer, Mrs. "enjamin Steinberg, Mrs. Charles P. Lang, Mrs. Samuel E. Diescher and Miss Irene Norton.

A benefit musicale will be given Thursday afternoon in the Congress of Clubs by the Outlook Alliance. On the program will appear Miss Mary Jane Paul, who will give readings; Mr. and Mrs Roy S. Shumaker, the former violinist and the latter pianist, and Mrs. Mary Rhodes McBride, contralto. Mrs. S J. Corbett, chairman of the beneficent committee, will be in charge for the afternoon. A bake sale, which will be held in conjunction with the musical, will be under the supervision of Mrs. H. A. H. Meyer.

The Thursday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg has changed its meeting place for March 8 and the members have been instructed to meet at the Penn-Lincoln Hotel where Mrs. W. D. Brown and Mrs. E. J. McCoy will be hostesses. Yesterday's meeting, which was in the home of Mrs. J. W. Jenning, Lloyd avenue, took the form of a colonial costume party, and the program consisted of soprano solos delightfully sung by Mrs. Tracy Morrison and a review of "Great Valley," by Mrs. A. K. Wetzig. Mrs. T. B. Schroeder and Mrs. C. Judd Holt were joint hostesses with Mrs. Jenning.

A splendid paper reviewing "The Letters of Asa Gray," was an interesting feature of yesterday's Epoch Club meeting in the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Orchard. The paper was written and presented by Mrs. T. P. Gaylord who spoke of the botanist as "still an authority after 40 years." Additional interest was given the paper by an exhibition of articles and photographs sent Mrs. Gaylord by a member of the Gray family. One of these was a piece of the dress worn by Mrs. Gray when she first became engaged and another was a piece of material which Mr. Gray, in passing through a town had bought because he thought it was the same, but which proved to be entirely different. The two "hobby" papers were by Mrs. Edward E. Phelps and Mrs. H. K. Jones and were on travel and nature, Mrs. Phelps told some interesting facts about her own travels and quoted from her daughter's accounts of visits made to the Ming Tombs in China and Myanoshita, a famous mountain resort in Japan. Mrs. Jones chiefly discussed trees.

With Mrs. H. M. Austin and Mrs. C. P. Galieher as hostesses, drama day was observed yesterday by the Woman's Club of Rosslyn Farms. Under the direction of Mrs. H. M. Heim, two one-act plays were given in the school auditorium, "Undercurrent" being presented by Mrs. H. F. Buehner, Mrs. C. P. Galieher, Mrs. E. P. Schempp, Mrs. Guy Oliver, Mrs. C. C. Plummer and Mrs. Edwin Hammond, while the cast for "A Pair of Lunatics" was Mrs. G. E. Dignan and Mrs. E. F. Keuper, On the evening of the 29th a bridge will be given at the home of Mrs. R. W. Tennant as a benefit for club kitchen equipment.

For today's meeting of the Sheraden Woman's Club Mrs. James Messick, of Landis street, was hostess, and Mrs. William Ralph is her assistant. Under the leadership of Mrs. George Matthews, papers on Albert Payson Terhune, Edna Ferber and Peter B. Kyne were read by Mrs. Van C. Ernest, Mrs. Wilmer H Beatty and Mrs. W. P Cunningham.

Mrs. John W. Hanna will speak on "Our Occupation of Nicaragua," and Mrs. Ruth Hays Black will sing, with Mrs. Frances B. Gooding accompanying, at the meeting of the Pittsburgh Female College Association tomorrow, The meeting will be held, as usual, in the College Club.

Miss Eleanor Herring, violinist, and Miss Sara Jamison Logan, contralto, will be soloists at the reception which the Syria Ladies' Social Club will give Saturday to honor its new officers. Mrs. Elsie Breese Mitchell will have charge of the program. The affair is to be held in Syria Mosque.

Mrs. J. W. Briggs, the Congress of Clubs chairman for the blind, has sent out invitations for a tea to be held from 2 until 5 next Wednesday at Torrance House, the home of the Progressive Blind Women's Club, in Western avenue, North Side.

Mrs. R. W. Johnston, of Aylesboro avenue, will entertain the Keystone Chapter, Daughters of American Pioneers, in her home tomorrow afternoon and will be assisted by Mrs. H. E. Leslie and Miss Jennie Knox. Mrs. Johnston, who is chairman of international relations in the State Federation, will give a talk on internationalism and Mrs. C. L. Glasser will have charge of the current events discussion.

Mrs. W. C. Dierks, president of the State Federation of Music Clubs, will address the Progressive Music Circle at a special program which it will present in the John Morrow School next Tuesday.

WOUND OF RUSTY NAIL CAUSES DEATH OF BOY

A rusty nail that pierced the foot of Grover Curry, 10, of West Elizabeth, while he was playing on a railroad track near his home three weeks ago, caused his death yesterday in the McKeesport Hospital, Blood poisoning is given as the cause of death. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Curry.

"OVER the TEACUPS" at Schenley Apartments

HAVE you found an apartment yet?"

"We're not moving — thank Heaven!" replied the Hostess.

"But I understood Alice to say—"

"Yes, we thought of it and talked of it." * * * While the tea cooled, the hostess told the whole story.

"I don't know who first suggested the idea of moving. It must have been the attraction of novelty. A number of new apartments have gone up and we've been getting advertising in the mail—pretty pictures and alluring statements.

"So we devoted an afternoon to inspection. At some of the apartments we really liked the rooms. They were lovely—and new. But after all, new rooms grow old in a few days. Daughter was for signing up a lease at once. But I looked a little further. When I noticed there were neither service nor freight elevators, I could forsee a great deal of annoyance. We are used to express elevator service and it would be a trial to have to wait while freight or moving was being taken up or down—or baskets of laundry, or painters with cans. And then, suppose that guests would arrive at such a time!

"Our service here has its distinct channels—freight elevators, as well as service halls for light delivery elevators and incinerators at kitchen doors. At some places we saw incinerators in the kitchens. Imagine it! I would not like to experience the back-draughts on windy or muggy days, for a badly-working incinerator would be sad, indeed!

"The more I saw of other places, the more I developed a just appreciation of our own. Here we have a splendid restaurant and delicatessen and our grocery, with 5-minute delivery, is open nights until 11:30. We also have all manner of fine shops and a drug store reached by the house phone.

"Then there is the Schenley Hotel, from which we can order a luncheon or dinner to be served in our apartment at any hour. Never any embarrassment when unexpected guests arrive, and none would know but what the meal was prepared in our own kitchen.

"We have so much in the way of service here! I understand the management employs 125 service attendants. I can readily believe it but we see only the footmen and elevator operators, or those we send for. The others, like the works of a watch, are always on the move, but unseen. And one sensible feature is that we regulate the cleaning service inside our apartments ourselves, consequently control the expense. This solves the servant problem—and with a surprising saving.

"Why really, I cannot imagine why I ever listened to the idea of a change. Here we have residences of solidity, and actually form an entire exclusive community. You'd hardly think it because the grounds or buildings never appear rushed—but over 200 families live here. And you know many of them. Discriminating people—accustomed to service and who really cannot dispense with it.

"No—here we remain, for we are convinced that we have the best that Pittsburgh, or any other city for the matter of that, offers. We call it 'residential perfection'."

Silver Fox Only a Variant

THE silver fox is not a distinct species. It is a variation of the red fox. This is said to be proved by the fact that sometimes a silver fox is found in a litter of normally red cubs.

Sadye Refuses to Give Lily the Flask And Case

THE early spring day was warm, and there was a little mustache of perspiration on Sayde's upper lip.

She was flushed as if she had been hurrying. Her eyes seemed to leap like flames when she saw Lily, who was standing just as close to Roy as she could, looking into his face anxiously, and holding his sleeve in her fingers as she pleaded with him.

"Well, how do you do?" she asked, dumping her bags and bundles down upon a wooden bench that stood beside the door. Her words were courteous enough, but her voice did not seem to care how she was.

"I came to see you," Lily said to her. "Mrs. France says there's a silver flask and cigaret case of mine in those suitcases of Pat's that you let her store in your garret—and I'd like them, if it's not too much trouble to get them for me."

"No trouble at all!" answered Sadye, in a tone that said that it was a great deal of trouble.

She started across the porch, her legs, in their pink silk stockings, flashing under her too-short skirt. Sadye still wore pink stockings when she wanted to be "dressy," although Lily had told her they were not the thing for daytime wear. "I wear what I please," she had often told her. "I don't want to be like all the women. I like to have a style of my own."

And she certainly did have a style of her own, particularly on that warm spring day. The sweater that she wore fit her like the bark on a large tree, and it was the same bright shade of pink as her stockings. With it she wore a deep purple hat and a deep purple accordion-pleated skirt which made her look larger than she was. She was a sight and a fright.

Beside her, in her silvery gray clothes, Lily was as slender and lovely as a silver birch tree.

"Funny," thought Lily, as she vanished into the house. "Funny that a comic-strip woman like Sadye can hold a good-looking man like Roy."

For there was no doubt that she did hold him. He never looked at another woman. He never glanced at Lily, for all her good looks, but went on fiddling with his pieces of steel wire and whistling under his breath while Sadye was gone.

She was gone fully five minutes, and when she came back her face was scarlet. She looked angry.

"Did you find my things?" Lily asked her, and she nodded her head jerkily.

"Yes, I found them—but they aren't yours," she said, her nostrils dilating. "They evidently belong to that Drummond man. His initials are on them—and I've just been wondering"—she narrowed her little sharp eyes—"whether I ought to give you those things. Seems to me that if you are accusing Pat of being in love with somebody else in your divorce suit, he ought to know that Drummond gave you those things. They're proof that you used to see him while you were living with Pat. No, you can't have them. I'm sorry."

Lily stared at her helplessly, with her big, greenish-gray eyes.

"I just knew you'd do that if you got your hands on those things!" she cried. "I just knew it!"

Sadye laughed unpleasantly. "And that's why you came here, soft-soaping around Roy, isn't it?" she asked. "Isn't it? You think you're quite a vamp, don't you? But don't waste your time trying to vamp Roy. It can't be done."

Lily shivered at her cheerful, coarse frankness. . . . It seemed to her, as she went way, beaten, that it was just as bad to tell the truth the way Sadye told it as it was to tell a few polite lies once in a while. "The way I do," she said to herself. It was the first time in her life she ever had confessed, even to herself, that she did not always tell the truth.

That was something in her favor, if she'd only realized it.

Lily told Staley Drummond about the flask and the cigaret case the next day, when they went for another whole day in the country. The first picnic had been such a success that Staley wanted another one at once.

"Only this time we'll take our own lunch," he said. "We can eat it in the car. I hate taverns and places where they stand around and look at us. I don't like to see people looking at you, ever."

But today's picnic was not the success that the first one had been. For one thing, there had been no glittering present to start it off with, as there had been on the first morning when Staley had given his bride-to-be the sapphire-and-diamond bracelet. And so Lily was not bubbling and gay as she had been two days before.

For another thing, she was worried, and she showed it.

"What's wrong with you?" Staley wanted to know before they had covered the first mile, and Lily told him.

"Sadye Jetterson has that whisky flask you gave me," she explained to him, "and that cigaret case. You remember they both have your initials on them? Well, she found them among some things I'd left in the flat, and she says if I drag Elizabeth Ertz's name into my divorce suit she'll give them to Pat so that he can prove I was taking presents from you while I was living with him. . . . It's a mess, isn't it?"

Staley laughed. "No, it's not so bad," he said. "You don't have to bring that woman's name up if you don't want to. You can get a divorce very easily without it. I'll see Manton about it."

He put a protecting arm around her, and Lily leaned against him, glad to be taken care of in a world where there were such fighters as Sadye Jetterson.

"I hate Sadye," she murmured, half to herself and half to him. "I hate all those people, Staley."

Staley laughed impatiently.

"I don't know why you let yourself be bothered by them," he said. "They're out of your life—and if you'll just let me handle this divorce business you'll soon be a free woman."

"You are handling it," Lily reminded him. "Only you'll have to take that Ertz girl's name out of the papers—unless you want her to sling a lot of mud at you and me. Pat, by himself, never would say a thing against me, no matter how angry he was with me. I know that. But she would—"

Once more Staley gave that short, impatient laugh. "We don't have to talk about those people, do we, dear?" he asked. "Let's think about the good times we're going to have when all this annoyance is over and we're safely married. We'll go to Europe for a couple of months, as we planned, for our honeymoon. I need a rest anyway. I'm awfully tired."

He looked tired, and old, too, in the bright radiance of the day. The lines around his eyes were deeper and sharper than usual, and so were the two creases that ran between his nostrils and the corners of his mouth.

Rich and powerful as he was, he was no girl's dream of Prince Charming. That was certain, Lily thought, looking at him.

And suddenly, for no reason at all, she found herself remembering how blue Pat's eyes had been in the sun on a far-away day last May, when the two of them had stolen the car and gone on a picnic of their own the day he had shown her his father's little house and his little store—the day he had told her how hard his wife would have to work and how poor she would be—until the piston ring became a glorious success and a best-seller, of course! . . . She could still hear his voice, as he talked about that ring.

"You know, I can't help feeling sorry for Pat in a way," she said, when she and Staley were eating their lunch by the side of the road at high noon. "He put everything he had into that ring of his. What do you suppose he'll do now? Go back to Jetterson's garage and work there the rest of his life?"

Staley was scowling down at the open hamper on the ground before them. "Listen to me, Lily," he said, impressively. "If you'd stop talking about that bird you'd soon forget you ever knew him. . . . You've got to forget him. You've got to remember that you're going to marry me, and forget that you ever were married to anyone else. Understand me? It was a fool mistake, and it's a waste of time thinking about it. . . . More coffee?"

"Yes."

He poured it. "I'll trade it for a kiss," he said, but she shook her head, as he leaned too close to her, his breath on her cheek.

"Not until we're married," she told him. "I must be nice and proper and good. . . . And I promise never to mention Pat's name again. I'm going to forget him. I'm going to forget that I ever knew him! I'll never see him again, except by accident. That's a promise, Staley."

CHAPTER LXI.

FOR a whole month Lily kept her promise.

She never spoke Pat's name during that time.

She did not try to see him.

She did her level best to stop thinking about him.

And in the meantime she saw Staley every day, and slowly but surely her mind began to run on him and the life that was ahead of her—her life as his wife.

It was hard not to think about Staley, just as it always had been hard to forget him. For even when he was away from the house, the things he had sent there were forever under her eyes. Books, magazines, flowers, candy, cigarets—all the luxuries they had these days.

On the first of April he sent a new maid to the house for her mother. Her name was Nonnie, and she was a quick, clever little person, who could do as much work in a half day as Mrs. Lexington and Lily could do in twice that time.

At first Lily did not know that Staley had hired her. But one day Mrs. Lexington told her the truth about her. "Staley hired her, and he pays her," she said. "I promised not to let you know. . . . But, after all, why shouldn't you know. You ought to know what a wonderful man Staley is. He really is. Sometimes I'm afraid you don't appreciate him, Lily."

"Maybe I don't. He is kind and good, isn't he?" Lily asked, absently.

But if she did not appreciate Staley as much as her mother said she ought to, she certainly appreciated Nonnie.

It was heavenly to wake up in the morning and not have to get up until she felt like it. It was like the wonderful old times to be able to ring the bell by the side of the bed and wait for Nonnie, in neat cap and apron, to come trotting up with the orange juice and coffee.

Every morning Sue Cain Era man came to the house in her little shining closed car, and together they went to market.

Sue, in love with Jack, and honestly enjoying her task of planning meals and keeping house for him, had a rare time poking among the heads of lettuce and the string beans and new asparagus in the stalls. She was great friends with all the people in the market, from the butcher boy who told her what cuts of meat to buy, to the fruit man who sold her the juciest oranges and the rosiest of apples.

"What are the best kind of apples to make awful-sauce with?" she would ask him, sober as a judge, and then wait for his leathery old face to break into a smile.

"I'm afraid you don't take the interest in marketing that you should," she said to Lily, as she picked out cabbage and baby carrots one morning early in May. "But you'll feel differently about it when you're buying for Staley, I suppose. Jimminy, even buying a head of cabbage is exciting when you're buying it for the person you're crazy-mad cracked about the way I am about Jack. It gives me an awful boot to do anything for him."

Lily just looked down at the box of alligator pears before her. "Sue, I wonder if you know how lucky you are," she said, after a minute, without lifting the heavy fringe of eyelashes that lay on her cheek like twin shadows.

"Of course, I'm lucky—and of course I know it," Sue answered, and then she went on with one of those characteristic bursts of frankness of hers. "Lily, now that I'm married, I just wonder how you're going to marry Staley Drummond, feeling about him the way I know you do."

There always had been perfect honesty between these two. They had known each other so long and so well that neither one could have fibbed to the other very successfully. They were open books to each other.

"Do you ever get lonesome for your Pat?" Sue asked, without waiting for a reply. "I'll bet you do—"

And then, before Lily had time to say a word, a large plump hand came down upon her shoulder like a lump of warm dough, and Sadye Jetterson's voice fairly boomed in her ear: "Well, if it isn't Lil!"

She turned quickly.

Even before she took in the words that fell from Sadye's thickly-painted lips, she took in Sadye herself.

This was not the Sadye of the crisp white aprons and neatly-done hair, who cooked delicious meals in the little kitchen at the back of her pretty house. This was the Sadye that she detested—the Sadye of the pink silk stockings, the white fox furs piled around a face painted like a signboard, the too-elaborate dress laden with colored beads.

Madge Undertakes to Overcome Noel's Fear of Meeting His Father at Dinner

MARY looked at me in amazement when, in answer to her request to come to the veranda I told her that I supposed Noel Veritzen was down there declaring that he ought not to come to our welcome-home dinner to the Underwoods.

"How did you know?" she stammered.

"By the simplest means possible," I told her, smiling. "He asked me several days ago to excuse him from attending."

"But why?" she demanded, patently puzzled.

"Think a minute," I suggested. Unexpectedly she flushed.

"You don't mean that he's foolish enough—"

"To be jealous of young Mr. Jackson?" I finished, as she hesitated in pretty confusion, and wondered how best to deliver a blow in behalf of the adoring young violinist. "No, frankly, Mary, I think that's the least of his troubles on this particular evening."

From under my eyelids I looked searchingly at her and was delighted to see that my answer was distinctly distasteful to her. I had scored one for Noel, I told myself gleefully, as I hurried on in voluble explanation.

"Have you forgotten that his father is to be one of our guests this evening?" I asked reproachfully. "That of itself is enough to upset the poor boy. He isn't averse to sitting at the same table with his father, in spite of the estrangement, but he is afraid of what the elder man may do when he finds out about it."

Mary nodded her head sagely.

"You're all ready, aren't you?" I asked.

"As ready as I'll ever be," she returned. "My hair's a mess and this gown never did hang right, but I can't get it any better."

I shot a quick, appraising glance at her almost perfect grooming and smiled ironically at her.

"The eternal feminine plaint," I told her. "'What a fright I look!' Really, Mary, I looked for something more original from you. But I suppose you can't help it. Let me assure you, however, that you're an adorable dream. Now run down to the gate, so that you can do the pretty-gushing-welcome act if our travelers get here before I've finished talking with Noel. I don't want father and son to meet before I have a chance to explain things to Mr. Veritzen."

"I wish you joy of your job," Mary tossed back at me saucily as she pirouetted out of the room. "But I'll be a regular Marne down at the gate. Only, for the love of Lulu, make it snappy, Auntie Madge."

Down on the veranda I found Noel pacing restlessly up and down, his eyes anxiously scanning the road down which the car bearing our guests must come.

"I'm ashamed of you," I scolded, as he turned to greet me. "Come into the dining room and let's thresh this out again. In that room there will be no chance of any newcomers seeing us."

He followed me docilely, but when we had reached the dining room he turned to me and spoke breathlessly:

"I thought I could go through with this, but I can't," he said. Unless my father knows you have asked me to come to dinner and is willing I should sit at the table with him I cannot, must not, stay."

Just that you might say "It's so comfortable"

YOU know, Europeans complain that American women are pampered. Possibly, but the amazing welcome given Modess shows that women at least appreciate a sincere effort to free them from drudgery and old-fashioned annoyances.

Four years ago, Johnson & Johnson determined to perfect the sanitary napkin. Women were asked to write the specifications. "Above all," they told us, "make it more comfortable—softer! Get rid of hard edges and conspicuous clumsiness. Be sure it is truly disposable."

The great Johnson & Johnson laboratories, where so many Red Cross sanitary safeguards to health have been created, have labored four years just that you might say, "It is so comfortable."

We believe that every woman who has tried Modess has marveled. So will you. Even the outer gauze, specially woven in our mills, has been softened by a process known only to us. The absorbent filler or center is an entirely new disposable substance invented by us. It is softer and downier than the fluffiest cotton, yielding, gentle, yet amazingly absorbent.

The gauze is cushioned with a film of down and the sides are smoothly rounded. Irritation is prevented—clumsiness is eliminated. The back is moisture-proof. Your confidence in Modess will be complete.

Modess is disposable—it flushes away. 50 cents for a box of twelve.

PIT GUARD BEATS SHACKLED WIFE

Charges of brutality to women on the part of coal and iron police was one of the startling disclosures in yesterday's senatorial investigation of coal strike conditions here, Mrs. Clarissa Englert, mother of five children, told the senate committee she had been battered, handcuffed and mauled by coal company minions of the law, following a shooting spree in which two of her children were endangered last month.

Mrs. Englert said that as a result of the mistreatment suffered at the hands of the bullet-girdled private police, she almost lost her life with the premature birth of her sixth child.

The attack occurred on January 6, Mrs. Englert told the senators.

GUNS CRACK

"It happened about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon," she said. "The children were coming home from school when a crowd of the youngsters observed some of the strikebreakers walking down the tracks near the barracks.

"The kids began yelling at the non-union men and several of them drew revolvers and began firing. We women heard the shooting and ran out to see what was happening. Two of my children were in the crowd and I was horror-stricken to see one of them fall while bullets flew all around.

MAULED BY GUARD

"I ran to my child's side and found he had only stumbled, but my anger was aroused to think that those men would shoot at little children. I called them names and the other women joined me. While we were still in the field which adjoins the barracks, the coal and iron police came. One of them grabbed me and twisted my arm so that it came out of its socket.

"I fainted, I guess, for the next thing I knew I was lying on the ground and a big policeman was kneeling on me while he fastened my hands with handcuffs. He dragged me to my feet, twisting the handcuffs so hard that they cut my arms and blood began to flow.

"When he saw the blood, he said: 'Now I guess you'll obey us, won't you?' I told him I never would obey him nor any of his kind, because they had no right to molest us when we were not on company property.

"He twisted the handcuffs harder and dragged me up the railroad tracks to where Lieut. Little and some more of his men stood with big guns.

"'What are those guns for; to shoot me?' I asked. 'No, they're for your men,' he leered.

"I told him we weren't afraid," Mrs. Englert said.

She also told the senators she had brought suit against the coal and iron police and on several occasions representatives of the company have asked her to drop the suit.

COURTHOUSE STEPS TO BE RAZED

After nearly a year's delay, the steps in front of the courthouse building, Grant street, will be removed next month, according to County Architect Stanley Rousch. The County Commissioners were notified to this effect today.

When city and county officials decided to widen Grant street, it was found necessary to remove the massive steps. Difficulties arose when former County Controller C. C. McGovern refused to approve the sale of Commissioners' bonds, maintaining that the county did not have sufficient money to carry out the project. It has been learned that the county is financially sound and the borrowing power of the Commissioners shows a balance of over $14,000,000. The cost of razing the steps and remodeling the entrance will be $175,000.

The courthouse is the only building in Grant street that has not been altered to conform with the widening of the street. Bids for the removal of the steps will be advertised next week.

Whiskers for Doctors

THE old idea that a doctor needs whiskers to impress his patients that he is mature enough to command their confidence seems still to prevail in England. Of 250 at a medical congress, less than 25 were clean shaven.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

SAD as it may seem, a man does not lose his head over a woman because she possesses all the virtues and talents he admires in a wife, but because she possesses some alluring little trick of smiling out of the corner of her eye or wrinkling her nose or putting a baby-note into her voice.

He does not pick a wife because she is appropriate—but because she is appealing.

* * *

He does not fall in love with a woman because she is practical and domesticated and can make a dollar go a long way—but because she is feminine and cuddly and amusing—and can make his head go 'round.

HELEN ROWLAND

The Big Idea seems to be to pick out something totally contrary to his "Ideal"—and then TAME her!

No matter what type of woman he may elect to marry, he never has the slightest doubt of his ability to "improve" on Heaven's handiwork.

"Taming a wife" has been the most popular indoor sport, ever since the first caveman came home with his little stone hatchet and started it. Every man, in his own secret opinion, is a Petruchio—and every woman a Katharine, just spoiling to be tamed! His optimism is SUBLIME!

He will not hesitate to marry an exotic, glittering Lorelei Lee, and then try to transform her into a purring, adoring, little Alice-sit-by-the-fire.

Even the fact that a woman doesn't love him, never discourages or deters him. He can always "MAKE her" love him!

That is why so many potentially fine wives remain "unplucked blossoms" on the family tree, while the Lorelei Lees go right on marrying, unmarrying and re-marrying.

When a man selects a business partner, he is infinitely careful to find somebody he can trust and work with; but when he takes a life-partner, he goes out of his way to double-cross himself.

Look out for sore throat

TRIED IT YET? New and different! Listerine SHAVING CREAM. Your skin feels marvelously cool long after shaving.

Play safe—gargle often

After long exposure to bad weather, after sudden changes of temperature, after mingling with crowds—gargle with Listerine, the safe antiseptic, when you get home.

This pleasant precaution has nipped many a cold and sore throat in the bud, before they became serious.

Listerine, being antiseptic, immediately attacks the countless bacteria that lodge in the mouth and throat where so many colds start. It is important, however, that you use it early—and frequently.

Most of the fall and winter months are "sore throat months" and for your own protection use Listerine night and morning. It is a good habit to acquire. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

I NEVER go to a Dog Show without thinking of a true dog story I know.

There was a man who hated dogs. All of his friends were great dog fanciers and had no end of cups and ribbons their dogs had won. Sam thought this was all nonsense.

When this dog hater bought a nice big ranch, his friends told him that no ranch was complete without a dog, and each one offered him one of their best dogs.

No! He wouldn't have a dog!

But one day there arrived at the ranch two enormous cases, the kind that dogs are shipped in to shows. Sam was furious when he saw the boxes, and even more furious when he saw the dogs, for instead of prize winners, which would have been bad enough, out webbled two of the most nondescript ornery pups that ever were.

Sam realized his friends had played a joke on him, but the dogs seemed to realize that it was no joke for they took an instant liking to Sam!

They followed him everywhere. They wagged their long tails and flopped their big ears! They won Sam's heart. He named them Pat and Maloney after two old pals he once knew, and the dogs grew fatter and funnier every day!

Maloney got sick! Sam sent for the dog doctor that had saved some valuable dogs belonging to his friends. All that could be done for a champion was done for Maloney. But Maloney died.

Sam led his friends to Maloney's grave and wept. They offered him their fine dogs to take Maloney's place. They searched the dog pound for another mutt just like Maloney, but the search was fruitless.

There wasn't another dog in the world as "good" as Maloney in Sam's judgment, except Pat, who still trotted at his heels and mourned with him for Maloney!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, February 25

The loom of life never stops; the pattern that was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up tomorrow.—Beecher.

WHILE there may be offsetting business, employment and new circumstances and probable conflicts, yet this should be a day of great progress and attainment.

Business, employment and new undertakings are under excellent impetus of major influences, but their good office may be nullified by an inclination to bluster and quarrel.

Those whose birthday it is may have a splendid year for achievement and success in business, employment and in new ventures, but this opportunity should not be offset by excitement and turbelence. Moderation in all is recommended.

A child born on this day should have many excellent qualities and talents which may be stultified by a tendency to rash, irritable and impulsive behavior. These should be taken in hand in infancy and control and moderation inculcated.

Diet to Prevent Mineral Accumulations

EVERY week or so somebody writes to ask about the causes and treatment of stone in the kidney or bladder. It is rather a common ailment, much more common, indeed, than may be generally believed.

DR COPELAND

The reason why I say this is because many persons have trouble of this sort and never know it. These stones may be present and yet produce no pronounced symptoms.

Kidney stone or gravel is due to a deposit in the kidney of a mass which really consists of one of the constituents of the urine. This solid substance may be in the body or in the cavity of the kidney.

The masses vary in size. They may be like grains of sand, or small gravel stones, or be big as walnuts. There may be one such substance, or there may be many.

There are three combinations of chemicals most at fault for the formation of renal calculus, the name given to the trouble by the doctors.

Uric acid is the chief offender. The stones or granules consisting of uric acid are hard, smooth and reddish in color. "Red sand in the urine" is the common way of describing the tiny particles which pass away with the urine.

Oxalate of lime is another substance which may build a stone in the kidney. The oxalate stones are hard and gray in color. Usually they are round and smooth, but sometimes they have a rough surface, resembling the mulberry. In this case they are called "mulberry calculi."

The third substance which may cause stone is phosphate of lime. Such stones are likely to build out like coral and may fill the entire cavity of the kidney, actually making a cast of it.

If you suspect you have gravel, or any form of kidney or bladder stone, you should go to your doctor. Tell him all about your symptoms.

The first thing he will do is to examine the urine. He will wish to find out what particular salts are there in excessive quantities. Then he will outline the treatment and advise what is best to be done in your particular case.

As to the diet, the doctor will be governed by what the test of the urine showed. If there is an excess of uric acid, the uric acid producing foods will be restricted. The first one to be thought of will be meat, particularly the organs, notably sweetbreads, kidney, liver and brain.

Smoked, spiced and highly seasoned food, rich pastry and coffee will be avoided. Fats and sugars should be taken in moderation, but vegetables, fruits and milk should be taken freely.

In any case, do not overeat and be sure to drink lots of soft water.

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

Sick Headaches

Those miserable sick headaches, those mysterious dizzy and fainting spells are a grave symptom. Usually they indicate a poisoned condition of the stomach that may end in high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and heart failure. This toxic condition is the result of our modern habits of life, which put too great a burden upon the vital organs, especially the liver, which then becomes sluggish and fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. It is generally recognized that the liver occasionally needs a little help. There is nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall has been found to be a great natural stimulant for the liver, restoring it to full activity. The genuine, pure ox gall is to be had, dainty and tasteless, in the form of Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c at good druggists. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name Dioxol and picture of ox's head on the package.

Thousands of others doubted, too

THEY, too, called Postum "an invalid's drink." And they didn't need medicine—not they! They were all right—except that they didn't sleep as soundly as they should, and were tired and draggy in the morning, and a bit nervous and headachy at times. They felt just bad enough not to feel good.

Then they found this natural way to better health! For thirty days, they drank Postum with their meals, in place of beverages containing the drug caffein. They found they missed nothing in enjoyment—that Postum's smooth, full-bodied flavor was a delight in itself. And they found that, with Postum as their regular mealtime drink, sleeplessness and nervousness vanished. Headaches and indigestion disappeared.

Needless to say, these Postum "doubters" were convinced. Postum became their mealtime drink forever after!

Convince yourself!

Don't let one slip in diet stand between you and the joy of perfect health! Get Postum at your grocer's—try it for thirty days! Then judge its value by your own physical gains! Postum comes in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of artificial stimulants in them. Time of game—[illegible] p. m.

By JESS CARVER.

ANOTHER Friday has rolled around, Friday, the eve of the week-end, the day on which we start planning for our Saturday night's entertainment and the Sunday hangover, if any. This Saturday night, as on last, most of us will go out to Pitt's stadium pavilion and watch the undefeated Panthers play.

For tonight's college basketball menu, local schools offer two games, one downtown and one out at Carnegie Tech. Downtown, Thiel College will make its first and only basketball invasion of the city, meeting the Dukes in a Conference game. Out at Tech, West Virginia's Mountaineers will exhibit their wares for the local fans for the second time this season. They played Pitt here some weeks ago—and were beaten, of course.

It will be the second game of the season, both on the Bluff and at Tech. The Tartans lost to West Virginia at Morgantown in the second game of the season, but were not defeated by any out and out walkaway score as might be imagined. On the other hand, the Skibos made quite a respectable showing against West Virginia on that occasion.

TECH HOPES SLIM

However, there is slight chance of Tech's winning tonight. In the first place, the Skibo morale is very, very low. They've lost 11 ball games this year, and will be making their twelfth start in this coming contest. West Virginia is strong, much stronger than their record shows. Stadsvold's men have lost some four games out of a total of 12 played to date. Pitt, Davis-Elkins, City College of Detroit and Wash-Jeff have defeated West Virginia so far. John Irwin hopes to add his Tartans to that list.

If the performances of past years means anything, Thiel and the Dukes ought to stage quite a ball game this evening. Last season, as in previous ones, Thiel came here without a chance in the world with the Dukes—seemingly—and then proceeded to give the locals a deuce

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Feb. 24.—It was Oakland Joe Devine, Pirate scout and sponsor for the Waner boys, Remy Kremer and John Miljus, who detected the worth of Waner, the younger, when Sprout reported to Donie Bush last spring.

THE youth, it is recalled, thrilled the camp by his play around second base in a couple of camp battles. Inasmuch as the position was in much doubt quite a few followers were for grooming Lloyd for the Johnny Evers assignment. But the learned Mr. Devine quietly but firmly protested.

"WHAT'S the use of robbing the outfield of a potentially great star to make him an ordinary second baseman?" asked Joe. Apparently Donie Bush was of the same mind, for it wasn't long until Sprout was showing his heels in the pasture. And what a ball hawk Lloyd turned out to be. He's a gem of purest ray.

DEVINE it was who put the O. K. on John Miljus, and the handsome Serbian left Seattle to join the Pirates just in time to save a flock of ball games. No pitcher in the squad could equal Miljus' stride in the closing days of the fighting. The doughboy athlete surely was a beacon light for the Pirate craft.

Joe Harris Reports At Pirate Camp

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 24.—Joe Harris, Pirate first baseman, made an unexpected appearance in the Pirate camp just before the pitchers and catchers started for the ball park this morning. The glow of health was upon the veteran as he reached Paso Robles ahead of time.

Coulter Joe quietly donned a uniform and indulged in the practice of the day. It developed that Harris got in shortly after midnight from San Franciso.

Joe and Mrs. Harris have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Flagstead in Oregon. Harris was expected to come to camp next Wednesday, but the temptation to get in some early work was strong enough to lure the veteran to the scene ahead of time. Joe is much heavier than he was when last season ended. He was ill at that time, but he say's he feels fine again.

While awaiting a train in San Francisco Harris found Paul and Lloyd Waner and saw their act, The two outfielders told Joe they would be down Sunday.

The skies were somewhat clouded

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—A match was in the making here today between Mickey Walker, middleweight title holder, and Armand Emanuel, up and coming San Francisco light heavyweight.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

WHILE admitting that, under the present system of three-cushion billiard play, Wille Hoppe is right in the contention that the diamonds in the table rails are just as much a part of the game as the cloth, the cushions or the slate, Charley Ellis, Pittsburgh expert, suggests a revolutionary change in the sport whereby the diamonds in question would be done away with entirely.

Charley Ellis.

Ellis made the suggestion while discussing the controversy that has followed the challenge issued by Jake Schaefer and Welker Cochran, touring balkline stars, who expressed the belief that they could beat any player in the American three-cushion league at the angle game if the diamonds on the table were covered during the match.

IN other words, Schaefer and Cochran stipulated that the "system" men must play blind. Hoppe

Three Pirates Arrive Here For Trip

Three more Pirates arrived in Pittsburgh this morning ready to leave with the main squad which entrains at the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station at 8:20 tonight for the Paso Robles training camp. Sparky Adams, recently obtained from the Cubs in the Cuyler trade, Scout Hinchman and Outfielder Comorosky visited Pirate headquarters this morning, leaving only Pitcher Lee Meadows and Outfielder Clyde Barnhart yet to be accounted for. Pirate officials expressed belief that the two absentees are visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, will not leave with the main squad as was originally intended, the local clubowner being scheduled to go to Louisville tonight to attend the funeral of his sister who died in Los Angeles recently.

catching berth on the Pirate craft. Hemsley may be a year away, but he surely has the actions of one sweet catcher. The rookie is a reminder of Muddy Ruel, except that he is somewhat heavier and stronger. He possesses a lot of natural grace and he seems to know what it is all about. You can rest assured that no matter where the young miner travels this season he will be accompanied by Pirate labels of no mean hue.

PETE SCOTT, late of the Cubs, is a conspicuous figure in the Buccaneers' workouts. The native son looms up as a serious contender for the extra outfield berth, now that Catcher Bill Haeffner is back with the Pirates. Pete prefers the outfield to the backstop place, and as only the Waner boys are sure hits in the pasture, Scott sees a golden opportunity. Clyde Barnhart and Adam Comorosky also seek the berth.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 24.—Bob Cannefax, former three-cushion billiard champion of the world, is gravely ill with spinal meningitis at Dennis Draw, a desert camp near here. Cannefax came to Phoenix about two years ago for his health.

Billy Greenwood, the Ellis parlors' entrant in the local three-cushion billiard league, clambered back into first place last night when he scored a 50-19 victory over Eddie Smith at Dimling's. Greenwood is sharing the top berth with Robert Carter of Kalmer's, who appears to be Billy's only real rival for the crown.

SPORT COMMENT

accepted the challenge, but in doing so expressed the opinion that the proposal was unfair for the reason given above.

"Hoppe is right as far as the three-cushion sport of today is concerned, but I believe it would be a good thing to abolish the diamonds in order to speed up the game," said Ellis. "At present there is too much time wasted by the players in figuring out shots from the diamonds that a game becomes tiresome to the spectators and the sport loses much of its appeal.

"TO make the point clear, I need only recall a game of 50 points which I once played with Gus Copulos. It was decided in 32 innings, but it required two hours and 20 minutes to complete it.

"Measured by the small number of innings required, that game was remarkably fast, but measured by the length of time consumed, it was rediculously slow. The waste of time was due to the figuring out of shots from the diamonds, and that applies to nearly every game of three-cushion billiards played nowadays.

Jake Schaefer.

"If the diamonds were not there the 'system' men would not use up so much time figuring, and I believe it would help the game greatly if they were abolished."

THERE'S a thought for the billiard powers in that radical suggestion. It's worth their attention, too, and no doubt will get it, for Ellis twice held the world three-cushion championship and is recognized as one of the country's foremost authorities, a man who knows the angle game from A to Z.

ON the subject of Hoppe's chances against Schaefer if they meet at three-cushins with the diamonds covered Charley said:

"I would figure Schaefer as almost a certain winner under such conditions. This for the reason that Hoppe always uses the diamonds in connection with the figuring out of shots, while Schaefer on the other hand does not use them.

"Consequently, Hoppe would be under a mental handicap and probably unable to play his best game, while Schaefer's form would not be affected. Jake would not miss the diamonds as Hoppe would.

"WHEN these two were touring together and playing the angle game as well as balkline, their three-cushion contests were all tough and hard-fought affairs. Hoppe was figuring from the diamonds and Schaefer was not.

"If Schaefer could hold Hoppe so even under these conditions, it follows that Jake would look like a winner over Willie with the diamonds eliminated.

"Cochran's chances against Hoppe under the same regulations would not be so good, in my opinion."

PITTSBURGH baseball products are leaving to join their respective teams for the spring and summer.

Elmer Yoter, who is to get a tryout at third base on the Chicago National League club, left here Wednesday and departed from Chicago with other Cubs yesterday for the training camp on Catalina Island.

Steve Swetonic.

Steve Swetonic, who is to pitch for Indianapolis again in the American Association, departs today for the Hoosier training camp at Plant City, Fla., and Bill Regan, second sacker of the Boston Americans, will get away Sunday for the Red Sox training grounds in Bradentown, Fla.

Among the other Cub players who left Chicago with Yoter yesterday was Hazen Cuyler. A Windy City report quotes the former Pirate as saying to his new mates:

"The last time I saw you fellows was at Schenley Hotel lobby in Pittsburgh last fall. You were kidding us about not getting into the world's series, and I asked when the city series was going to start. I guess you Chicago guys burned under the collar on that one, but it's all different now. I won't ask such questions any more."

IF Jimmy McLarnin, the Pacific coast battler, who makes his Eastern debut against Sid Terris in New York tonight, is not weakened by the task of making 135 pounds, Gotham fans will get an eyeful of a real championship prospect, and Terris will have to do some tall fighting to escape defeat.

Leach Cross, former lightweight, who saw much of McLarnin in the West, goes so far as to declare that Terris will have to be a second Benny Leonard to beat him.

PASO ROBLES

as Donie Bush led his men to the park today. Bush will inaugurate the plan of two workouts a day tomorrow. Every boy and man in camp is enjoying health.

"I'm glad to see Kremer, Hill, Grimes, Miljus and the other veterans without a pain or an ache," said Donie. "If they can get past tomorrow without any trouble I will feel confident they will all be ready to step out when the bell rings."

CAUTIONS HIS STARS

Bush cautioned his stars against throwing curves, but he allowed them to toss the ball around extensively. By careful throwing a pitcher can strengthen his arm in a 20-minute course of limbering up. The fourth day found the veterans and rookies advanced to a pleasing state, although there will be no severe pitching before the middle of next week. At that time several of the first stringers will be eager to strut.

Consider the case of Burleigh Grimes. Burleigh, after taking part in three work-outs astonished Bush by telling him he was right at his pitching weight.

"My weight is just perfect after three sessions," said Grimes.

"All I want to do now is to keep it there and to increase the strength of my arm. I cannot remember when I had a sore arm. If I can keep from catching cold in other parts of my body I won't have to worry about anything."

GRIMES IN TRIM

Grimes tips the scales at 180 sans clothing. The idleness of a winter does not mean that Burleigh has to bear down to take off weight. In the first place, Grimes is not idle. When he is not tramping the woods he is doing something else in the outdoors.

So Bush has admonished Grimes to be careful and to continue his own manner of getting into the best condition. Donie would rather see a pitcher a few pounds overweight at this period of the year.

Paul and Lloyd Waner, after completing their vaudeville tour, are expected in from San Francisco on Sunday. It is thought the two little stars will travel down from San Francisco by automobile. Much of the off season has been spent in gathering in a record crop of shekels, but apparently both are anxious to begin intensive training for another big year.

Manager Bush has stated that the long batting drills, so popular last spring, will be resumed just as soon as the infielders and outfielders reach camp. Pie and his gang are due to dock at the training port Tuesday night. On Wednesday morning the first big session will be held.

Y. M. H. A. HANDBALL STARS ENTER TOURNEY

Nat Winkleman and Ruben Harris, doubles handball champions of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, will compete in the A. M. A. junior doubles tournament scheduled tomorrow afternoon in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. Harris is the singles champion of the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

DUKES, TECH

of a run. The score was 28-25 last winter and the game even closer than the score indicated.

THIEL NEEDS CENTER

All Thiel needs this year, so they tell me, is a center to make the team one of the strongest in the section. The Lutherans are very fast, as their close scores with Grove City, Bethany and victories over Geneva and Allegheny will attest. Mike Loeb has taught 'em some smart basketball and they don't lose any games through dumbheadedness.

But unless you can get the ball, all your class and plays won't mean much. They haven't got a center, and the lack has proved Thiel's greatest handicap.

Of course, the Dukes are due to be on. They played miserable ball against Bethany Tuesday, barely managing to win out when Jacques Rosenberg tossed in a goal with some 50 seconds of play remaining. Chick Davies has been giving 'em what Paddy gave the drum since, in long, hard drills, and hopes to have the team rarin' tonight.

Tomorrow night, Wash-Jeff will be in town for the first time since last football season. The Presidents have Pitt to play, a task not to be relished by an ball club. Wash-Jeff's record so far is a very spotty one, and the Prexy's have lost just as many games as they have won. Four each way.

The game isn't very hard to dope—I mean the eventual score and outcome isn't—but it should be a pretty fast affair at that.

Junior Fives In Title Fray

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER

THE game slated for today between Fifth Avenue and South high schools, winding up the City Senior League's regular schedule, has been postponed until tomorrow and will be played in the South Side Market House in conjunction with the preliminary battle between the junior teams of the same schools for the championship of Section 1 of the City Junior League. The Junior League contest also was slated for today and was postponed in accordance.

According to Coach Chester Griggs of Fifth Avenue High School, provided Fifth Avenue wins against South tomorrow night, the first game of the city championship series with Allegheny will be played next Tuesday on the Fifth Avenue High School court. The second contest will be played either Friday or Saturday night of next week on the court available at Pitt, Tech or Duquesne, with the final contest on one of these floors the following Friday night.

Should South come from behind tomorrow night and vanquish Fifth Avenue, in keeping with the many upsets of this season, the Downtowners will be forced to play off for the Section 1 title against Schenley next Tuesday, which will necessitate setting back the championship elimination games.

The Junior League clash will begin at 7:20 o'clock with the senior tilt following.

Braddock High School won a place in the W. P. I. A. L. title play-off last night when it set down Rankin High, 34 to 24, to close its regular schedule in Section 8. Its season record was 19 victories without a defeat.

HOMESTEAD SWIMMERS BEATEN IN TRIALS

BUFFALO, Feb. 24.—More Pittsburgh district women swimmers were defeated here yesterday in the qualifying heats of the national women's indoor swimming championships, which are being held here.

In the 100-yard breast stroke event, Mary Succi, of the Homestead Library Club, was beaten in a semi-final heat, while Hannah Laughlin, also lost out in the other semi-final race. Miss Succi placed second and Miss Laughlin fourth.

The Library relay team, after holding a slight lead at the end of the first lap, lost ground in the middle laps and finished third, behind the Chicago, Illinois W. A. C. team and the New York W. S. A. outfit.

The Chicagoans defeated the New Yorkers to gain the national title.

RISKO FORFEIT UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Danny Dunn, manager of Johnny Risko, Cleveland baker boy, who is paired with Jack Sharkey at the Garden on March 12, has posted the $5,000 forfeit demanded by the boxing commission. Both battlers are now tied up securely, the Boston Lithuanian having deposited his forfeit with the solons last Thursday.

MANDELL GETS REVENGE; HANDS FIELDS TRIMMING

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP.)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, easily defeated Jackie Fields of Los Angeles in a 10-round battle here last night, evening the score for the Coast boy's victory scored over him in Los Angeles last May.

Mandell gave Fields, a Chicago boy who made his ring debut on the Coast, an artistic drubbing, winning seven of the 10 rounds, with Fields taking two and one being declared even.

"The voice is essential to stage work and its care one of the actor's greatest worries. During the course of some of my stage appearances, I am called upon at intervals to smoke a cigarette and naturally I have to be careful about my choice. I smoke Lucky Strikes and have yet to feel the slightest effect upon my throat. I understand that toasting frees this cigarette from any throat irritants. They're 100% with me."

ONE FIGHT ENOUGH FOR HELEN

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 24.—Helen Wills, tennis champion, wants to see an ice hockey game and a six-day bicycle race. Then she will have seen all sporting events, she said here. Miss Wills attended the Mickey Walker-Cowboy Jack Willis bout here, and, while she was glad she went, she doesn't care for more.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

THE Goldensons of the South Side face one of their hardest tests of the season tonight when they engage the crack Nehi Bottlers of Farrell, boasting a string of unbroken victories scored at the expense of the strongest clubs in the Shenango valley.

The Goldensons broke their long losing streak last Friday night when they defeated the St. Michaels Sokols at the South Side Market House and will be out tonight bent on making it two straight at the expense of the Farrell aggregation of stars.

Two high-class preliminary games, one of which brings the famed Goldenson Vanities into action against a strong girls' team, will precede the main attraction.

NO longer members of the County League, which has disbanded for the season, the Broadway Club and the Enoch Rauhs will renew their basketball feud on the Broadway floor tonight when the two teams meet in the second game of their series.

Previous battles between the Rauhs and Broadway have proved nip-and-tuck affairs and tonight's contest should attract a banner turnout of divided supporters. An attractive preliminary game will precede the main attraction.

THREE good games are scheduled at the Young Men's Hebrew Association tomorrow night, the varsity team, entered in the semi-finals of the A. A. U. tournament, meeting Sewickley Y. M. C. A., the Reserves playing Carnegie Big Six, while the girls engage the Philadelphia Company lassies.

Next Wednesday night the Y. M. H. A. senior team will meet the Pittsburgh Lancers at the General Logan Armory to determine which of the two clubs will engage North Side Community House for the A. A. U. title.

DRIBBLES

The Duquesne Lafayettes, champions of the Allegheny County League, have next Wednesday as well as other dates open on their schedule for games with only the best first-class teams. Write Ed Minnick, 424 South Duquesne avenue, Duquesne, Pa., or call Duquesne 1526.

Sapira came through with 16 field goals for the Somermans last night to contribute to his team's well-earned triumph over the J. J. Mieles. It was the second defeat in a row for the P. & O. champions.

The Lou Gordon Jrs. drew first blood in their series with the Red McMahons of the South Side, by defeating the South Siders in the preliminary to the Miele-Somerman attraction last night.

Rangers Top Locals, 3-0

THE Pittsburgh Pirates of the ice, still shaking from the two setbacks handed them since leaving here early this week for an invasion of the East, arrived home this morning from New York, to prepare for the game here tomorrow night with the world champion Ottawa Senators.

The Bucs, though still in a money berth, slipped badly this week, and after losing to Boston on Tuesday, were defeated again last night by the New York Rangers in Madison Square Garden, New York, 3-0.

The victory did not come until two furious periods had been contested. Going into the last frame all even, the Bucs cracked wide open and the New Yorkers rushed through for three goals for a decisive victory.

RANGERS SCORE FAST

First, Boucher took a pass from Bun Cook and whaled the disc past Worters for the opening tally. This occurred after about four minutes of play. Then about 20 seconds later Cook tallied unassisted when he flicked the disc into the net on Boucher's rebound shot. Gray scored the last goal after 15 minutes of the period had passed into history, again registering a point unassisted.

The Rangers, who had been held scoreless for five games, entered the contest last night in a deperate frame of mind. They needed the victory to prevent the Boston Bruins from drawing too far ahead in the American section race. Boston profited through the Rangers being idle on Tuesday by beating the Pirates.

Tomorrow night the Bucs will face a stern test in the Senators, and it will take the best the locals have to resume their winning ways at the expense of the champions.

Last night's fracas in New York marked the final appearance of the Pirates in Gotham this season. The season series with the Americans is over and but one more game remains to be played with the Rangers. This contest will be staged here March 24.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

by HARRY KECK

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

mon at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

You tell him yourself—and don't forget to duck.

ANOTHER letter suggests that, since the Willie Davies-Midget Wolgast bout decision last Monday night did not please the newspaper critics, who figured that Davies and not Wolgast was the real victor, the newspaper critics serve as judges at future shows. This letter also is anonymous.

Why should the newspapermen act as judges, when the law which legalizes boxing provides for decisions by paid judges and referees to do away with the old-fashioned newspaper decisions?

Boxing writers are paid by their newspapers to cover the bouts as they see them and to record the official decisions, but not necessarily to act as "yes-men" in the matter of decisions. When what appears to them to be a palpably unfair decision is rendered it is their privilege and duty to say so. Not that their opinion may be worth any more than that of a cash customer, or that any more persons will agree with what they think. But at least to keep the records straight.

AND a letter from J. J. G., the first to respond to the argument stirred up about golf being an unbalanced game because the rules do not provide for a defensive side.

The subject of the debate is that the game is all offense. The only way a player can beat an opponent is to out-attack him or shoot a better game. There is no manner in which he can throw him off his stride by strategic defensive play, as in tennis, baseball, football, billiards, etc.

"I don't see why golf should be rated so peculiar on this account," J. J. G. writes. "There are other sports that have no defensive phases and one never hears that this is held against them. There is footracing, for instance. Or horseracing, or rowing, or any sort of a race. They are all offense, aren't they? And yet people find them interesting and quite good sporting propositions."

Well, that's the first response to the charge that golf is an unbalanced sport. Who'll be next?

HONUS WAGNER is 54 years old today.

To hear the baseball fans talk about the "Grand Old Man" of baseball, one would think the former Pirate star is much older than that. But he isn't. Honus was born February 24, 1874.

Felicitations are in order.

PIRATES

fielders and outfielders, start westward over the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad at 8:20 o'clock tonight.

The same route taken by the battery men, who have been limbering up in Paso Robles since Tuesday, will be followed by the second brigade. The latter is scheduled to detrain at Paso Robles next Tuesday afternoon, and on the following day the entire Pittsburgh crew will be down to work at the coast conditioning grounds.

SEVEN IN LOCAL PARTY

There will be seven persons in the party leaving here tonight. In addition to Coach Hinchman, those departing for camp will be Capt. Pie Traynor, Sparky Adams, the new second baseman obtained from the Cubs in the Cuyler trade; Pitcher Lee Meadows, Outfielders Clyde Barnhart and Adam Comorosky, and Dr. William L. Marks of Carnegie Tech.

President Barney Dreyfuss had intended going with the second division, accompanied by Mrs. Dreyfuss, but changed his plans owing to the death of his sister, Mrs. Bernard Bernheim. Mrs. Bernheim, who died Sunday in Los Angeles, will be buried from the family home in Louisville, and Mr. and Mrs. Dreyfuss will go to the Kentucky city to attend the funeral.

The Pirate owner will return to Pittsburgh Monday and will leave later in the week for Paso Robles.

While steaming westward the Hinchman forces will be augmented at various stops along the route. Catcher Johnny Gooch, who was unable to go with the vanguard on account of illness and death of his mother, is expected to report in Chicago tomorrow and will be the only player picked up there. Shortstop Glenn Wright, accompanied by his mother, will board the train at Kansas City.

Outfielder Fred Brickell will join the party at Hutchinson, Kan., and at Syracuse, Kan., Parker Brewer and Travea Waner, rookie outfielders, will be added.

When Los Angeles is reached, George Grantham, slated to play first base this year; George Gottleber, recruit third sacker from Lincoln, Neb., and Coburn Jones, semi-pro infielder, who resides in Denver, will hook up with the travelers for the last lap of the journey.

FIVE GO DIRECT TO CAMP

The Waner brothers will conclude their California vaudeville engagement in San Francisco tomorrow night and probably will land in camp on Sunday. Joe Harris, who has been visiting at the home of Ira Flagstead, Red Sox outfielder, at Olympia, Wash., reached Paso Robles today and Infielders Joe Cronin and Dick Bartell, whose homes are in San Francisco and Alameda, Cal., respectively, also may breeze into camp ahead of the regulars.

BOXING NOTES

Mellow and Joe Medill boxing the semi-final.

The Motor Square Club is looking for its biggest gate of the season when Willie Harmon of New York returns for his third appearance of the season in the local arena, with Cuddy DeMarco as his opponent. The advance sale has surpassed that for any other show to date and will have to take a big flop to kill the fine prospects.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, is resting up in the mountains at Narrowsburg, N. Y., to give a cut eye a chance to heal. He has just come through a strenuous siege of battles on four consecutive Monday nights, concluding with a hard-fought mill with Freddie Mueller at Buffalo, and is in demand for other battles.

Jack McFarland of Wilkinsburg is back home from Hamilton, Ont., where he fought Tommy Ryan, formerly of McKeesport, last week. He expects to appear against Al Corbett here shortly.

Battling Kotsis of Monessen is anxious to meet any of 160-175-pound boxers, Ray Shafer, Ray Fay, Gene Baker preferred. He may be addressed at Box 227, Monessen, Pa.

Tom Maleo of the Pittsburgh Lyceum and W. Marchaza of the Willow Club, middleweights, will box the main bout of an amateur show for the benefit of the families of the striking miners of Renton and Newfield at Moose hall, Universal, tonight. Other bouts follow: D. McConnell vs. Joe Sandusky, D. Profite vs. Dick Graham, Eggie Dolan vs. Tom Fairfield and Stanley Bell vs. James Chess.

Lee Frank is coaching the boxing class at the Oakland Y. M. C. A., which now numbers 16 members and meets every Monday night.

Entries close tomorrow for the Western Pennsylvania amateur championship tournament at McKeesport next Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Denver Leonard, the Hill district boxer, is back from an eight months' trip to New York and will appear in a bout at Motor Square Garden a week from next Monday night. He is working out daily in the Motor Square gym and will box as a 140-pounder.

Joey LaGrey, Johnstown welterweight, has a bout pending at McKeesport, March 8, and may meet Jack Zivic in Johnstown, March 15.

Noble Davis, former local referee, is considering returning to the boxing game in the role of a manager.

If Paulino defeats George Godfrey in their bout in Los Angeles next week, promoter Jim Mullin, of Chicago, plans to go after a Paulino-Gene Tunney match for next summer.

George Evans, Andy Lovino, Buck McTiernan and Bob Moody, local amateurs, will appear in a tourney in Cleveland next Tuesday night.

FEIGERT WITH CANTON

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 24.—Earl Feigert, well-known outfielder and pitcher, will play with the Canton team in the Central Baseball League this year. Feigert has been in organized baseball for the past several seasons.

Friends Extol Regan

MORE than 100 friends and notables attended a banquet in honor of William (Bill) Regan of Brookline, second baseman of the Boston Red Sox, at the Roosevelt Hotel last night. It was an auspicious occasion marked by the presentation of a K. of C. ring to the popular athlete and numerous ringing talks of eulogy.

The speakers included James Malone, president of City Council; Peter J. McArdle, also a member of Council; Thomas H. Hester, jury commissioner of Allegheny county; Honus Wagner, baseball immortal, who sat next to Regan; Elmer Layden, athletic director and football coach of Duquesne University; James Magee, former Congressman; Harry Keck, sports editor of The Sun-Telegraph, and Regis M. Welsh. John A. Seeberger was toastmaster and Henry L. Alm, as chairman, introduced him. Dave Lawrence and Lieut. Peter Lehney, father of Pitcher Regis Lehney, of the Pirates, also were among those present. Councilman McArdle presented the ring to Regan.

Councilman Malone stressed the value of athletics in a community and said that in spite of opposition from some quarters, eight new playgrounds have been added to Pittsburgh in the last year. Wagner recalled old times in baseball and compared them with the present era. Nat Rodgers entertained with songs and stories.

The assembled guests joined in wishing Regan luck during the coming season, which will mark the start of his second complete campaign in the majors, and expressed confidence that he would develop into a player of outstanding proportions. Bill leaves Sunday for the Red Sox training quarters at Bradentown, Fla.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Great Fortunes Result Of Vision—Not Luck.

By B. C. FORBES

IN THE SOUTHWEST, Feb. 24.

FORESIGHT spells fortune. Don't imagine that more millionaires have been made by luck than by vision. America's greatest fortunes have nearly all come from foresight, imagination, courage, initiative, enterprise, faith in self and faith in the future.

Following well-worn ruts may become comfortable, but it rarely is particularly profitable.

I've been talking with one man whose vision long was laughed at, but those dreams have come true. John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company.

"THIRTY years ago," remarked Mr. Miller, "I foresaw that California would become a great industrial state. I also foresaw that Los Angeles would become a great industrial city. I was laughed at. But I have seen my dreams come true. Los Angeles already is the ninth industrial city in the United States. And California is beginning to come into its own industrially.

"Southern California is unimaginably rich in natural resources. We have some of the largest bodies of iron ore in the world containing less sulphur and more manganese than other ores. The state is a leader in oil production. We annually rank first or second in precious metals. We are high up in wool production.

"Our cotton, an increasingly important product and free from the boll weevil, grows an exceptionally long staple and is finer in color than any other cotton except Sea Island.

"Before there was so much subdividing the state was a leader in wheat, also in barley. We are rich in dairy products, and our fruit and nuts are, of course, famous throughout the world. Not only temperate but some tropical products grow here splendidly. The Delta of the Colorado and Sacramento rivers afford the greatest truck gardens existing anywhere except in the Delta of the Nile.

"Our climate and working conditions are extremely favorable to building up industry. Consumers are being attracted in rapidly-increasing numbers. In late years the Pacific Coast has vied with the Delta of the Mississippi in lumber production. Eventually our greatest advantage will be our proximity to the largest potential market on the face of the earth, the awakening Orient. The Panama Canal has so greatly improved Coast prosperity that our railroads, the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Rock Island, are all doing better than ever before."

WHEN Jack Miller, foreseeing its possibilities, first became interested in electric power he encountered heartbreaking difficulties in raising even the most modest amounts of capital. Local capital was very meager and New York bankers were worse than skeptical. But he persisted and persevered. A few figures will show what his company has attained and how rapid has been its expansion in recent years:

Six years— Growth	1921	1927
Gross earnings	$16,645,722	$30,000,000
Net before dep.	5,769,026	14,791,000
Total capital	123,064,000	278,170,672
Taxes	1,305,000	2,676,000
Stockholders, number	26,358	114,000
	Horsepower.	Horsepower.
Plant capacity, hydro	249,600	465,700
Plant capacity, steam	127,100	350,400
Plant capacity, total	376,700	816,100
Connected load	592,027	1,649,000
K. W. hours generated	1,673,144,624	2,421,237,908

EMPLOYES total 6,690. All but 5 per cent are stockholders—an extraordinary record. Of the 114,000 stockholders, 90 per cent live in the territory served. Payrolls last year reached $14,496,000. Local purchases totaled $15,539,778, and outside purchases $7,893,633.

MILLER'S faith in the future is being freshly proved by his company's gigantic construction at Long Beach. The first unit is under way of a new million horsepower steam plant, on Terminal Island, which will become the greatest power generating center in the world. The generating plants already there are the most powerful west of Chicago. The new boilers will be the largest single boilers ever constructed.

Oil and natural gas will be used initially, but pulverized coal fuel may be used later. So efficient is the layout that, whereas the original plant of 1906 used 2.15 pounds of coal per kilowatt hour, only 1.04 pounds is needed now.

A DREAM which has taken very substantial form, you will admit.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 11 points to a decline of 1 point, generally 4 to 11 points higher, in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. Reports of a firm market for Egyptian cotton at Alexandria, covering and trade buying.

There was active March liquidation incident to the circulation of notices estimated at about 181,000 bales, but trade interests were good buyers of March at a discount of about 24 points under May, creating an impression that the notices would be promptly stopped. This helped the tone of the general market as offerings were comparatively light except for the March liquidation, while some buying was reported for trade and European account.

Prices at the end of the first hour were about 14 to 16 points net higher. May selling at 18.40c.

Private cables reported covering and trade calling in Liverpool with a scarcity of contracts.

The early advance extended to 18.53c for May and 18.40c for October, with the active months showing net gains of about 25 to 31 points during the middle of the morning. There was further March liquidation, but it was absorbed by continued trade buying. Some trade buying was reported in the later months, partly for foreign account. The advance was accompanied by rumors that some cotton taken up on March contracts might be wanted to export. The volume of business tapered off later, however, and there were reactions of 4 or 5 points, under realizing. At midday May was selling around 18.47c and October 18.33c, with the general list showing net advances of 18 to 23 points.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP.)—Influenced by more of a decline in Liverpool quotations than was looked for wheat values in Chicago averaged lower early today. Shippers both from Argentina and Canada were reported as offering wheat more cheaply to Europe. Starting ⅛ to ⅝c off, Chicago wheat steadied later at about yesterday's finish. Corn opened ⅛ to ¼c down and later recovered somewhat. Oats were firm. Provisions tended upward.

In addition to unexpected weakness of the Liverpool wheat market today and advices of cheaper Argentine and Canadian offerings, it was asserted that a general pause in British milling demand had become evident. On the other hand, Vienna dispatches to a Chicago house said wheat and rye crops in Central and Southeastern Europe were suffering from heavy frost and from lack of snow cover.

Corn developed relative firmness today after easiness at the outset. Initial declines were ascribed to fine weather for the crop movement. However, the bulk of today's Chicago receipts of corn, totaling 477 cars, were found to have been consigned direct to industries and elevators. This circumstance was construed as bullish and so likewise trade gossip pointing to possible reduced estimates of corn production in Argentina.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

NAB BANDIT SUSPECT; FOUR OTHERS SOUGHT

Suspected of being one of the five highwaymen who held up and robbed two Seitz street residents, John Zakowski, 17, of 65 Magnolia street, will be arraigned in Morals Court today on the charge of being a suspicious person. He was arrested last night at South Thirteenth and Carson streets by City Detectives P. E. Moran and Peter Connors. Eugene McMillen and Arthur Shenk, both of 1005 Seitz street, those held up, were confronted in the Boulevard of the Allies, near Hooper street, early yesterday. McMillen was robbed of $22 and Shenk lost 20 cents.

Merkel viewers to assess damages and benefits because of improvements made to Hawthorn, Brightwood, Columbia, Clairmont and Lansing avenues, West View. The same judge also named J. G. Silveus, E. E. Phillips and C. W. Shoaf viewers to assess damages and benefits arising out of improvement to Wall avenue, Pitcairn.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Piggly Wiggly Coming Here.

Piggly Wiggly Western States Company plans to acquire and operate 500 stores in Northern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, according to Arthur C. Jones, president. This move will involve an expenditure of $1,500,000 and the chain will enter 35 counties in Ohio and eight in Western Pennsylvania.

Detroit Payroll Expands.

The Detroit Employers' Association reports employment figures for the week ended February 21 as an increase of 1,573 over the previous week at 151,875, and an increase of 4,995 over the same week of 1927.

January Wool Exports Increase.

Commerce Department announces that domestic exports of wool manufactures during January, 1928, amounted to $379,566, against $324,556 for January, 1927. Exports of silk manufactures during January totaled $1,222,566, compared with $867,366 exported during January, 1927. Exports of artificial silk amounted to $480,196 and $636,196 respectively in January, 1928 and 1927.

New Seminole Agreement.

The new agreement of operators in Seminole oil area, to supplant present one expiring on March 1, does not lift the ban on wildcat wells of which there are five to the east and west. These are still held to minimum production of 100 barrels daily with no offsets to be started. On five old pools in the area, there has been no restriction for some time as these are nearly fully developed and yielding far below established maximum of 450,000 barrels daily. One new area, apparently, is to be opened up under new agreement. This is south of Little River pool for a distance of 2½ miles, to wildcat well of Independent Oil and Gas Company, in section 1-6.

Technical Rallies.

Hornblower & Weeks wired the following to their local branch this morning: "Whether the factors which have brought about the rally of the past two market sessions are losing force remains to be seen. In point of ground covered, the rally could rapidly proceed somewhat further and yet keep within the normal bounds of a technical movement. Probably the market will extend somewhat the irregularity which began to creep into it in late trading yesterday as traders attempted to test the degree of resistance in individual stocks. Even if the rally continues further, however, it will probably be left to a selected group of stocks to accomplish this. It still seems advisable to continue the process of reducing commitments when the market is strong."

New Securities Offerings.

New securities offerings today include the following: $9,500,000 Birmingham Electric Company first and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent, due 1968, at 95¼, to yield 4.77 per cent; $4,000,000 Inland Gas Corporation first mortgage 6½ per cent sinking fund A, due 1938, at 100; $1,500,000 Inland Gas Corporation 7 per cent sinking fund debentures, due 1938, at 100; $2,500,000 United States Radiator Corporation sinking fund debentures A, due 1938, at 94½, to yield 5.20 per cent; $1,500,000 Southern Public Service Company first mortgage and collateral lien 6 per cent A, due 1943, at 97½, to yield 6.25 per cent; $1,100,000 Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad Company 6 per cent debentures, due 1948, at 100; $2,500,000 National Electric Power Company 6 per cent cumulative preferred, at 94½, to yield 6.36 per cent.

Demand Exceeds Glass Output.

The American Glass Review tomorrow will say: "With production schedules at window glass factories showing no material change during the week it is conservatively estimated that the month's output will run in the neighborhood of 690,000 boxes, or around 60,000 boxes below consumption. Demand for plate glass on the part of all principal consuming industries, with the bulk of new business, of course, coming from the automobile manufacturers, continues in satisfactory volume. The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has not yet announced an advance in selling prices as did other leading manufacturers about 10 days ago."

Lehigh Earned $3.52 on Common.

The Lehigh Railroad pamphlet report shows for year 1927 net income was $4,266,066 after fixed charges, equal, after preferred dividends, to $3.52 a share on 1,210,084 common shares, against net of $10,021,112, or $8.27 a share, in 1926. Surplus after common dividends was $20,257, against $3,960,212 in 1926.

Denver and Rio Grande.

Preliminary report of Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad Company for year ended December 31, 1927, shows net income of $2,775,861 after taxes, charges and sinking fund, against $5,346,295 in 1926.

Tobacco Company Passes Dividend.

Porto Rican-American Tobacco Company passed the $1.75 quarterly class "A" dividend to conserve working capital until the effect of the 1927 situation has been overcome.

The company reports for the year 1927, net income of $499,749, after interest and bond discount, equal to $5.94 per share on $10,147,500 7 per cent cumulative class A stock.

Rubber at New Low.

Tire shares were under special pressure. U. S. Rubber broke to a new low on the movement. Unsettlement in this group reflected uncertainty created by the British government's refusal to commit itself as to whether the Stevenson rubber restriction program would be continued after May 1. Some traders also expressed apprehension as to the maintenance of the dividend on U. S. Rubber preferred, a non-cumulative, 8 per cent issue.

Kelly-Springfield Tire.

Report of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for year ended December 31, 1927, shows net income of $357,741 after interest, amortization, depreciation, etc., equivalent to $12.12 a share (par $100) on 29,500 shares of preferred 6 per cent stock on which no dividends have been paid since April 1, 1924. Allowing for only 6 per cent regular annual dividend requirement on 6 per cent preferred, the balance is equal to $3.43 a share on $3,264,700 8 per cent preferred stock. In year 1926, net loss was $3,439,799 after crediting the account with $1,000,000 reserve previously set up for fluctuation of crude rubber prices.

Pure Oil Sells Acreage.

According to reports from Fort Worth, Pure Oil Company has sold part of its West Texas holdings, 997 acres considered within proven area of Yates pool in Pecos county, to McMan Oil and Gas Company. Consideration is believed to be between $750,000 and $1,000,000, probably half cash and half oil when produced.

100 Per Cent Stock Dividend on Vac.

Vacuum Oil Company directors recommend an increase in authorized capital stock from $7,000,000 to $175,000,000 to provide for 100 per cent stock dividend and acquisition of other companies. Stockholders will vote on the plan at the annual meeting March 21. President Whaley says the company is considering establishment of gasoline and kerosene distributing business in the British Isles, where heretofore it has marketed only lubricants and related products.

The stock dividend reflects the condition of Vacuum alone and its favorable individual position that enables it to show satisfactory earnings while other oil concerns labor under heavy stocks of both crude and refined. There are groups hung up in practically all oil stocks listed on the big board. As fundamental conditions point to another highly unsatisfactory year for the industry they will take advantage of every piece of "good news" to hurry their pets with the hope of unloading a little more of their burden.

New York Bank Ratio Up.

New York Federal Reserve Bank ratio is 83.2 for the week against 78.6 a week ago and 88.9 a year ago. The Federal Reserve System ratio is 74.7 against 74.0 a week previous and 80.1 last year.

Loans Down $91,000,000.

Loans to brokers by New York Federal Reserve member banks totaled $3,728,316,000 on February 22 as against $3,819,355,000 on February 14, the Federal Reserve board announced. This is the widest decrease reported for several months. The high for 1928 loans was $3,856,029,000 made on February 8, and the low, the figures just announced for February 22. The high for 1927 was $3,717,622,000 on December 28, and the low $2,718,054,000 on May 18. The high for 1926 was $3,143,125,000 on January 6, and the low $2,409,035,000 on May 19.

Commercial Building Spurt.

Pronounced activity in commercial buildings raised the total on contemplated construction for the past week to $139,115,000 from $71,750,000 the week before, the McGraw-Hill Construction Daily reports. While office and loft buildings held first place in the money value of projects announced, the total involved in the classification for apartment houses and hotels also was comparatively high.

Rock Island Dividends.

Attention in the financial district again is being drawn to the meeting of directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific on March 7, when the question of increasing the dividend rate on the common stock from the present $5 annual basis, or the payment of an extra, is expected to be brought up. The road earned slightly more than $12 a share on the common in 1927. It is estimated the Rock Island has about $13,000,000 cash on hand, about $11,000,000 of which came from $49,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds sold last year prior to refunding $29,000,000 in notes.

Kayser Silk Rights.

Holders of voting trust certificates for common stock of Julius Kayser & Co., of record March 5, are offered rights to subscribe to additional common to the extent of one-tenth of their holdings at $65 a share.

Texas Gulf-Sun Oil.

The Texas Gulf Sulphur Company has acquired all sulphur leases held by the Sun Oil Company on the Boling Dome formation lying to east of the San Bernard River in Wharton county, Texas, consisting of about 525 acres. This removes any possibility of Sun Oil entering the field as the third producer. Sun Oil will receive royalty and a cash payment of $1,000,000 for the properties.

Nickel Under Pressure.

The bears pounded away steadily at International Nickel. The pool in the stock is trying its utmost to lessen its holdings while the group of professionals bearing the issue never let up on their attacks. Nickel's earnings, it is stated, on release of official report will show that the pool estimates thereof were even more exaggerated than were the forecasts of Freeport Texas income.

Standard Steel Car.

The Richmond Car Works, located in South Richmond, and said to be valued at about $1,100,000, has been sold to the Standard Steel Car Company, it is reported. No official confirmation has been obtained. The Illinois Car and Manufacturing Company of Hammond, Ind., to which the Richmond Car Works was subsidiary, is understood also to have been included in the purchase or consolidation with the Standard Steel Car Company. The Richmond Car Works has been engaged for the last five years in manufacturing railroad cars, principally all-steel coal gondolas and steel freight cars.

P. R. R. Loadings Lower.

Pennsylvania Railroad for week ended February 18 handled 148,095 loaded freight cars, against 142,559 for the preceding week, and 155,234 in the corresponding week in 1927. For the year to date 957,074 cars were loaded comparing with 1,072,355 last year.

Seeking Coal Outlet.

The application of the Pittsburgh Coal Company to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the right to build a railroad connecting Youngstown, O., with the Ohio River near the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line, is regarded as a move of the company to find an additional outlet for its coal. The line, by use of the river to terminal point, would make possible the laying down of coal in Youngstown cheaper than by the all-rail route. It would also afford a direct outlet for finished steel shipments to go down the Ohio and Mississippi River points. The saving to New Orleans of $3 a ton is estimated. It is expected the project will be fought by the Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads now handling Youngstown in and out shipments.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The raw sugar market continued firm early today with prices 1-32c higher. Sales reported included 2,000 bags Porto Rican at 4.24c and 146,000 bags at 4.27c, all to local refiners.

The raw sugar futures market opened irregular at 1 point decline to 1 point advance under March liquidation promoted by issuance of 122 notices and some commission house selling reflecting the disappointing London market. Offerings, however, were well absorbed. A steadier tone developed later on covering and Cuban support, the continued steadiness of the spot market and reports of a better demand for refined. Prices at midday were 1 to 2 points net higher.

The refined market was unchanged at 5.40c for fine granulated, with a continued good inquiry reported.

TRADE REPORTS HELP GLASS

Stocks exhibited a steady tone in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Exchange today, but business continued in light volume, and such changes as there were showed only fractional declines or advances from the previous closings.

Salt Creek Consolidated Oil appeared in the sales list for the first time in several days, a few lots selling at 6⅞, the figure around which the stock has held for the past month or so. Moderate improvement in the general oil outlook has attracted attention to Salt Creek's steady production and its consistent dividend record.

The miscellaneous list was quiet. Standard Sanitary was a small fraction above yesterday's opening, but the volume of stock handled was very light.

Lone Star Gas was steady at a small fraction above 54, while Dixie Gas preferred displayed an upward tendency after coming into the market unchanged.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass rallied back to the 220-level and stayed in that area throughout the session. Recovery from the recent set-back to around 215 was based on better reports from trade circles. Standard Plate's gymnastics on the New York exchange yesterday were not repeated today. Incidentally, the street was still in the dark as to the real reason for the recent spurt of 30 points in the preferred. Traders are not inclined to attribute such action to the mere settling of the company's labor difficulties at Butler.

MERGER TALK FORCES RAILS UPWARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP.)—Curious cross currents of prices ran through today's stock market, which was featured by the heavy buying of the railroad shares on unconfirmed reports of a consolidation agreement in eastern territory. Prices started upward at the opening on the unexpectedly large drop of more than $90,000,000 in brokers' loans, but turned reactionary within a few minutes when selling pressure was renewed against pool favorites. The rally in the rails around midday was followed by the cropping out of fresh points of weakness among the specialties, but General Motors and other leaders were pointing upward in the early afternoon.

Outside the brokers' loan statement, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, but banks called about $25,000,000 in loans, presumably to meet heavy week-end demands for currency.

Wabash, which is expected to be aligned with either the "Nickel Plate" or the Baltimore and Ohio, if current merger reports are true, quickly ran up 4 points, as did St. Louis Southwestern. Delaware and Hudson and Bangor and Aroostook climbed more than 3 points each, and among the dozen or so to sell 2 or more points higher were Reading, New York Central, New Haven, Erie, Gulf, Mobile and Northern, "Katy" common and Western Pacific common.

Buoyancy of Montana Power, Bayuk Cigars and Equitable Office Building common, contrasted with the weakness of Wright Aeronautical, U. S. Rubber first preferred, International Nickel and Victor Talking Machine convertible preferred.

FREE OFFICIAL OF FRAUD

Lawrence G. Bleichner, 29, formerly treasurer of the Bleichner-Patterson Motor Company, was acquitted on seven charges of fraudulent conversion by a jury in Criminal Court before visiting Judge J. Frank Graff.

The verdict ordered Bleichner to pay the costs on one charge and to divide the costs on six other charges with the Finance and Guaranty Company of Baltimore, whose representative here, W. J. Brown, of the East End Trust Building, preferred the charges. According to them, the company advanced money on bailment leases for purchasing automobiles and the money was not repaid when the cars were sold. The defendant said he was acting treasurer and turned the money over to the motor company before he left its employ.

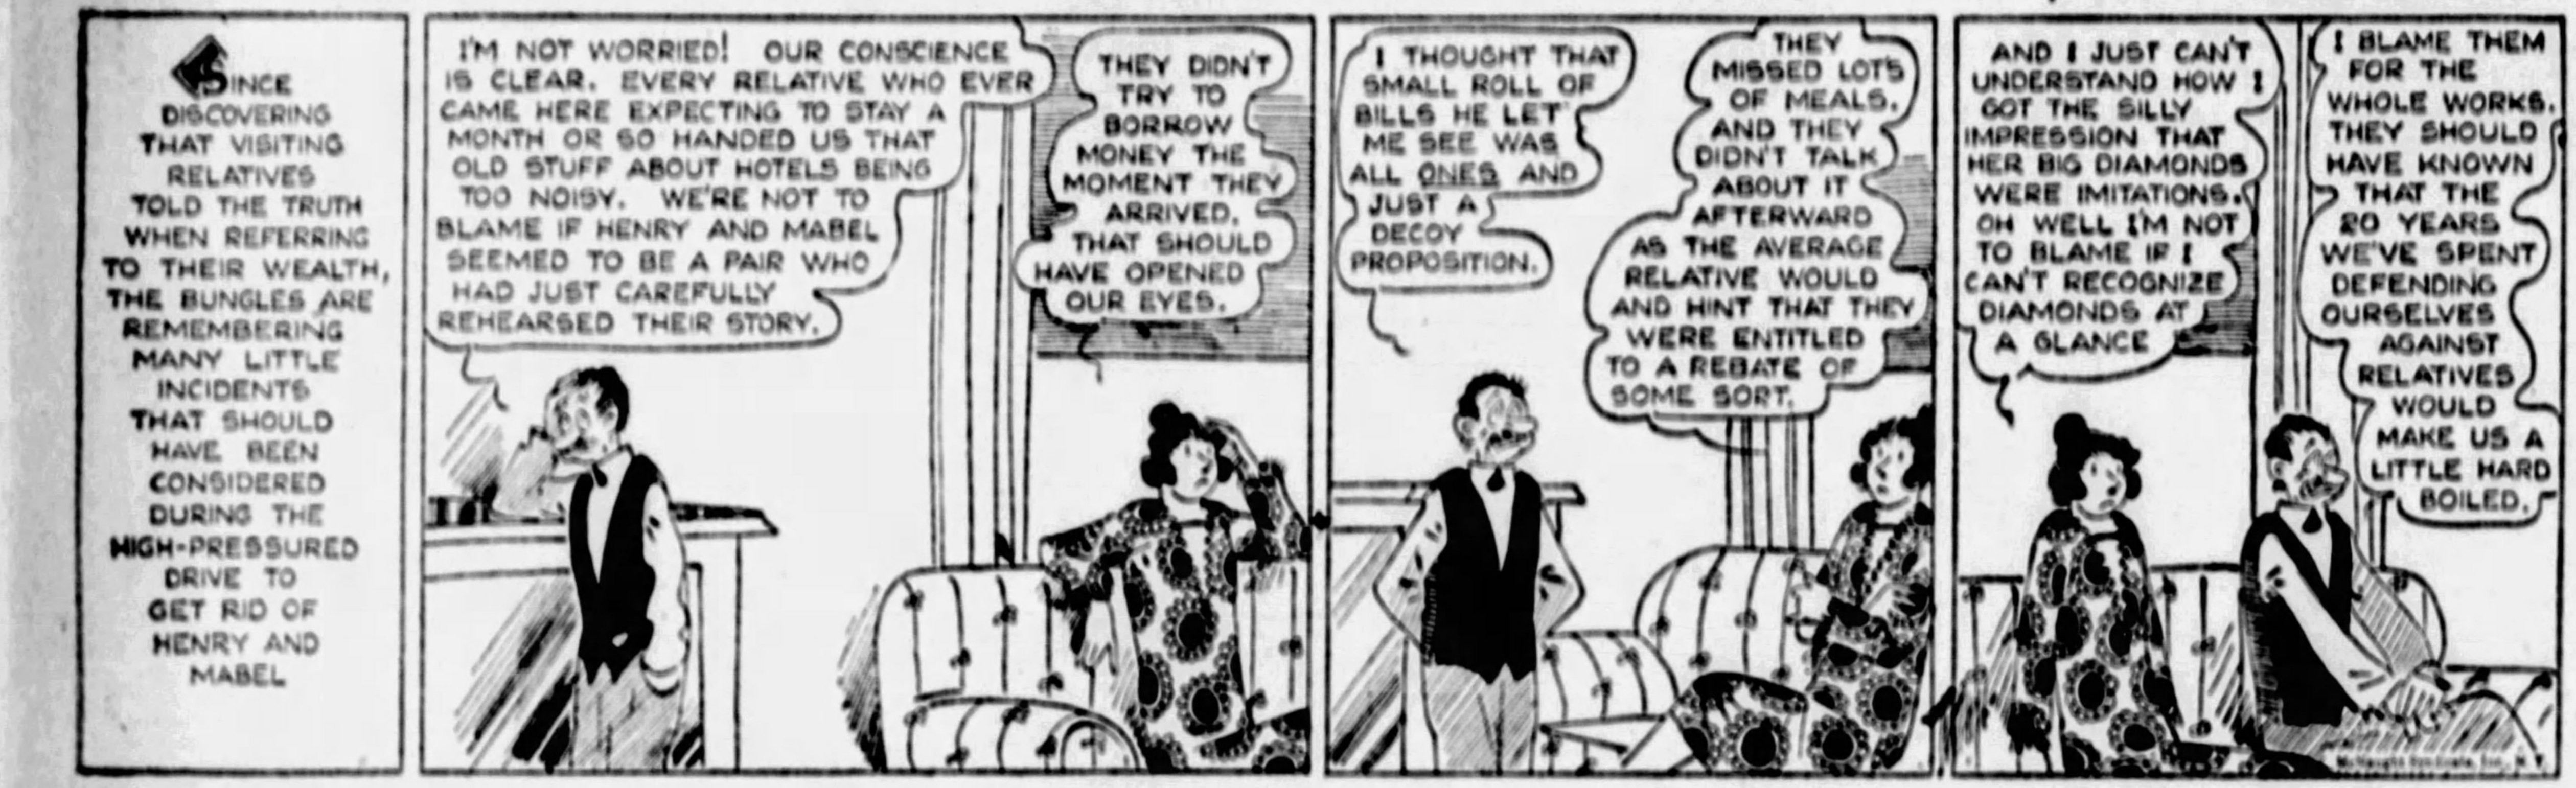
THE BUNGLE FAMILY . . . . Not So Good



SINCE DISCOVERING THAT VISITING RELATIVES TOLD THE TRUTH WHEN REFERRING TO THEIR WEALTH, THE BUNGLES ARE REMEMBERING MANY LITTLE INCIDENTS THAT SHOULD HAVE BEEN CONSIDERED DURING THE HIGH-PRESSURED DRIVE TO GET RID OF HENRY AND MABEL
I'M NOT WORRIED! OUR CONSCIENCE IS CLEAR. EVERY RELATIVE WHO EVER CAME HERE EXPECTING TO STAY A MONTH OR SO HANDED US THAT OLD STUFF ABOUT HOTELS BEING TOO NOISY. WE'RE NOT TO BLAME IF HENRY AND MABEL SEEMED TO BE A PAIR WHO HAD JUST CAREFULLY REHEARSED THEIR STORY.
THEY DIDN'T TRY TO BORROW MONEY THE MOMENT THEY ARRIVED. THAT SHOULD HAVE OPENED OUR EYES.
I THOUGHT THAT SMALL ROLL OF BILLS HE LET ME SEE WAS ALL ONES AND JUST A DECOY PROPOSITION.
THEY MISSED LOTS OF MEALS, AND THEY DIDN'T TALK ABOUT IT AFTERWARD AS THE AVERAGE RELATIVE WOULD AND HINT THAT THEY WERE ENTITLED TO A REBATE OF SOME SORT.
AND I JUST CAN'T UNDERSTAND HOW I GOT THE SILLY IMPRESSION THAT HER BIG DIAMONDS WERE IMITATIONS. OH WELL I'M NOT TO BLAME IF I CAN'T RECOGNIZE DIAMONDS AT A GLANCE
I BLAME THEM FOR THE WHOLE WORKS. THEY SHOULD HAVE KNOWN THAT THE 20 YEARS WE'VE SPENT DEFENDING OURSELVES AGAINST RELATIVES WOULD MAKE US A LITTLE HARD BOILED.

DIG AROUND YOUR ROSE BUSHES, PLEADS FRISBY

News picture shows prominent citizen who yesterday joined in the nation-wide search for Frisby's teeth, believed buried by canine.

WASHINGTON—"Search around your rose bushes!"

This was Congressman Frisby's plea to a griefstricken nation today, when he personally took charge of the nationwide search for his missing false teeth.

"Dogs," explained Frisby, "often bring home a bone culled from the garbage pails.

"Your dog—anybody's dog—may have found my teeth and mistaken them for a toothsome bone.

"Your Congressman's teeth may at this moment lie buried in your back yard!"

Congressman Frisby is holding up wonderfully well, considering what he has gone through, and personally led a party of searchers in digging up around some shrubbery across from the depot.

He is being fed liquid foods and seems to enjoy them very much.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
Do you pay for suggestions, Mister?

"You Said It Marceline!"

By MARCELINE d'ALROY

ON "WOMEN AND TIME."

One would IMAGINE that, to Most men, their TIME is Valuable. Until one saw
HOW many of them spend it,
Epecially on a GIRL.
Most men waste more
TIME on a woman than MONEY. That is, unless
They have MONEY to burn.
Some men, though, when it Comes to a PRETTY GIRL,
Think they have no time to WASTE either. Men are Really very AMUSING the way
They handle women and time.
Some men tell a girl to TAKE HER time. Others GIVE
A girl time. Some spend their OWN time and waste HERS; OTHERS waste their own
time,
Yet give HER a good time.
They never seem to KNOW quite
What they are DOING. Some Give their TIME and withhold
Their HEARTS. Others marry, and Though they have presumably GIVEN their hearts, they give the LADY very little of their
TIME.
One way and another, TIME is PRECIOUS. It depends how you take it!

BUGS BAER Says

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 22.

THE Kiwanis Club benefit for the poor children of the Everglades Club was a success.

They raised twenty thousand dollars but were too smart to let me count it.

Bill Collier, Al Jolson and "Bugs" Baer were master of ceremonies. This is the only column in which I will be mentioned.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

Jolson was at his best. He proved that fifty million Frenchmen can be wrong if they are trying to imitate him.

Collier and I have got a nice coat of tan per person. But we will lose it when we get our hotel bills.

This isn't the first time I have spoken to an audience of millionaires. Only last Thursday night I addressed fourteen hundred bankers at the Commodore Hotel in New York.

It's a far cry from New York to Palm Beach, but Collier and I laughed all the way.

I can not understand why Jock Rockefeller makes such good scores in Florida. The putting greens are concrete and the fairways are rubber. Collier is the most cautious golfer in the world. He lets the other fellow tell his score first and never loses.

The other talker at the bankers' annual dinner was Glenn Frank, who is president of Wisconsin University. A college is a building that gets the overflow attendance from a football stadium.

Glenn spoke for two hours and then got indignant when I got up to explain what he said.

Arthur Brisbane, who is known as the one-man university, told me last year that talking puts newspaper men on the blink. He said Charles Dana was a great editor until he became an after-dinner speaker and it gummed his career.

We were at dinner when Mr. Brisbane told that to Runyon and myself.

Then Mr. Brisbane made the greatest after-dinner speech I ever heard.

He said "bring ME the check!"

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Settlement of coal strike.
3—Rapid transit.
4—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
5—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
6—Community Fund for charities.

Senate Strike Probers Can Find Truth at Mines

Senators who have been appointed to the task of finding a solution of the soft coal problem, the most distressing feature of which is the pitiful plight of the families of striking miners in the Pittsburgh district, are here to look over the field. They are to make a survey of conditions in order to obtain visualization of the physical aspect of the economic debacle of a mighty industry. It is to be an informative inspection trip, the results of which will supply the groundwork for the truth-seeking inquiry to be conducted in Washington later.

The committee will find plenty to impress its members, plenty to rouse their sympathies for the suffering women and children, plenty to give them an insight into the travail that results when capital and labor lock horns in a death struggle. It will find a sick industry, the illness of which is complicated by many maladies, of which one of the most pronounced symptoms is the strike.

It will have to act as both judge and physician. It will have to seek causes and suggest a remedy for the effects. It will have to be just as well as compassionate. But it will find a road through the wilderness of contradictions if it seek diligently, for there is no darkness the light of truth will not penetrate.

It is hoped that, in finding the answer, the committee will find a way to prevent anything of the like of that which now exists in the Pittsburgh district ever recurring.

Dancing Marathon Silly And Useless Performance

One thought anent the "dance marathon," in which four Pittsburgh couples broke the world's record, is that the performance was no more foolish than many other endurance contests which are accepted with more or less public approval. Another is that it is foolish enough to stamp it as a useless and silly performance.

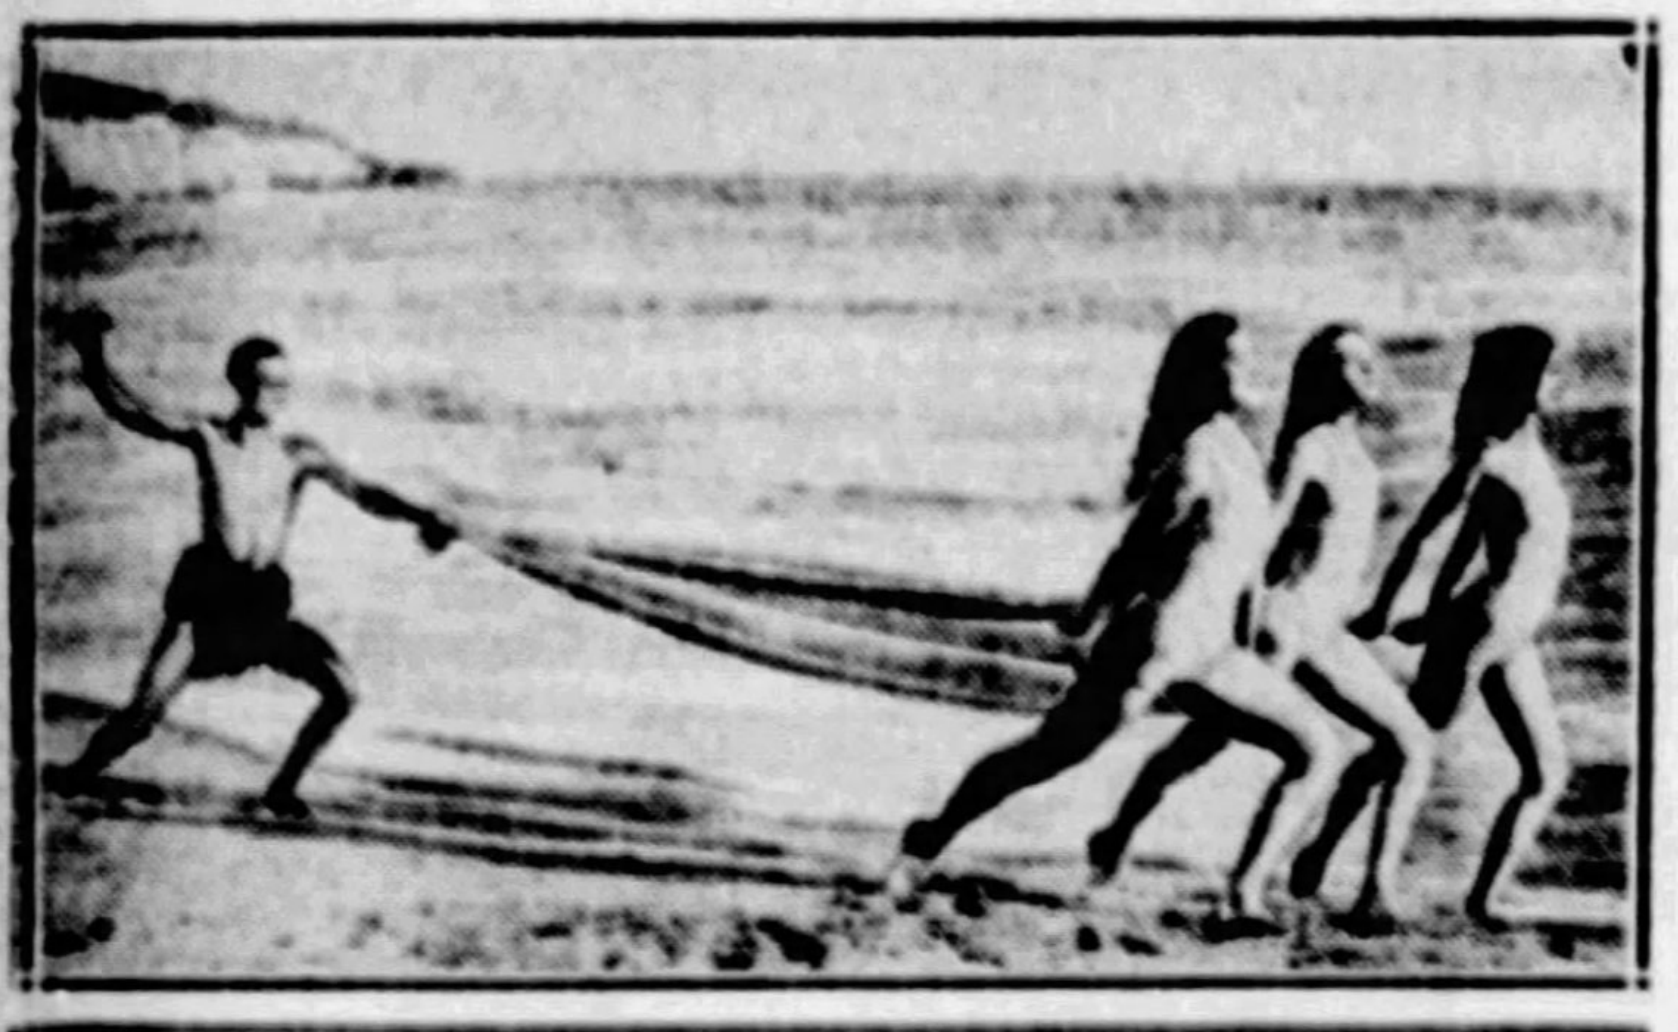
Even the six-day bicycle grind, which heretofore has been considered the height of nonsense, has more to commend it. Legend tells that Pheidippides ran more than 26 miles to carry news of victory. So we go on developing runners who can do the marathon, possibly so they can be used after a battle in case the telephone, telegraph or motor service give out. A bicycle could do it quicker—hence a possible use for the long distance pedaler. Imagine dancing along with a war message!

Dancing is an art—not an athletic sport—and it is a useful and pleasant art, too. It develops grace and poise and brings out the beauty of rhythmic movement. In a dramatic sense it is a mode of expression that has been used from the earliest times by all peoples. It is a social pastime worthy of its millions of devotees as such.

But it is silly as a "marathon."

Only Dancing Now

Once They PLOWED This Way.



ONCE REAL WORK WAS DONE IN THIS FASHION.

Three young ladies, not much dressed, and a gentleman in cave man costume, driving them, are dancing pupils of the talented Ruth St. Denis.

Dancing in our day seems to be almost anything EXCEPT DANCING.

As long as young ladies are in their bare feet, hair down, little clothes, doing violent gymnastics, they are dancing, ACCORDING TO THE MODERN IDEA.

This "foursome" are doing their "dance" on the edge of the Pacific.

The young ladies pretend they are horses, working hard, driven by the masculine charioteer or plowman back of them.

It is an interesting, striking picture, and the work must have been very good for the young people's health, in the salt fresh breez of the Pacific.

What interests us is that what these young women and their young man do now, for exercise and dance culture, was once a serious part of the world's WORK.

Eli Reclus's extremely learned work, "Man and the Earth," unfortunately not translated into English, teaches that as this man and these women now do their dancing, so women and man once did their PLOWING, except that the man didn't do any of the work.

He sat in the fork of a tree with his spear, a sharp flint at the end, looking out for any approaching enemies, while his wives below did the plowing.

The OLD wives were hitched to the plow to pull. Their days of child bearing were over and it didn't matter much if they worked too hard.

The young favorite wife held and steered the plow, which was a sharp piece of tough wood, hardened in the fire.

The man watched for wild beasts that might eat the wives, or wilder men that might steal them, while the YOUNG wife drove the OLD wives, and they pulled the plow.

The picture above is more pleasant, shows what progress we have made from plowing to dancing, from steering a plow to steering a sedan.

But some wives, young and old, are still unhappy.

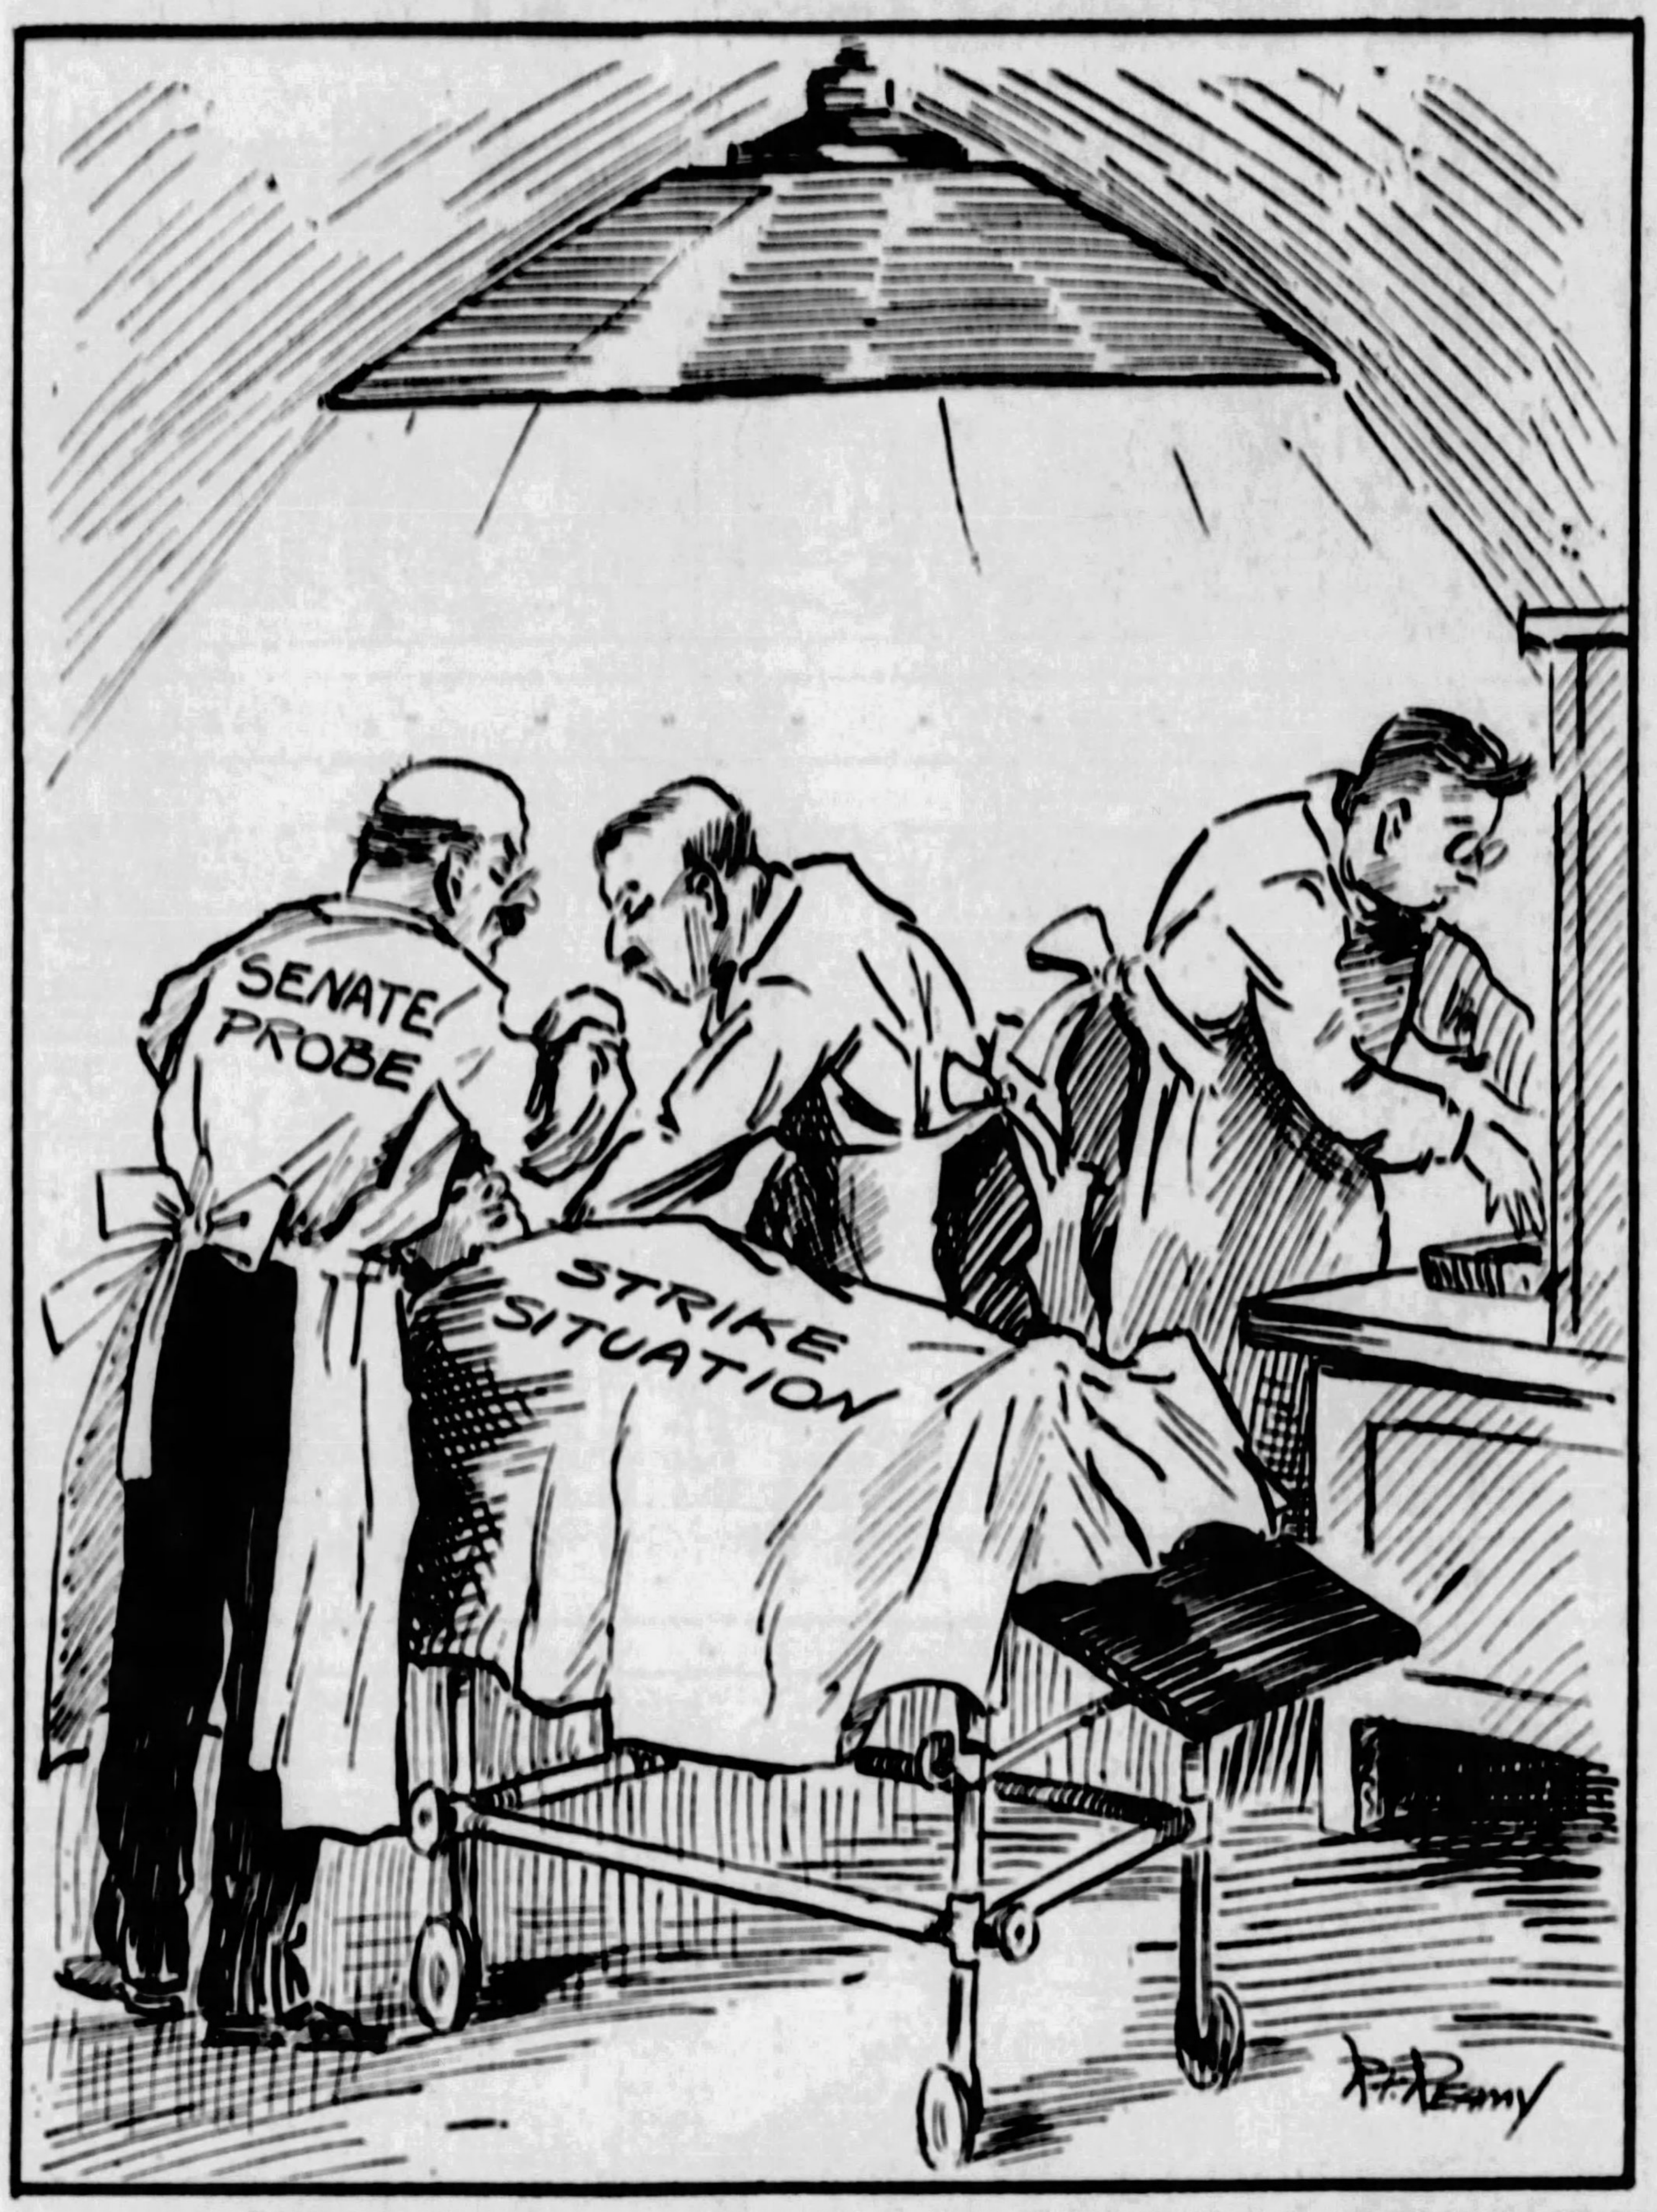
THE DOCTORS ARE AT WORK



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Mother Goose and Shakespeare

THE French have a "Shakespeare Mystery," too. In the "Revue des Deux Mondes" Emile Henriot asks: "Who wrote Perrault's Stories" (De qui sont les Contes de Perrault?), and concludes that it was not the man who has been handed down by literary history as their author, but his son, Pierre Darmancour.

He appears to make out a very good case for this upsetting conclusion—though in fact, the idea is not original with him, having been suggested more than fifty years ago by Paul Lacroix. But there is nothing more hard-shelled than literary tradition.

After commentators, editors and eulogists have trodden in one another's footsteps for some centuries, beating down a hard track of petrified gush about some famous author, the latest representatives of the clan dislike excessively to be disturbed in what they regard as vested interests of literary history, and fight viciously to keep out any new discordent light. This has been abundantly shown in the inextinguishable controversy over the real authorship of the wonderful plays and poems so long credited without question to William Shakespeare of Stratford.

Perrault is not by any means so distinguished a name as Shakespeare, but it has, nevertheless, been crowned with very high honor, not only in France, but throughout the world, wherever people have been led, admiringly and tenderly, to ask after the author of "Cinderella," "Little Red Riding Hood," "Puss in Boots," "Blue Beard," "The Sleeping Beauty," and the other immortal "Tales of Mother Goose," that thrilled our souls and filled our eyes when we were children.

It was a crown delightful to wear that got put upon the head of Charles Perrault, and which, it appears, he made no effort to displace. An excuse may be found for him in the fact that, anyhow, it was only a family affair. If the son, still but a youth, composed the stories and the father touched them up and saw that they got published, was it literary robbery for the father to allow the public to believe that he was the sole author?

In any case, as M. Henriot suggests, there was no deception in the name "Contes de Perrault." The question might have been asked: "Which Perrault, the father or the son?" But, "the general reader doesn't trouble himself with such scruples; he knows only one Perrault, the author of the 'Stories,' crowned with a blinding glory.

"So the 'Stories of Perrault' are not of THE Perrault that one thought, but they are all the same the 'Stories of PERRAULT.' It is in substance the same conclusion advocated by the humorist, Mark Twain, concerning the Shakespearian drama, which is, he says, not the drama of Shakespeare, but of another author who called himself by the same name."

The Shakespeare controversy, however, goes much deeper than this simple case of the authorship of the Mother Goose Stories. The latter has no special plot; the mistake would seem to have arisen rather from carelessness or indifference. And, anyhow, as already said, it was all in the family. But in the matter of Shakespeare the charge is far more serious. There, if the challenge is well founded, was a plot for deliberate deception, and William Shakespeare of Stratford was only a "man of straw" utilized as a screen by one or several authors, who had their reasons for keeping in the background.

In the phantasmagoria of suggestion, compiot, political and social intrigue, ambition, and personal concealment, woven about the case by the authors of the attack on the authenticity of the received "Shakespeare," we catch disappearing and reappearing glimpses of Bacon, Raleigh, Spencer and other famous literary and political characters, and nothing seems really established except a growing suspicion that there must be something wrong in the accepted Shakespeare tradition.

Love and the Radio

MANY and varied are the uses of the radio, but who would have thought of it as an aid to love?

Well, we live and learn. Broadcasting station WOR received the following wistful communication: "Will you please play some waltzes Wednesday night—they make my boy friend sentimental."

We are pleased to announce that WOR was equal to the occasion. The program was gallantly altered to include "A Kiss in the Dark."

The radio should be an excellent device in making the path of love more smooth.

It is at least a piquant idea.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Your Own Fault

SOME men are naturally handy about the house.

Others are not, and so when they do things, they are botches.

The wife tries to force her husband to do repair work.

He is not fitted for it, does not know how, and makes mistakes.

This is an easy way to start a quarrel.

The husband feels he is not lazy, has put in full time at his regular employment and he resents the criticisms.

Also he does not want to be bothered.

But there is another side to this question.

There are always some little things a man can do.

"They should be left undone unless he sees fit to attend to them," says one woman.

Instead, they should be done, and charged up to him.

If a man won't or can't do things to keep the house in repair he must expect to pay someone to do them.

Don't blame a wife if her husband neglects and also refuses to pay.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Kindliness

SO many virtues star-like shine
On this sweet Earth of yours and mine,
It would be hard to name them all,
Man's noblest motives, great and small.
For honor, loyalty and truth
Light splendid paths for climbing youth;
Yet, though less lofty, I confess
I put great faith in kindliness.
The foolish journey all life's day
And add no gladness to their way
Because their luckless hearts are blind
To bliss that comes of being kind.
Oh, much of friendship it can gain,
And much immunity from pain,
For of all virtues men possess
None make life bloom like kindliness.

Words of the Wise

It is some relief to weep; grief is satisfied and carried off by tears.

Something to Think About

By BRUNO LESSING

Concerning Revolutions

THE recent Pan-American Conference in Havana upheld the right of revolution. This was very kind of the delegates. Also very wise. When people want to revolt, they revolt.

God created humanity but did not create governments. Humanity undertook that job for itself. There is nothing sacred about governments. We Americans lived more or less contentedly under the domination of the government of Great Britain. Then, one day, we decided to "chuck it." And we "chucked it." And all went well.

The meeting of the Pan-American Conference at which this subject came up was a very interesting one. It was a delegate from Mexico who broached the matter. His suggestion was that, in case a people revolted against their government and managed to seize a seaport, other nations should refuse to do business with that seaport.

A Cuban diplomat objected. He told the story of Cuba's effort to free herself from the domination of Spain.

"Never would we have won," he said, "if a provision like this had been in effect. A Pan-American Conference has not the right to seek to make impossible the very thing which gave the Americans their independence. We are not here to prevent an oppressed people overthrowing their oppressors and winning their liberties."

And then a wise delegate from Argentina said:

"A little something should be left to the revolutionary. Let us not think of governments only. Let us think of the people. Revolution is, many times, the salvation of the people."

And our own delegate, Charles Evans Hughes, agreed to this principle. Which was also wise. And inevitable. Because our country is founded upon revolution.

There should be much consolation in this for the millions who are opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and who, silently, quietly and more or less openly are revolting against it.

Because, beyond the shadow of a doubt, this quiet revolution is going on. Just as the revolution of the southern states against the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments has been going on ever since the Civil War.

Of course, it is illegal. It is a flouting of constituted authority. But so was the Revolution of 1776. We kicked at taxation without representation, even though it was the law of the land. Today we kick at being deprived of beer and wine, even though it is the law of the land.

For the present, there is no danger of a popular uprising. Because those who want to drink—and many of them never wanted to drink before—can make or get all that they want. The bootlegging industry is efficient and prohibition officials are usually willing to make a few thousand dollars, extra, on the side.

But, if it ever DOES come to an organized revolution against the tyranny of government, it is consoling to know that those who take part in the movement will not be considered as outcasts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Thoughts while strolling: Those police sergeants in roaming flivvers. The buxom Irish nursemaids who resemble Queen Victoria. Postmaster John J. Kiely, once a postal clerk. Whatever became of monogrammed canvas bags for bowling balls? Sam Kingston, who hires the Ziegfeld actors.

A jay-walking flapper makes a face at a policeman and yells "Blah!" Hassard Short. The nickel-in-the-slot soda fountains. A self-conscious lodgeman in a plumed hat. Penrhyn Stanlaws, the illustrator, who built the Hotel des Artistes. Gray skies and gray complexions.

Soft drink sign: "Kickless punches, juleps and smashes." The curiously bloodless-faced gambler who is always in black. Enticing fruit shop windows—pears in golden syrup, fat hothouse grapes, red bananas in glassine wrappers and imported dates. Yum, yum!

Ladies in those cloche hats that seem to hide everything but enormous earrings. The White Way wrecks who walk slowly about with male nurses. They've had their fun. Don Marquis resembles a moon-faced country curate. The ruddy glow and enthusiasm of ice skating rink patrons.

Ed Wynn's gray horse going to the matinee. The placid creatures with stylish stout lines who sell song books and thingamubobs along the curb. Girls who step from taxicabs and make up their faces before entering stores. Emil Coleman, the orchestra leader.

The dowdy lady who is supreme among fashion writers. The diminuendo whirr of an aeroplane. Life-sized toy bears that walk—$200. And toy electric trains as high as $500. William Slavens McNutt, the writer. The days grow longer. And nights more hectic.

Columbus Circle still resembling a battlefield. But the soap box talkers stay on—preaching optimism, atheism, single tax and what not. Fifteen cent drug store breakfasts. And they are cutting into the cafeteria trade. Boom! Boom! An inch gain for the subway!

A lady walked into a Fifth avenue department store. Near the entrance was a life-size papier mache policeman in uniform. She inquired the price.

"It is not for sale," explained the grand floorwalking whatisit.

"Everything is for sale," she corrected—showing, my dears, she was a thorough New Yorker. And it was sent to her home for $200. Just a toy for the kiddie.

The custom of tipping cabaret performers grows hereabouts. Several years ago this was haughtily spurned by performers as well as cabaret owners. But in several toney places lately I have seen a shower of coins and bills gratefully received. It is a continental custom. In Paris most cabaret performers work without salary and solely for tips.

A chorus girl in a vaudeville revue skit is listed as Miss Allie Oop and a chorus boy in a musical comedy is programmed as Earle Earle-Earle.

My impression is fancy names in the theater have spent their glamour. It is not going to be long before we welcome a Jenny Blogg or a Gus McSwatt.

And the shortest name in New York is reported to be that of a fellow called Al Ap.

A new beggar racket. On Nassau street a shop supplies fountain pens for 25 cents each. The racketeers come up town, walk behind some gent and hold out one of the pens, saying: "You dropped this, mister!" Sad to say many claim it and the pen looks so new, bright and expensive the reward ranges from 50 cents to what we used to know around the livery stable as a buck.

The Electronic Man

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Dr. Dinsmore Alter, of the University of Kansas, thinks that the electronic man belongs in the list of the fanciful beings of human conjecture.

The electronic man is based upon the belief that the electrons within the atoms may follow the same laws as the planets in the sky, for certainly the small asteroids follow these laws.

This gives us interesting material for conjecture.

How do we know that in every atom of our body there is not a miniature world or rather universe, stars revolving around a central sun? Living beings may exist on these electrons whirling about in our thumb nail.

Time was when an atom was supposed to be the smallest conceivable thing, for the word atom means not capable of being divided.

Then came along electrons, which are supposed to be even smaller than atoms. Atoms are conceived as composed of revolving electrons. Even in hard substances, such as iron or human skin, these electrons are revolving in their various atoms.

And now comes the interesting speculation that these electrons, being miniature worlds like ours, have miniature inhabitants.

There is no reason to suppose that sentient life is confined to beings like ourselves.

Maeterlink conceived of a soul in bread and in flour, etc.

Why would it not be possible in some other world for souls to inhabit flame or metal? What soul is nobody knows. With us it is certainly within the human organism, but elsewhere it may not be.

There is no limit also to speculation as to what takes place in the microscopical world. Perhaps our world, this little planet, bears the relation to the vast cosmos around us and above us that the atom in our finger bears to our whole body.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON.

"Side by Side"

WANT to get the Real Low Down on this Younger Generation?

Want to know what's actually behind all their lawlessness and rebellion, their recklessness and impudence?

There's a foolish little song with a jingly tune that will tell you—"SIDE BY SIDE" it's called.

A bully little song, with a carefree click to its dancing heels and something staunch and fine and brave bracing its merry heart.

Look at them, here they come—Kid Boy, Kid Girl, hoofing it down the highway together. New creatures these, something the world has never seen before. No simpering, helpless young female—this. No strutting, sentimentalizing young male. Coupla Regular Guys—that's what they call themselves.

Listen—hear them singing!

"O! WE AIN'T GOT A BARREL OF MO-MO-MONEY,

"MAYBE WE'RE RAGGED AND FU-FU-FUNNY,

"BUT WE TRAVEL ALONG, SINGING A SONG,

"SIDE BY SIDE!"

Clipped hair, khaki trousers, hiking boots, sunburned, dirty, which is boy, which is girl? Doesn't matter. They're not thinking boy thoughts—or girl thoughts. FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY TWO YOUNG HUMANS ARE THINKING SIDE-BY-SIDE THOUGHTS.

She knows all he knows. She's thinking what he's thinking. She'll do what he'll do. Shocking? Dangerous? Sure. Evolution is always a dangerous, shocking business. Evolution always raises Cain with established conventions. But what of it? Suppose they do mix things up a bit—that's a small price to pay for the freedom and the glory of at last living side-by-side.

"DON'T KNOW WHAT'S COMING TO-MO-MORROW,

"MAYBE IT'S TROUBLE OR SO-SO-SORROW,

"BUT WE'LL TRAVEL ALONG, SHARING OUR OWN

"SIDE BY SIDE!"

What's ahead? They don't know. They don't care. Whatever comes they'll take it head on—side-by-side! And they'll take it AS it comes. They won't gum up the situation with antiquated taboos, or silly sentimentality. They've junked that stuff as they've junked long skirts and satin breeches.

"YES, IN ALL KINDS OF WEATHER,

"OH, YES, WE'RE TOGETHER,

"IT DOESN'T MATTER AT ALL!"

Skies don't fall for youngsters like that. Skies grow taller and bluer, wider and cleaner TO MAKE ROOM FOR THEIR WINGS!

"WHEN THEY'VE HAD ALL THEIR QUARRELS AND PARTIES,

"WE'LL BE THE SAME AS WE STARTED,

"SO WE TRAVEL ALONG, SINGING A SONG,

"SIDE BY SIDE!"

Where's the old sex antagonism that has poisoned life for men and women since the first bar went on a harem window? Where's the old suspicion and fear and hate and deception? And all the silly, simpering gestures that masked it? Gone—busted higher than a kite by these gay young rascals.

Hard-boiled eggs, you call them? WATCH THOSE EGGS! PUT YOUR BETS ON THEM! SOMETHING MIGHTY BIG IN THE HUMAN LINE IS GOING TO HATCH FROM THEM!
